Annual Circus At Camp F. A. Day Brings 300 To Brookfield Saturday

Y. M. C. A. CAMPERS
PUT ON GOOD SHOW

Some of Performers To Appear
At Carnival In Brookfield

The Annual Circus which marked the half-way point of the 1939 season of Camp Frank A. Day was held on last Saturday to an assembly of over 300 spectators. Conducted on the usual grand scale, the show became a sure-fire hit from the very start when the crowd wended its way to the ball field to the accompaniment of circus band music, and then lured by the voices of the barkers entered the Side Show and then Chamber of Horrors.

Fifteen acts were brought before the onlookers in the Side Show, including individual appearances of the Boy with Three Arms; Tribe of African Pin-Heads; Child with Four Feet; Red Bats from Australia; the Human Goldfish Swallow; and the old features such as the Borneo Wild Man and the World's Best-Dressed Midget. In the Chamber of Horrors the spectators paled with horror at the Hanging of Man; Ras Ben Fowler on the Bed of Nails; the Hindu Monk; the Half-Man-Half Woman; the murderer with the stake through his chest, and the most frightening of all, the Emergency Room of City Hospital after an operation. This entire show was the popular center of the largest crowd of the day.

Opening the Main Show was the Animal Show under the direction of Professor "Bring 'Em Back - Alive" Daye. Such features as the giant Hoots, the only one in captivity, and the pygmy ostrich claimed most of the applause in this act. The Junior Show followed directly and this pantomime, "Lily of the Alley," was as witty as the name.

The Midgets combed the African Jungles for its story of the burning of the white men at the stake by the wild natives under the direction of the native witch doctor. The cruelty of the wild men as well as their blood-curdling shrieks were enacted in startling fashion by the nine year olds of camp. The Senior Show combined the pantomime of the theatre with the portrayal of the living statues to give the spectators something worthwhile in their version of "Sports Statuaries."

Al Smith's tumbler and Dunc Whitehill's pyramid builders were remarkably well done and will be repeated for the benefit of a Brookfield Carnival Show on next Wednesday in Brookfield. Taking-off the tumbler were the hilarious clowns led by Stan Sumner and Bobby Cashin who delighted the grown-ups and campers with antics worthy of the Big Top.

During the show and even into the early evening the concession stands were playing a successful business, each stand conducted by a tent and vying for the leadership in the individual camps.

DAY NOTES

The Saturday night shows continue to set a fine pace as the final minstrel show approaches. On last Saturday night under the direction of Frank Pelican of New York City, music and sketches served to entertain the audience. Opening the show was a demonstration of magic by Bill Sanborn, the representative of California in camp. Then followed two sketches: one, "The Villain Still Pursued Her," ably presented by Don Cashin, Dick Smith and Doug Burns; the second, "Signals," portrayed by Horace Trindall, Ted Simpson, Ricky Morse, (Continued on Page 3)

Norumbega Park Amusements To Close Earlier

As a result of a conference held last week between the Licenses Committee of the Board of Aldermen, Chief of Police Hughes and the management of Norumbega Park, Manager Gill agreed to co-operate in lessening noises emanating from the park and closing activities there earlier. Residents in the vicinity of the park had made complaints about a loud speaker which had been making too much noise there this year. Gill told the Aldermen that he would have the loud speaker adjusted so that it will make less noise, that the dance hall and restaurant bar at the park will close at 11:45 instead of midnight, and the "amusement rides" at 10:30 instead of 11:30. The Aldermen suggested that the lights in the park be put out at midnight.

Taxpayers' Asso. Asks Citizens To Co-operate

The Newton Taxpayers' Association is endeavoring not only to assist in building up a more economical and efficient city government, but more especially to build up good will and better co-operation between the city officials and those they represent.

Only a very few people of Newton really know their Aldermen who represent them, not to mention their addresses or telephone numbers.

Yet, the interest taken by the individual citizen in civic affairs will have a marked effect not only upon the type of city we live in, but also the efficiency by which it is governed.

Newton is a democratic city, and the city government will be governed by public opinion. Public opinion can be expressed through publicity, correspondence, and conversation, but that opinion must be expressed to those who are in authority.

The Newton Taxpayers' Association is an agency, representing the people, through which they may express themselves to the city, and wishes to urge upon the citizens of Newton their responsibility in connection with the control of city government.

They suggest that the people become acquainted with their representatives, the legislative branches of the city government, and the department heads at city hall.

Newton Boys Win Outboard Races

George Schrafft of 885 Centre st., Newton and Clinton Ferguson of 24 Carlton rd., Waban were among the stars at the motorboat races in Charles River basin, Boston last Saturday and Sunday. The two young men have been touring the country, participating in motorboat races and have been winning many prizes. On Saturday Ferguson raced a dead heat with Gar Wood, Jr. of Michigan in the Class C outboard class, and both made a new world's record of 53.92 miles per hour for this class. Ferguson also took third prizes in the races for Class A, Class B and Class F outboards.

On Sunday Schrafft won the 225 cubic inch inboard motor race and made a new record of 60.1 miles per hour. He is national champion in this class.

Rotarians Told Of Radio Industry

Members of the Newton Rotary Club at their meeting last Monday were favored with a very interesting talk by Mr. L. K. Marshall, President of the Raytheon Manufacturing Company, who spoke on the Raytheon Co. and various phases of the industry.

Raytheon came to Newton about 10 years ago from Cambridge; many tempting offers were made by other towns and cities, but Newton was decided upon as the result of a survey which showed that a very high class type of people were available in this section as employees for the factory. Out of a total of 1600, 65 per cent of the employees are women, and 35 per cent men; a large percentage of which come from Newton.

This year there will be between 6 and 7 million radios sold at an average price of $9.95 for the manufacturer, and about 100,000,000 radio tubes will be sold at an average of 30 cents to the manufacturer.

Major Armstrong, who has done a great deal for radio in the past, has developed a new system of broadcasting, based on a high frequency modulating set which will transmit the whole of any sound. At present there are 5 broadcasting stations of this type in existence. This system will require a different type of radio set, although composed of the same component parts, and will have more advantages, especially in the improvement of the reception of music, which will not be so distorted. This factor will make for a greater impetus to radio music and will very likely bring about a general renaissance of music.

The ability to detect radiation outside the visible range is based on the vacuum tube which frees the electron and makes radio what it is today. The electrons can change their state of motion instantaneously in response to a signal. The ability to handle electrons individually is probably the greatest tool ever given to mankind, and may prove to be of great value in medical research.

New Bank Building At Auburndale

Work started this week on the foundation for a new branch building of the Newton Trust Company on Auburn st., Auburndale. The lot where the building will be erected is opposite the railroad station. The building will be one story high, 49 by 52 feet, and will cost $35,000. The bank will occupy two-thirds of the building and the remainder will be rented as a store. The general contract was awarded to Louis Comeau of Belmont. The plumbing will be done by the Orr Plumbing Company of Newtonville, and the electrical work by the Nash Company of Boston. The architects are Coolidge & Carlson of Boston.

Poll Tax Book For 1939 Appears In New Style

Help Save Young Trees On Streets

The Newton Forestry Department has planted thousands of young trees along the streets of this city. Because of the severe drought these young trees may die unless properly watered. Although the Forestry Department has been doing all it can to save these little trees, it is not able to water all of them throughout the city. If any of these little trees are located in front of your property, please assist by watering them until the drought is over.

Middlesex County Tax Rate Lower

The Commissioners of Middlesex County revealed, on Tuesday, according to Boston newspapers that the county tax rate for 1939 will be 23½ cents lower than that of last year when they made public the county budget for 1939. The county tax levy this year will be $1,803,989.49. In 1938 it was $2,131,092, or $328,102.64 more. As the City of Newton pays a large part of the county taxes, such a reduction in the expenses of running the county would seem to indicate that a large savings would be gained by Newton in its share of the county's expenses. This, however, is not so. In 1938 Newton's share of the Middlesex County tax was $245,958.55. Later, the Tax Commissioner informed city officials that this city would have to pay $345 additional to the county, and this sum will be added onto Newton's county tax for 1939. This year the City of Newton will have to pay $241,093.35 as its share of the county tax, unless this figure will be unexpectedly reduced. So, Newton will be assessed, according to present estimates, only $341.20 less in 1939 than it was in 1938 by Middlesex County. The County Commissioners state they revised budgets of every department and made large cuts in order to lessen the expenses of running the county. They voted not to build any highways during the next two years, and will only maintain existing roads. They hope by continued frugality to wipe out the county debt of $1,000,000 during the next 5 years. They cut the cost of jails by $37,000. They laud District Attorney Bradford for reducing the expenses of his office for this year to $190,000, which is $25,000 less than the expense of conducting this office last year.

Is "Planographed" In Trend Toward Economy

The Newton assessed poll book for 1939 was received on Tuesday by the Board of Registrars of Voters. It contains the names, addresses and ages of all persons in the city over 20 years of age. The book for this year is radically different than the assessed poll books of previous years. Instead of being printed, it was planographed. This is a comparative new method which has been used in recent years by a number of cities and towns. The names, addresses, etc., typewritten, the typewritten pages are photographed, and then lithographed. The result certainly is not as neat as were the printed books, and it is more difficult to read the planographed books.

The reason for the change in the preparation of the books is a new law passed by the Legislature which transferred the duty of preparing assessed poll books from Assessors of towns and cities to Registrars of Voters. This law was passed in connection with demands for reregistration of all voters in the State to prevent duplicate and false registration in Boston and a few other cities and some towns. The funny thing is—that in Boston the registration of voters will continue practically as in the past. In determining this year's budget, the Newton Board of Aldermen were quite economically minded in appropriating money for the preparation of the book by the Registrars of Voters. It cost about $600 less to have the book planographed than it would to have it printed. In addition, by allowing corrections on the typewritten sheets to be planographed, with lines drawn through names, and other corrections, appearing in the books. Instead of any changes or corrections being made or deleted on proof sheets, as was done when the book was printed in past years, much clerical work was saved in the City Clerk's office, because there was no proof reading.

In a preface to the volume the Registrars of Voters express their appreciation for the work done by a group of Newton policemen who worked for weeks, travelling to all houses in the city obtaining the information which the book contains, and listing about 50,000 persons. The policemen named are—John Foley, Joseph Lyons, John McGrath, Edward (Continued on page 2)

Drought Causes Big Water Demand

The July 1939 consumption of water in the city was 220,653,000 gallons, the largest consumption ever recorded by the department. The previous record was made in July, 1934, when 190,435,000 gallons were pumped. Despite the large daily average consumption, last Sunday, July 30th, was one of the smallest days for months. Only 3,800,000 gallons were pumped on that day, indicating that many residents were absent from the city.

Despite the drought, the department's own resources are sufficient to give 8,000,000 gallons per day, which is the statutory limit that they can take from the Charles River water-shed. No water is being purchased from the Metropolitan system at present.

Newton Man Shot By Criminals

John J. Donnelly of 231 Jackson rd., Newton, an employee of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, was shot in the left shoulder when he went to the assistance of a Waltham policeman who had been seriously wounded by fleeing criminals on Thursday night at the plant of the gas company on Seyon st., Waltham. Donnelly's wound was not serious and he was taken to his home.

Patrolman Joseph Hill of the Waltham police was on duty at a traffic trap on Main st., Waltham when a car whizzed by at an estimated speed of 55 miles an hour. Hill jumped into a police car and started in pursuit. The speeding automobile turned off Main st., down Gore st. and into the yard of the gas company's maintenance plant. There, the driver of the car turned down a long loading platform which parallels the railroad track, thinking it was a street. The other officer followed him, and the car was wrecked. When the policeman arrived at the spot, the three occupants of the wrecked car, who possessed one or more pistols, started to fire at him and hit him in the back, seriously wounding the patrolman. Hill was returning the fire when he dropped, and as Donnelly, who had been attracted by the noise of the car falling and the shooting, ran to the policeman's aid, he also became the target of the gunmen's weapons.

The wrecked car was registered in the name of a Hudson man, and two of the suspected occupants of the car have criminal records. One of them is a Hudson resident and the other is from Roxbury.

Street Department Has New Crane

A 10 ton crane was placed in operation by the Street Department on Monday when it was used to lift large granite blocks at Albemarle Brook. It will come in handy for removing large tree stumps and other heavy objects. The crane is mounted on one of the largest trucks owned by the Street Department.

On Monday of this week City Solicitor Joseph Bartlett filed formal answers to contentions made by Francis X. Hurley, counsel for Bart Cullen, deposed sergeant-mechanic of the Newton Police Department. In his petitions for writs of mandamus against Mayor Childs and Chief of Police Hughes, to compel the reinstatement of Cullen, Attorney Hurley claimed that the action of the Newton Board of Aldermen in abolishing the position of sergeant-mechanic has no legal weight because it had not received the approval of the Attorney General.

Refuting this contention of Cullen's attorney, the City Solicitor called attention to the fact that the ordinance passed by the Board of Aldermen in 1929 when the office of sergeant-mechanic was created and Cullen appointed to it, was also not approved by the Attorney General; so if one act of the Board of Aldermen is illegal, the other also was.

In his answers to Hurley's allegations, City Solicitor Bartlett said: "It is admitted that the ordinance abolishing the office of sergeant-mechanic dated May 1, 1939, was never approved by the attorney-general. . . ."

"And further answering, the respondents say that neither Section of 132 of the Revised Ordinances of 1929 which created the office of sergeant-mechanic, nor corresponding provisions of previous ordinances of the city of Newton establishing offices in the Police Department have ever been approved by the attorney-general and that if such approval is necessary before ordinances of said city shall take effect the petitioner never was appointed or legally entitled to the office of sergeant-mechanic or any other office in the Police Department."

Answering Hurley's argument that the Civil Service Commission has ruled that Cullen is still legally a sergeant of the Newton Police Department on the basis of seniority, Mr. Bartlett said:

"The allegations contained in Paragraph 6 are immaterial to this section; if material the respondents say that said ruling of the Division of Civil Service was based on erroneous information."

In answering the argument that Cullen has seniority rating over several other sergeants in the Newton Police Department, the City Solicitor said:

"It is admitted that subsequent to the appointment of the petitioner to the office of sergeant-mechanic in 1929 various persons were appointed to the office of sergeant in said Police Department and that some of these persons still hold the office of sergeant and are recognized as such by the respondents. . . ."

"And further answering, the respondents say that the petitioner never held the office of sergeant in the Police Department or any other office or position of the same class and grade as sergeant but that the office held by the petitioner was that of sergeant-mechanic, a separate and distinct office from that of sergeant and a position of a different class and grade."

Explaining why the Newton Board of Aldermen abolished the office of "sergeant-mechanic," to offset the allegation that the Aldermen did not act in good faith, the City Solicitor said:

FORMULA for Audience Building WORLD Quality on WCOP

It would be strange indeed if the American public—schooled to know and demand the best in products and services—should be content with less than the best in radio quality.

At least, that's the kind of thinking that brought into being the first library service for radio stations—the World Program Service.

And quite naturally, the PIONEER remains the LEADER—serving WCOP with the greatest library of music ever recorded for radio.

Radio listeners look to World for the widest variety of musical groups, recording the newest and best in music, and, of course, for that World vertical-cut Wide Range quality which is recognized everywhere as the ultimate in high-fidelity recording.

World's formula for audience building is simple—give the public highest quality in program and reception, and maintain these standards. "World quality on WCOP" has long proved a success formula.

And speaking of successes, make a note to tune in WCOP Sunday at 4:30 P.M., when The Newton GRAPHIC will present another program of interest to every Newtonian.

Assessed Polls Book In New Form

Maguire, William Maloney, Matthew Phillips, Phillip Purcell, Albert Smith, Charles Walker, William Whelan. Realizing that the appearance of the book would compare unfavorably with previous volumes, the assessors also contained the following explanation by the Registrars—"If the appearance of the book is not satisfactory in some respects, the recipients should realize the difficulties we have encountered, and that the book is not intended as a public city document for general distribution. A few additional copies have been made, however, for the use of other departments, and for affiliated groups which require such public records in their city work."

Another act of the Legislature will cause the omission in next year's assessed poll books in Massachusetts that will meet with the approval of the ladies—and also some men. The ages will be omitted. This change, however, does not meet with the approval of some of the Registrars in the State. They say that the ages were a most important factor in identifying persons listed by those engaged in assessing the polls.

Drove Without License; Arrested

Salvatore Caliguri of 43 Riverdale ave., Nonantum was arrested at Newton Corner on Tuesday night by Patrolman Manter on charges of driving a car without having a license, and driving after his license had been revoked. Caliguri was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday and his case continued until August 9.

Refused To Stop And Is Fined $35

David Sands, 21, of Woodland rd., Brookline was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court yesterday for failing to stop when signalled to do so by Sergeant Bannan of the Newton police. Sands was also fined $10 for speeding. Bannan testified that on July 10 Sands drove by the dangerous intersection of Washington st. and Lowell ave. at a rate of 45 miles. Although Sands speeded away, he did not go too fast for the sergeant to note the numbers on the car.

Leighton Stebbins, 63, of Concord ave., Cambridge, was fined $10 in the Newton court yesterday for driving through the West Newton business district at a speed of 40 miles an hour. John O'Reardon of Charlestown was fined $3 for not stopping before entering a through way. Sergeant Bannan was the complainant in both cases.

OUR WRITTEN CONSTITUTION

ALL democracies are run for the people—but not all have written Constitutions. We have a particularly explicit Constitution in that the federal government is limited in its powers. The founders of our national government did their thinking out loud, and then they put it on paper. The Constitution we now have is our second one. The first, called the Articles of Confederation, was ratified in 1781, but it failed to give enough power to the central government. The present one, which went into effect in 1789, remedied this. Certain provisions in the Constitution are designed to safeguard the people from the Government, and others to safeguard the government from the whims of the people. All these provisions were approached with fear and trembling and wrangling in the 18th century. Now, a century and a half later, we appreciate the wisdom of them. It is interesting to know that the so-called Bill of Rights, the first ten amendments to the Constitution adopted in 1791, was an afterthought. We now consider the Bill of Rights the very cornerstone of our liberties, but the framers of the Constitution had not thought it necessary. It was added to reassure the people who were fearful that the individual might lose his liberty under the new and stronger central government. Some people think that the Constitution should be changed to keep up with the times. Others believe that amidst rapidly changing conditions a progressive interpretation of what now exists in our Constitution is a saner course. Our founding fathers foresaw that some changes in the Constitution might be necessary. They placed in the Constitution a means of amending it, but one which makes it difficult to make hasty alterations.

Man Arrested For Indecent Assault On Young Girl

George D. Neal, 48, of 48 Quincy st., Cambridge, a former minister, was arrested Saturday night at Cambridge by Inspectors Burke, King and Ham-mell of the Newton police on a charge of indecent assault on the 10 year old daughter of a Newton policeman. Neal, a college graduate and former pastor of two churches in Greater Boston, has been studying at the New Church Theological School in Cambridge. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday after he had, according to the police, signed a confession admitting the charge against him. Judge Weston continued the case until August 7.

According to the story told to her father by the little girl involved in the case, she was playing at Burr park playground, Newton, on Thursday afternoon, July 27, when the man came along and offered to assist her in solving a puzzle she was trying to do. He suggested that she accompany him to the Underwood School, a short distance away. The alleged indecent assault occurred at the semi-enclosed entrance to the school. The janitor of the school happened to come out and Neal made a hurried departure. The child told her father of the occurrence and he reported the matter to police headquarters. The police made inquiries in the neighborhood of the playground and school and traced Neal. He had been doing research work at the theological school since last September.

Alleged Clothing Thief Captured

Monday morning as Inspector Hammell was driving Chief of Police Hughes to police headquarters, he noticed Kenneth Singleton, 29, on Watertown st., and promptly placed him under arrest. Several months ago Singleton was arraigned in the Newton court on a charge of having stolen a watch from a young man who had roomed with him at a house on Pleasant st., Newton Centre. The watch was recovered and Singleton was given a suspended prison sentence of three months, and placed on probation. Singleton disappeared and did not report to the probation officer, as he was supposed to do. Subsequently, another former roommate of Singleton's reported that two suits of his clothes had disappeared, and Hammell wanted to question the missing man on this matter. Singleton was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday on a charge of violating the terms of his probation. His case was continued until Thursday.

Fined $25 For Reckless Driving

Albert Stevens, 26, of 76 Wiltshire Park, Needham, was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Tuesday for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. On June 29 a car driven by Stevens collided at Oak and Chestnut sts., Upper Falls, with a car driven by Salvatore Messina of 43 Oak st., Upper Falls. Messina's car was tipped over. In fact, a witness testified that it tipped over twice. Messina testified that he had stopped his car before entering the intersection. Stevens testified he was driving at a speed of only 10 miles, but witnesses testified he was driving rapidly. Before making his decision, Judge Mayberry visited the scene of the accident.

Mague Prosecutes Erring Autoists

Three autoists who ignored a traffic light at West Newton square were fined $5 each in the Newton court on Wednesday. They are—Alton Pope, 35 Fair Oaks ave., Newtonville; Loren Dutton, Natick; John Loker, Natick. Patrolman Mague was the complainant against all three. Alphonse Mascia of 458 California st., Newtonville, was fined $5 for not conforming to directions on a traffic signal. Salvatore Rando, 18, of School st., Waltham, was fined $5 for speeding. Patrolman Fitz-Simmons was the complainant in these two cases.

Can't Keep Person Out of Own Store

An interesting legal ruling was made by Judge Allen in the Newton court yesterday. Joseph Delerzon, 57, who owns a drugstore at 999 Boylston st., Newton Highlands, was found guilty of assault and battery on Clifford McCauley, 23, of Webster st., Needham. McCauley testified that on July 23 he was knocked down by Delerzon as he tried to enter the latter's store. Delerzon testified that on that date he ordered McCauley not to smoke in a telephone booth and that McCauley and a companion became angry and one of them used abusive language. Both left the store, but returned shortly after. When Delerzon saw them approaching, he raised his arm bar to their entrance, and McCauley fell backwards.

Judge Allen found Delerzon guilty and placed the case on file. He told Delerzon that he had a license as a druggist and would lose it if he ordered any one to keep out of his store. He also stated that a storekeeper has no right to eject anyone from his store, but must call the police. The judge told McCauley that he did not believe Delerzon's conviction should be the basis for a civil suit, and McCauley said he had no intention of starting such a suit.

32,400 Killed By Autos Last Year

At the end of 1938 there were 29,485,680 motor vehicles registered in the United States. Collectively, they traveled approximately 250,000,000,000 (correct) miles during the year. In the wake of their purring exhaust pipes were 32,400 men, women and children—all killed in motor vehicle accidents.

These are grim statistical totals that appear in Accident Facts, the National Safety Council's yearbook, just published.

Traffic accident deaths were clicked off at a rate of—

1 every 16 minutes.
$9 per day.
32,400 deaths for the year.
Non-fatal injuries suffered in motor vehicle accidents during 1938 occurred at a rate of—1 every 27 seconds.
130 every hour.
3,200 every day.
1,150,000 during the year.

The Council estimated that motor vehicle traffic accidents during 1938 cost $750,000,000 in wage loss, medical expense and the overhead cost of insurance, plus another $750,000,000 for property damage.

Fined $35 For Drunken Driving

Henry DeMichele of 16 Sullivan ave., Newton Upper Falls, was fined $35 by Judge Weston in the Newton court last Saturday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. On July 4 a car driven by DeMichele hit a parked car on Washington st., Newtonville.

Lawrence Connors of 50 Elliot st., Watertown, was arrested at Newton on Sunday about midnight by Patrolmen Concannon and Hickey on the charge of driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was arraigned in court on Monday and his case was continued until August 10.

Pole Stops Auto At Railroad Wall

An automobile driven by Miss Myrtle Rowell of 85 Berkeley st., West Newton, went out of control near the Lowell avenue bridge, Newtonville, about 12:30 a. m. last Friday. Only the fact that the car hit an electric light pole on the side of Washington st. prevented the automobile from plunging down the steep embankment onto the B & A tracks where a freight train was passing. Miss Rowell was cut by broken glass and was taken to the Newton Hospital. The accident occurred when a car driven by Rals-ton Jones, Jr., of 1801 Beacon st., Waban, started to turn left from Washington st. to Lowell ave., just as Miss Rowell's car was about to pass it.

EDWARD H.

Powers' Paragaphs

According to the Waltham paper, a conference was held on Monday of this week between Mayor Hansen of Newton and the chief foreman of the Street Department there. The news item read:

"The two officials also discussed the cleaning of Main st. between the Beaver Brook overpass and the Water-town line and agreed that the papers along the roadway there which have caused complaints are the problem of a restaurant in the district. A letter will be sent to the restaurant operator asking him to take steps to prevent papers from blowing from his property onto the roadway, the mayor said."

We print this item for the benefit of certain persons who recently tried to influence the Board of Aldermen of Newton to change a zone in an attractive residential section of this city to business, so that a restaurant might be located there by the same organization which controls the one allegedly causing the nuisance at Waltham.

An old and respected resident of Newton, a gentleman who has lived in this city for 45 years, informed us a couple of days ago that he is leaving Newton to make his residence in Connecticut. He told us that his attorney had informed him that he is the 66th client this lawyer has had who has moved from Massachusetts because of Massachusetts' inheritance and income taxes.

Aubrey Williams of Alabama, National Director of the N. Y. A., came to Boston the other day and got first page publicity because he advocated the lowering of the voting age from 21 so that the youth of this country will offset the influence of aged persons, who, Mr. Williams was quoted as saying, are receding too much public aid. Incidentally, Mr. Williams, who is neither a youth nor old, he is 50, has been holding high-salaried Federal jobs since 1933. If there were not so many individuals drawing big salaries from Federal and State governments, both youth and aged could receive more assistance.

Herbert Parsons and others who oppose the death penalty are quite indignant over the execution at State Prison this week of two young murderers. We don't remember Mr. Parsons showing equal concern over the fate of the victim of these two murderers, a hard-working man in his 50s, whom they brutally shot and killed in Somerville last year while robbing him of $3.50. There are scores of persons dying every day in this area, many of them suffering agonies from horrible diseases, but we don't hear of any efforts in their behalf by those who are so sympathetic for cold-blooded murderers.

P. J. Shortis' specialty company had a good house at their entertainment in Nonantum Hall on Wednesday evening and gave an excellent variety exhibition. Notably good were Mr. Shortis' violin and banjo solos, and the singing of little Nellie Brady, Frank Clayton, performer of 20 different musical instruments, and John Fenton, clog dancer, were well received.

Flying on a flag staff near Crescent Beach station, Revere, is a banner with this strange device—"Y. M. C. A. Camp." What does it mean? Simply this—that the Young Men's Christian Association workers and their families are taking a vacation at the seashore. Tents have been pitched and more are going up. All Y. M. C. A. members are invited to enter upon this economical method of stemming the hot weather. A large Gospel tent has been raised and meetings are held every evening.

Taken from the report of City Auditor Otis in July, 1884, showing appropriations for year and expenditures in certain departments up to July 1 of 1884: Almshouse, appropriation, $4500, expenditure, $1781; poor out of almshouse, $8000 appropriated, $3697 expended. Board of Health, $2300 appropriated, $1094 expended. Fire Department, $24,000 appropriated, $11,170 expended. Schools, $89,500 appropriated, $52,435 expended. Highways, $64,000 appropriated, $28,849 expended. Indigent soldiers and sailors, $1000 appropriated, $488 expended. Land damages, $1400 appropriated, nothing expended. Interest on water bonds, $52,500 appropriated, $59,500 expended. Free Library, $3000 appropriated, $4317 expended. Police Department, $17,700 appropriated, $8,338 expended. Removal of ashes, $3,000 appropriated, $1846 expended. Street lights, $20,250 appropriated, $9,483 expended. State aid, $1000 appropriated, $435 expended. Water maintenance, $13,500 appropriated, $7139 expended.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, July 26, 1889

Lightning struck the house of A. F. Adams on Park ave. on Tuesday afternoon. The bolt took the gilding off a picture frame in one of the rooms and then passed out. The damage amounted to about $15.

The swimming race between Leavitt of Newton and McCluskey of Lowell took place on Thursday at Grand Ocean Pier. The course was from the end of the pier to a stake boat and return, a distance of one mile. Leavitt took the lead at the start and won by three feet.

Monday afternoon five persons met with a narrow escape from drowning in the Charles River near the Galen st. bridge. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elliot of California st.; a friend, his wife and their child. After rowing about in a boat for some time, they approached the canal at the grist mill, where the wa-citizens of the Commonwealth, is comprised of men so cowardly apparently so ashamed of their official acts, that they shun roll call votes on very important bills. And it shows the lack of intelligence of the electorate of Massachusetts when they elect to the Legislature men of the type referred to.

We have the spectacle of members of the House of Representatives willing to compromise with Governor Saltonstall on his taxation program, provided he shall agree that they will vote for the proposed additional taxes, and for a $3000 salary for themselves without roll calls on these bills; and provided that he will not veto the $3000 salary they want to obtain for the present session.

And we have the spectacle of members of the State Senate refusing to concur with the House of Representatives in raising the tax on dog-race tracks' revenues from 3 1/2 to 7 per cent, and also refusing to take a roll call on this important matter. This increased tax was demanded by Governor Saltonstall. It is no secret that the owners of these dog-race tracks have been making tremendous profits. They refused to produce their books and disclose the receipts and the expenditures of their gambling enterprises when asked several times to do so by Legislative committees. Why are our State Senators so solicitous about the dog-race track promoters? Why do they oppose these recipients of huge revenues from gambling sharing more of their take with the State? Why are the Senators afraid to go on record on this matter through the medium of roll call votes? Why?????

It has been a time-honored (?) custom that whichever political party is in power would realign voting districts to their own advantage whenever redistricting occurred. But, if the Democrats were in control in Massachusetts today, and they did such a job of redistricting as the Republicans have done in the case of the Senatorial districts, what howls of "gerrymandering" would be uttered by the Republicans. For instance, Newton, instead of being included in the same Senatorial district as it has been in the past, is divided into two districts. When the Democrats get into power again, and this is more than probable, they can't be blamed if they imitate the Republicans.

Co-operate with the Forestry Department in saving the young trees along our streets. Water the little trees in front of your property. The drought is killing some of them, and will kill others unless they are watered.

Citizens of Newton should be thankful that the Raytheon Company established its factory in the Nonantum section of this city. This company is one of the largest manufacturers of radio tubes in the world and during its busy seasons employs 1500 persons, mostly girls, and a large percentage of whom are residents of this city. But for the employment provided for such a large number by the Raytheon Company, the cost of welfare relief to taxpayers of Newton would be considerably increased.

City Solicitor Refutes Contention Ordinance Illegal

vested in said board by law, that the office of sergeant-mechanic in said police department was created in 1929 by section of the duly enacted Newton Revised Ordinances of 1929 which then provided: The Police Department shall consist of the chief of police, a captain, two lieutenants, two inspectors to rank as lieutenants, one sergeant-mechanic, as many sergeants and regular patrolmen as may be deemed necessary by the Board of Aldermen and a reserve force of not over ten men, that in 1939 the finance committee of the Board of Aldermen and other committees, after investigation, reported that the office of sergeant-mechanic was unnecessary for the efficient administration of the police department and recommended that the office be abolished in the interest of sound economy and efficient and economic administration of the department, that the board accepted said recommendations and pursuant thereto and for the reasons therein stated on May 1, 1939 duly enacted an ordinance abolishing the office of sergeant-mechanic as of July 1, 1939 by striking from said section 132 of the Revised Ordinances the words "one sergeant-mechanic."

Because of statements made in certain newspapers that the allegation made by Attorney Hurley tended to show that ordinances of the City of Newton passed over a long term of years are all illegal and null, because they had not received the approval of an Attorney-General, many Newton citizens were apprehensive that important ordinances, including the zoning ordinance, had no legal weight.

Refuting such a contention, Mr. Bartlett calls attention to the fact that the charter of the City of Newton, which was approved by Legislative action, empowers the Board of Aldermen to pass ordinances without the approval of the Attorney-General. Section 14 of the City Charter deals with the powers of the Aldermen. The last section of this ordinance reads: "All such ordinances shall take effect without other sanction or approval than is provided in this act."

Farm Machinery Sales

Tractors amounted to 42 per cent of farm equipment sales in the United States in 1936 and 1937 in contrast with only 27.2 per cent in 1925.

Scientists Study Mystery Of Human Heart Action

The heart presents many difficult problems to the scientist. It operates continuously, and if it gets any rest it does so by taking advantage of the brief period between beats. The mechanism that causes it to beat regularly is one scientists would like to understand. The heart will beat for long periods out of its body, just as regularly as it does when a part of the living organism. This fact makes possible a variety of experiments, recent ones giving surprisingly contradictory results.

The hearts of the great majority of species have much in common in their function and mechanism, but recent experiments made with hearts of oysters and crabs have revealed interesting differences in the methods of control. Professor Ivon R. Taylor, Brown university physiologist, and Dr. Edmund M. Walz, of Johns Hopkins Medical school, have been giving electrical and chemical treatments to hearts removed from oysters and observing the effect on the beating of this organ with its paper-thin muscles.

The oyster heart first surprised scientists by acting in an opposite way to the hearts of mammals when stimulated by electricity. In mammals the electric current stimulated heart activity but under its influence the oyster hearts went to sleep, or slowed their action.

A similar reversal of response was obtained by Dr. J. H. Welsh, at the Harvard Biological laboratories. He was working on the hearts of crabs and he found that the chemical, acetylcholine, a powerful depressant for the hearts of vertebrates, acts as a powerful stimulant on the crab heart.

The scientists working at Brown university treated the oyster hearts with this substance, which is produced by nerve stimulation in vertebrates. Again they found a reversal from the normal course. In this case the acetylcholine acted as a blocking agent and prevented the electricity from producing any effect. These experiments indicate a surprising ingenuity on the part of the heart in utilizing chemical substances to produce diverse effects.

Vitamin in Yeast Varies With Different Species

The amount of vitamin B₁, the beriberi vitamin, occurring in yeast varies greatly with the medium upon which the yeast is grown, says a report to the American Chemical society by Prof. C. A. Elvehjem, of the University of Wisconsin. Investigation of five strains of yeast also shows that the yield of the vitamin differs according to species.

The vitamin B₁ content was about the same for most of the yeasts in the same medium but varied considerably with different media, the report concludes. The figures per gram of dry yeast were 10 international units for grain wort yeast; three to four international units for molasses yeast and 2.5 to 3.3 international units for glucose-salts yeast.

The strain known as "endomyces vernalis" showed much less variation in B₁ concentrate, crystalline B₁, nucleic acid or liver extract to the glucose-salts medium greatly increased the vitamin B₁ content of bakers' yeast. From 50 to 100 per cent of the added vitamin were recovered in the yeast crop.

"About 70 per cent of the B₁ content of the grain was found in the wort. Sterilization of the wort for 45 minutes at 15 pounds per square inch pressure destroyed about 20 per cent of the extracted vitamin. However, this was not lost as the yeast appeared able to reconstitute the vitamin from the decomposition products."

Devil's Island

Devil's Island is the general name given to the French penal colony in French Guiana, on the northeast coast of South America. Devil's island itself is actually only a small rocky island, 16 square miles in area, which forms one of a group called the Iles du Salut. The other islands in the group are St. Joseph and Ile Royale. While only a small number of political prisoners have ever been confined on Devil's island, this number includes the most famous of all, the innocent Captain Dreyfus. The French have been sending prisoners to Guiana since before the Revolution, but it was not until 1854 that it was officially designated as a penal settlement, and the prison was built later. The colony of French Guiana has an area of 30,880 square miles has a total population of only 47,000.

Seventy Years With One Firm

Henry Turk, manager for Western Union Telegraph company at Parker's Landing, Pa., has retired after 70 years of service, establishing what is believed to be an all-time record in the communications industry, the company announced. Mr. Turk was born at Black Fox Furnace, Clarion county, Pa., on February 27, 1858, and began work at the age of 10 years as a Western Union messenger boy at Parker's Landing, then one of the centers of Pennsylvania's oil industry. His experiences include maintenance of service for the company during a number of serious floods. Mr. Turk plans to remain active in community affairs. He retains an old Morse key which he had used for many years.

Plane's Possible Speed Estimated at 600 M.P.H.

"Nature's unclimbable fence" sets the limit of speed attainable by a man-carrying airplane at 600 miles an hour, H. E. Wimperis, president of the Royal Aeronautical society, declared in his presidential address to the society here.

The fastest speed yet recorded in level flight is 441 miles an hour, and speeds in the neighborhood of 500 miles an hour have been reached in terminal velocity dives.

Explaining his reasons for selecting the 600 miles an hour limit, Wimperis defined the "fence" as the natural limit to the speed with which the air is able to get out of the way of the advancing airplane.

"The speed at which air can move when pushed is the same as the velocity of sound, and once the plane speed approaches this boundary it becomes more and more difficult to push away the air in front," he said. "And there is nothing we can do to increase the velocity of sound."

"When a body moves it compresses the air just in front of it, and the resulting pressure is communicated to the air farther ahead. This communication is achieved at the velocity of sound in the medium. In air of normal sea level pressure and temperature this velocity is 750 miles an hour. In the stratosphere it is only 650 miles an hour."

"When the speed reaches this limit the air ahead cannot be 'warned' of what is coming. When a plane moves as fast as, or faster than, the velocity of sound, collisions with the air particles are inevitable and there will be enormous loss of energy through conversion into heat of the resultant shock waves."

Wimperis added that drag or head resistance was enormously increased, and a much less efficient airplane, characterized by a low ratio of lift to drag, resulted.

Hence, an airplane flying near the velocity of sound would require approximately 2,000 horsepower for every ton of weight. A present-day engine of this power would require the whole of the weight allowance and none would be left for the airframe and its contents.

"If speeds such as these are to be attained," he observed, "it cannot be by the engine as we know it today."

Novel Ferryboat in Use By British Railway Firm

There was launched from the yard of William Denny Brothers at Dumbarton, recently, says the Times of London, a double-ended ferry boat of novel design for the Lynton-Isle of Wight service of the Southern Railway company. It was named Lynton.

The Voith Schneider type of propeller is used, and the vessel is the first to be so propelled in British waters. There are two propellers, one at each end of the ship, with controls from the bridge pedestal operating direct on them, and so varying the direction and force of thrust. An additional control lever will, in effect, deahness the two propellers so that their thrusts can be placed athwartships on the same side to the vessel. Rudders are unnecessary. The vessel has a length overall of 148 feet and breadth of 36 feet eight inches, with nine feet depth, and a speed of 11 knots. There is accommodation for 400 passengers and 16 to 20 motorcars. There are two sets of Diesel engines, each of 200 b. h. p., designed to work at 600 to 700 r. p. m., which drive the propellers at approximately 230 r. p. m.

A ferry steamer of a similar nature was also launched recently at Leith. The new ship, the South Steyne, will maintain a service of 17 knots between Sydney, Australia, and Manly Beach, and will, it is claimed, be the fastest ferry in the British empire.

Maine Beauty Spot

In all Maine there is no more beautiful a locality than the Boothbay harbor region. Situated on the most broken coastline in the world, the region is a long peninsula bounded on the outer end by the Atlantic ocean and on its sides by two broad rivers. More than 50 years ago the broken shoreline with its innumerable islands, coves and inlets, the spruce-clad hills and the lakes and streams of the region began attracting summer visitors. The natural beauty of the region, together with the quaintness of its winding streets and wharves and buildings, and the warm unobtrusive friendship of its people made its growth as a summer resort inevitable. Throughout its growth the region has preserved its natural beauty and charm because of the great pride which permanent residents and summer visitors have taken in it.

Crows Disturb Phones

Because South Africa's crows interfere with telephone service, the government has started a housing project for them. A crow responsible for putting out of order the lines between Klaver and Van Rhynsdorp built a nest of twisted strands, including barbed wire, and located it on a telegraph pole. It resembled a wastepaper basket and weighed nearly 15 pounds. In the Calcutta district the department of posts has provided special nests for the birds, fixed above the lightning conductors, and has saved postal of its endless trouble.

Boys From Newton Y.M.C.A. Enjoy Trip To New York World's Fair

Camp F. A. Day

Arthur Kolsti and Ted Humphrey. The camp orchestra opened the show with two selections, and Buster Barnard of Manhasset, L. I., gave his now-famous swing interpretations.

The first half of the league competition closed on last week with the favored Dartmouth team coached by Stan Sumner capturing the honors in the Senior League, and the powerful Northwestern team, piloted by Al Smith, gaining first place in the Junior League. The second half, which has already started, should bring the keenest of competition for the winners of the season are rewarded with suitable banquet prizes.

An attractive pair of athletic contests were arranged with the Brookfield Town Teams for the coming week. A baseball game was contested Wednesday night and tonight an outdoor basketball game will be the center of attraction. Both counselors and campers will represent the Camp in each of these games.

The second of the swimming meets will take place tomorrow afternoon on the waterfront when more than one hundred and twenty-five boys compete against one another for supremacy. The practice of limiting contestants to but two swimming events each has resulted in large entry lists for each camp. League competition is the basis of all scoring in this meet.

Tuesday afternoon was a gala day for the Senior Camp as the members left for an overnight canoe hike to Lake Wickabog, twelve miles distant. The morning was spent in packing blankets, food and other necessary articles to make ready for an immediate start after rest hour.

As the season progresses there are many of the former counselors of the Camp, now engaged in business or other pursuits who return for a day or a weekend. Prominent among those who visited the Camp in the past week were Gale Wisbach of Brown University, Bud Blount of Dartmouth, Vin Johnson of Boston University and Roger Cotting of the University of Maine. Pepper Martin now engaged in the banking business in Boston brought his brother, Jim, to Camp on Sunday to take his place among the workers.

Nature Study at Camp Day Attracts Many

The current season has witnessed at Camp Frank A. Day an unusually attractive nature study program which has gained numerous adherents from the opening of Camp to the present. In days gone by the past witnessed a movement towards the Nature Hall, but at other times the campers were content to use their time in more of a physical sense. Professor Fred L. Daye has gathered a staff this season which has helped him to so motivate this activity so that the educational value combined with the natural enjoyment of nature's mysteries have resulted in a consistently high enrollment regardless of a season devoid of rain.

The director of this branch of the Camp's activities is Fred L. Daye, a retired preparatory school Professor who finds increasing pleasure in returning to Camp Frank A. Day each year for his program. Assisting him are several counselors who have either majored in some branch of Nature Study at college, or found in it a hobby for pleasure after college days were over.

Duncan Whitehill of Newton, a graduate of Bowdoin College, has conducted an interested group in bird study to surrounding fields for observation of the birds in their actual haunts. Whitehill specialized in this work at Bowdoin under the authority, Doctor Gross.

Harry Kyle, a graduate of Springfield College and Boys' Work Director at the Burlington, Vermont Community "Y" is in direct charge of woodcraft study and Indian lore. He has a large number of boys working with him who are striving for Emblems in Woodcraft.

Richard Sprague of Harvard University has established an aquarium on Camp property which serves as the center of the collection of marine life which has been found in the lake waters. All snakes, however, which have been found in this neighborhood are preserved in alcohol, and kept in the Nature museum.

Many trips have been made in the past weeks of Camp, but none were more popular than the two trips made to Brookfield to inspect the Indian relics collected by the residents of Brookfield. Added to those collections have been those made by the boys of Camp. Bill Sanborn has found in the nearby Indian Village two Indian arrow heads; so-called flakes from the quartz arrows; a pestle and a larger stone, undoubtedly used by the Indians. Jack Callahan brought in two stones used by the Indians for smoothing.

In the Nature Hall is maintained a well-stocked library of nature subjects, an old time binnacle box with compass and whale oil lamp used by the grandfather of Chief Hess; a sextant used for determining latitude; a splendid collection of butterflies and moths found in and around Camp, as well as graphite found in Lead Mountain, which is a few miles from Camp.

Many boys have successfully completed the famous Wanton Certificate in past years and this year is no exception to this. Boys must identify a certain number of minerals, flowers, birds and other wild life in order to receive this award. Those who have received the certificate this year are: Leslie Beeten, Leonard Denman, Lester Bixby, Richard Lee, Nelson Burnett, Horace Trindall, Billy Haberer, Sherman Eldredge, Teddy Leonard, and Billy Riley. More difficult is the acquisition of the Expert Naturalist Emblem reserved for only the topmost, and so far this season Bill Sanborn has been the lone recipient. Leslie Beeten, however, was awarded the Emblem last season.

7500 Drowned In U. S. A. In 1938

Approximately 7,500 persons drowned in 1938 and almost exactly 50 per cent of them did it during just three months—June, July and August. So says the National Safety Council in its 1939 statistical yearbook, Accident Facts, just published. About 5,000 of the total occurred while the victims were swimming.

Two of every five drowning victims (both male and female) were under 20 years of age!

But listen to this, men: Five of every six drowning victims were men and boys!

The Newton Chapter Red Cross announced that the classes at Crystal Lake this summer, under the direction of Mr. E. M. Westgate, Chapter Instructor, have been more popular than ever, and that the new swimming tests are being sought after by many ambitious young boys and girls. The following have passed the various tests:

Junior Life Saving—Mary Healey, Alice Healey, William Breed, Richard Kennedy, Philip Powers.

Senior Life Saving—Philip Walsh, Wendell Whitcomb, Thomas Powers Jr., Barbara Macdonald, Eleanor Leahy.

Intermediates—Adella Hayes, Velma Edgar, Dorothy Henricks, Anne Powers, Jane Plump, Eleanor Reagan, Mildred Hall, Gertrude Malony, Gloria Rivers, Jean Hoagland, Barbara Furush, Virginia Manning, Mary Maloney, Mary Hoagland.

Recent Weddings

POPE—MERRIAM

Miss Pearl Keith Merriam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Merriam of Newton Highlands was married to Dr. Richard Oliver Pope, son of Dr. and Mrs. Clinton M. Pope of Newton Highlands on Sunday, July 30th, at three-thirty o'clock. The ceremony took place on the lawn of the summer home of the bride's parents at Point Independence, Massachusetts and was performed by Rev. Ben Roberts of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Miss Ada Merriam, was maid of honor and Mr. Ralph Mills of Boston, cousin of the groom, was best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Ida F. Keith of Needham, cousin of the bride and Miss Lois Y. Pope of Boston, sister of the groom. The ushers were Mr. John C. MacKinnon of New York City and Mr. Arthur J. Anderson, Jr. of Wellesley Hills.

The bride wore a gown of marquisette with a full skirt ending in a train and her long veil, trimmed with lace from her mother's wedding gown, was caught in a Juliet cap. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet. The maid of honor in pink marquisette and the bridesmaids in aqua, carried old-fashioned bouquets.

A reception was held on the lawn after the ceremony.

Following a wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Pope will reside in Needham Heights.

The bride is a graduate of Colby Junior College and Vesper George School of Art. Dr. Pope is a graduate of Tufts College Dental School.

DUDDY—SMITH

Miss Helen Elizabeth Smith, daughter of Mrs. Rose Smith, of 53 High st., Newton Upper Falls, was married Sunday afternoon, July 30th, to Charles John Duddy, son of Mrs. Emily Duddy, of 916 Moody st., Waltham.

Rev. William T. O'Connell performed the double ring ceremony at the Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church at 3:30 o'clock and Mrs. Agnes Flood played the wedding music.

The bride wore a princess style gown with a long train and a Queen Anne collar and a long tulle lace- edged veil. She carried a bouquet of roses and orchids. Miss Emily Duddy, a sister of the bridegroom, who was maid of honor, wore a white embroidered organdie gown with a full skirt and organdie accessories with delphinium ribbons. Her bouquet was of blue delphiniums. The bride's mother wore a flowered print gown and carried white gardenias and the bridegroom's mother wore a frost blue gown and carried talisman roses.

Mr. John Richard Duddy, brother of a groom, was the best man. After a two week wedding trip to New York and the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Duddy will make their home at 10 Derby st., Waltham.

MORRIS—FIENNING

Miss Edith Louise Fienning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fienning of Richmond, Ind., and Mr. Vernon Morris, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Morris of Chesley ave., were married in the First Methodist Church, Evanston, Ill., July 29, with Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle reading the service. Mrs. Morris, until her marriage, was superintendent of "The Cradle" in Evanston. Mr. Morris, Bowdoin '32, a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity, is associated with a Chicago insurance company. After a motor trip through the West, Mr. and Mrs. Morris will live in Evanston.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter House, corner of Washington and Concord sts., Newton Lower Falls, is open to the public the first Thursday of each month, from 2 until 5 o'clock, and members of the Chapter are always glad to show visitors the museum connected with the house. On Thursday, Aug. 3, visitors were present from Waltham and Wollaston. Tea was served by Mrs. Harry D. Cabot and Mrs. Frederic S. Sherman.

Recent Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner A. Haley of West Somerville announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Adele Josephine Haley, to Leighton Gorham Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gorham W. Harris of 185 Highland ave., Newtonville.

Miss Haley was graduated from Tufts College in 1936 and is a member of the Alpha Xi Delta fraternity. Mr. Harris is a graduate of Tufts in the class of 1937 and is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

At a tea, given at their home on Sunday, July 23rd, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dunn, of Brookline, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Doris E. Dunn, to Herbert H. Gersumky, of Waban.

Mrs. Frederick R. Root of Portland, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Jean Ramsford Root, to William Enos Soule of Portland, son of Mrs. William Gore Soule and the late Mr. Soule of 56 Farlow rd., Newton. Mr. Soule was a member of the 1927 class at Harvard College.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Maynard of Cohasset, have announced the engagement of their daughter Miss Florence Bertha Maynard to Roy Ball Baker, son of Mrs. Roy Ball Baker of Newton Centre.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard L. Rice of Waban announce the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth, formerly of Newtonville and now residing in Los Angeles, to Mr. Gilbert Thomas, also of Los Angeles, California.

Announcement has been made by Mrs. Warren W. Reid of Orchard st., Newton, of the engagement of her niece Miss Alda Elizabeth Keiver, to Mr. Clarence Eugene Blomendale of 76 Austin st., Newtonville.

Ember Day Adaptation

Ember days, which were instituted by Pope Gregory as days of fasting and prayer, are the Wednesday, Friday and Saturday after the first Sunday in Lent, after Whitsunday, after the fourteenth of September and after the thirteenth of December. They were an adaptation of a Roman season of prayer and fasting with petitions to the Roman deities for success in the spring seeding, the June bountiful harvest, September rich vintage and December winter seeding.

William Tyndale Is Called Father of English Bible

William Tyndale has been called "The Father of the English Bible." It was he who first printed parts of the Bible in English and sent them broadcast through the land. There was a law forbidding anyone to translate the Scriptures into English without authority, and when Tyndale applied to the bishop of London for permission he was refused. To him the translator made his famous declaration: "If God spare my life, I will cause a boy that driveth a plow to know more of the Scripture than thou dost."

While at Cambridge, Tyndale had been under the influence of Erasmus, the greatest Greek scholar of his day, and it was there that he made himself familiar with the Greek testament. He was determined that the people of England should have the advantage of reading for themselves the Word of God through the new invention of printing, and when he found that this could not be accomplished at home, he left for the continent. That was in 1524. In Hamburg he worked in much the same way as Jerome had done nearly a century before and a year after he was at Cologne with the sheets of his quarto New Testament ready for the printer.

One day a message came that he was being watched, so with his precious sheets he escaped to Worms. It was there that he succeeded in publishing the first edition of the New Testament in English. The volumes were taken secretly into his own country hidden in cases, in barrels, in bales of cloth, and wherever they could be stowed away and before long they were in many homes throughout the land. To make the shipping of them easier Tyndale also printed an edition in a smaller size.

Thousands of copies were seized and burnt, but when the translator heard of this his comment was: "In burning the book they did none other than I looked for; no more shall they do if they burn me also, if it be God's will that it should be done." Tyndale also translated parts of the Old Testament, but for his efforts he was thrown into prison. His last prayer was—"Lord, open the king of England's eyes." He was eventually strangled and his body burnt at the stake. All this was done in the name of religion.

Brain Found to Control

Three Phases of Energy

The all embracing law of energy is that it runs in cycles, declares Joseph Jastrow in his article, "The Story of Human Energies" appearing in a recent issue of Hygiea. Life is a series of rhythms. The energy cycle presents the three phases of energizing, fatigue, and rest. In the core of the brain is a mechanism that sets your program from the cradle to the grave. Day in and day out, with allowance for emergencies and holidays, that portion of the brain has served you as a monitor of the energy cycle.

Conditioning the energy cycle is a chemical traffic system called metabolism. The feelings of energy and fatigue set up the go, caution and stop signs. The body needs more than rest to keep it going; it also needs food. Stoking goes on to supply nourishment; food is metabolized into energy.

It is true that muscles tire and that nerve fibers do not, any more than do the wires of an electric circuit over which the current runs. But it is still truer that the entire neuromuscular set-up is the focus of fatigue; the nerve battery runs down.

Sound of Voice

The sound of the human voice is as dependent for its pleasant qualities upon the air as it is upon the organs which produce the sound. Experiments were made by Dr. Ernst Barany, of the University of Upsala, Sweden, in which the air with which the lungs are normally filled was replaced by hydrogen. The subject under experiment exhaled air and breathed in hydrogen from a rubber bag. Using the hydrogen as a medium for carrying the sound waves he spoke many test syllables which were studied in many ways and compared with the sounds produced when air was breathed. The lighter gas in the body cavities caused some of the sound frequencies in the voice to be raised one to two octaves. Test listeners were able to understand only about two-thirds of the syllables spoken.

Widows Remarry

Although climatic and latitudinal variations probably complicate the question, a court case in Sydney, Australia, in which a widow claimed $10,000 damages for the loss of her husband who had been killed while working on the railway, has revealed from the investigations of counsel, the surprisingly high percentages of remarriages. An actuary said the proportion of widows of 33 who would remarry within 23 years was 56 per cent.

Newton Girls Pass Sailing Tests At Quanset Camp

Miss Betty Dasey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dasey of 344 Lake ave., Newton Highlands, who has been spending the month of July at the Quanset, Cape Cod Sailing Camps for Girls at South Orleans, has returned to her home. While at Camp Quanset, Miss Dasey passed her Sharpie and Baybird Tests, the latter being the Quanset Yacht Club's requirement for becoming an approved skipper. At the July banquet, Miss Dasey was awarded with a "Nimmie Q," a Quanset emblem in recognition of particular help and understanding when taking care of the younger girls of Nimblett Camp.

The Misses Virginia and Carolyn Coleman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Coleman of 44 Bowdoin st., Newton Highlands, have recently passed, respectively, their Baybird and Sharpie Tests. Miss Virginia is now an approved skipper of the Quanset Yacht Club and Miss Carolyn has passed her first step toward the same goal.

Miss Merrick Farrar, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Farrar of 60 Columbus st., Newton Highlands, has arrived at the Quanset Cape Cod Sailing Camps for Girls, South Orleans, for the month of August. Miss Farrar will be a counselor-in-training and will assist in taking care of Quanset's younger girls, the Nimblett.

Miss Roberta Ann Irvine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Irvine of 61 Oldham rd., West Newton, has recently passed her Sharpie Test, her first step toward becoming a Camp Quanset skipper.

Miss Caroline Close, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Close of 26 White Oak rd., Waban, has recently passed her Baybird Test at Camp Quanset, South Orleans. She is now a skipper, approved by the Quanset Yacht Club.

Miss Jean Roberts, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Ben Roberts of 39 Forest st., Newton Highlands, won the final two races of the Commodore Cup Series, held on July 30th at the Quanset Cape Cod Sailing Camps for Girls, South Orleans.

Miss Sarah Ann Atwater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Atwater of 35 Oldham rd., West Newton, and Miss Natalie Bigelow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bigelow of 20 Holden rd., West Newton, have recently arrived at Quanset for the month of August.

NEWTON ARCHERS

Manuel Sousa, a visiting archer from Attleboro, was the high scorer in the weekly handicap shoot of the Newton Archers at the Newton Centre playground last Saturday. His total of 606 without handicap and 853 with handicap topped Walter Kimber in second place and Robert Goldich in third place.

In the women's round Dorothy Case, Dorothy Skinner and Carolyn Wingett were the top-ranking three without handicap with Dorothy Case, Teresa Goldich and Dorothy Skinner taking the three highest handicap scores.

In the junior round Marjorie Kimber, Sally Spofford, and Patricia Skinner placed in that order with the former's total of 911 being high on the field.

The novelty round was rained out with the mid-afternoon shower.

The Newton Archers will take part in the annual field day to be held on Sunday, August 6th, at the Dr. John E. Rice farm in Hubbardston. There will be archery and golf in the morning and a pop-jay shoot in the afternoon.

Tomorrow the regular monthly Carroll P. Moulton handicap shoot will be held at Newton Centre.

Louis C. Smith, sec.-treas., of the National Archery Association, and Henry S. C. Cummings have returned from St. Paul, Minn., where they attended the 1939 record tournament. Mr. Smith is a charter member of the Newton Archers and Mr. Cummings is vice-president and a member of the executive board of the National Archery Association. In St. Paul it was voted to hold the 1940 national tournament at the Mass. State College at Amherst. Mr. L. E. Briggs, a member of the State College faculty, is president of the N. A. A.

Fewer Employed In Newton In 1938

Reports of the State Department of Labor and Industries show that wages paid to workers in Newton in 1938 declined 29.2 per cent compared with those paid in 1937, and the value of products manufactured in Newton during 1938 was 28.5 per cent less than those produced in 1937. The total value of products made in Newton in 1938 was $10,119,761, and the total value of those produced in 1937 was $14,147,147. The total wages paid to workers in 57 industries in Newton in 1938 was $2,299,173, and the total in 1937 was $3,247,172. The average number of employees in 1938 was 2383, and in 1937 it was 3276, a decrease of 27.3 per cent.

By far the largest industry in the city is the Raytheon Company on Chapel st., Nonantum, which manufactures radio tubes. Other industries which employ a considerable number are the Earnshaw Knitting Company at Nonantum, the Gair and Sherman box and paper product companies at Upper Falls, the Gamewell fire alarm signal company, and the Stove & Woodward Rubber Company at Upper Falls and the Rohrer Wool Scouring Company at Nonantum.

Charge Man Made Threat With Knife

Gerardo Gentile, 56, of 31 Lenglen rd., Newton, was arrested Sunday night by Patrolmen Charlton and Smith after Filippo DeStefano, 56, of 15 Quirk court, had complained that Gentile had threatened him with a knife during an argument on Hawthorn st., Nonantum. Gentile denied the accusation and stated to the police that DeStefano had kicked him while both were in a restaurant. In the Newton court on Monday Judge Weston found Gentile guilty and continued the case to August 14 for disposition.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 6.

The Golden Text is: "What man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God" (I Corinthians 2:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. . . . This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh" (Galatians 5:1, 16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us feel the divine energy of Spirit, bringing us into newness of life and recognizing no mortal nor material power as able to destroy. Let us rejoice that we are subject to the divine 'powers that be.' Such is the true Science of being" (p. 249).

Several Thefts From Automobiles

Over the week-end thefts of articles from several automobiles were reported to Newton police. While an automobile owned by Catherine Considine of 230 Walnut st., Newtonville was parked near that address on Saturday, a gold watch was stolen from it. While a car owned by Leonard O'Neill of 68 Colburn rd., West Newton, was parked opposite 79 Oak ave., a fog-light valued at $15, was stolen off it. Articles, including clothing, valued at $3, were stolen from a car owned by Kathleen Hilton of Newton Hospital while it was parked opposite 248 Cherry st., West Newton.

Oregon 'Cabin Fever' Was Caused by Frayed Nerves

Although the Oregon logger once considered a broken arm or leg a minor accident, and a thing to be expected in the course of everyday work, the most common malady affecting "brushcutter" in the old days was a purely imaginary ailment called "cabin fever," which is still prevalent in camps off the beaten path. When two loggers were bunked together for months at a time a case of "nerves" was often the result. While their daily savings mounted, a feeling of caged frustration increased likewise, until one of the men finally came down with "cabin-fever." His cabin mate might be a pal of years' standing, yet he would suddenly seem obnoxious: his laugh would seem intolerable, and even the color of his eyes, or the part in his hair appear distinctly repulsive. When the logger with "cabin-fever" drew his pay, he usually set out for the nearest town to blow in his savings on a wild and hectic spree. Generally he returned with empty pockets and a hangover—to find his partner a congenial soul once more.

Mathematical Analysis

The establishment of a center of mathematical analysis to direct the use of new types of calculating machines at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has been made possible by a grant of $45,000 by the Carnegie corporation of New York. The center of mathematical analysis is being founded primarily for the purpose of encouraging and assisting technological advance in all fields by making available to scientific institutions and industry the means of carrying out intricate mathematical processes economically. The center will also carry out an active development program on new machines and the analytic methods of using them.—Science.

First American Flag

The tradition of the first American flag is that in May, 1777, Washington, accompanied by two of his officers, called upon Mrs. Ross, who operated an upholstery establishment, continuing a business left at the death of her husband, to make a flag of their design, and that this was the first American flag of the official pattern, adopted June 14, 1777. The matter is in dispute through claims that a flag of the same, or nearly the same, design had been used before. There is some rivalry for the honor associated with the origin of the flag; and confusion wrought by painters and colonial story writers, who drew upon their imaginations to add interest to the legend, has invited the pressing of some rather nebulous claims. There is no historical account meeting with such approval as to warrant the assertion that it is the truth.

RESIDENCE NEAR BOSTON COLLEGE SOLD

Alvord Bros. report that final papers have passed on the property located at No. 115 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill, Newton, consisting of the usual living rooms on the first floor, besides three bedrooms, sun room, bath, and extra lavatory on the second floor. The parcel contains approximately 10,140 square feet of land. The interior of this dwelling has interesting Colonial features; and the property is attractively landscaped with flower gardens and fruit trees. A splendid view of the Chestnut Hill Reservoir is afforded by the high situation of this appealing residence. Title was conveyed by Mary A. Gross to Kevin Carmen, who is now modernizing for occupancy as a home. The property is valued at about $10,000.

NEWTON SALES

John T. Burns & Sons Inc., report that final papers have passed whereby the brick eight room home located at 12 Fellsme rd., in the Newton Centre district of Newton, has been conveyed to Helen Selwitz. With the house there is a two-car garage and 9000 square feet of land, and the total assessment is $10,500. After extensive alterations the buyer will occupy. The Home Owners' Loan Corporation were the grantors.

ATTRACTIVE NEWTON CENTRE COLONIAL SOLD

Alvord Bros., Realtors of Newton Centre, report that papers have passed consummating the sale of the property at 2 Alden st., Newton Centre. The dwelling consists of a substantial frame, slate-roofed Colonial, of 12 rooms, three baths and lavatory, heated by a hot-water system fired by oil. The house is exceptionally well located on a lot of 10,422 square feet, and there is a small car garage. Mr. Edmund J. O'Callaghan, of Newton Centre, the new owner, received title to the property from the Newton Centre Savings Bank, and contemplates immediate occupancy of the residence. The City of Newton values the property at $10,800.

'Big Eddy'

When a Columbia river logger talks of "Big Eddy," he is not discussing one of his friends or "side-kicks"; he is speaking of Portland's Third avenue, known to loggers throughout the west as a rendezvous where fallers, buckers, high-climbers, donkey-punchers, rigging-slingers, and hook-tenders can find a kindred soul. That part of Third avenue between West Burnside street and the Steel bridge was christened "Big Eddy" because of the way the river in the old days cast up flotsam and jetsam near the foot of West Burnside.

Biscoe Retires As B. & A. Vice Pres.

Howard N. Biscoe of Dorset rd., Waban, Vice President and General Manager of the Boston & Albany Railroad since 1913, was retired on July 31, having reached the retirement age of 70. He entered the service of the New York Central 44 years ago. Mr. Biscoe is succeeded by James L. Truden of Brookline.

Mr. Truden entered the service of the Boston & Albany in 1889 when he started work as a telegraph operator at Pittsfield. From 1901 to 1910 he was stationed at Springfield as dispatcher, trainmaster and division superintendent. He came to Boston in 1910 as General Superintendent. John B. Hammill of Watertown, and formerly of Newton, has been appointed assistant to Mr. Truden in charge of transportation and will have his headquarters at Boston. For the past 7 years Mr. Hammill has been superintendent of the Springfield division.

Three New Firemen Are Appointed

Three new firemen have been appointed to the Newton Fire Department and Hoseman Daniel Coakley has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant. Those appointed to the department are Harvey Preble of 993 Chestnut st., Upper Falls; Thomas P. McManus of 54 Goddard st., Newton Highlands, and John Cavanaugh, Jr., of 29 Kensington st., West Newton. Both Preble and McManus had been working temporarily substituting for regular firemen who were ill. Preble and Cavanaugh were assigned to Engine 2, and McManus to Engine 1.

Lieutenant Coakley was born in Cambridge, 41 years ago, and has lived in Newton since a small child. He was appointed to the fire department as permanent fireman on August 2, 1924. He has served at Engines 2, 4 and 8, most of the time at the latter house. He has been assigned to Engine 4.

Jewelry Stolen From Newton Home

Edwin R. Jump of 97 Oakleigh rd., Newton, reported to the police last Saturday night that when he and his family returned to their home after a week's absence his daughter found that a case containing jewelry belonging to her had been stolen. Among the articles it contained was a wrist watch valued at $55. No windows or doors at the house were found to have been forced.

Famous Southern Song Had Origin in New York

Daniel Decatur Emmett, famous organizer of the first minstrel show in 1843, wrote "Dixie" for Dan Bryant's minstrels in 1859. He was a native of Mount Vernon, Ohio, and his father, a Virginian of Irish descent, was an abolitionist in his sympathies. The young man became a musician attached to a traveling circus and his work included the composing or adapting of many Negro melodies. One Saturday night after the minstrel show in New York, Bryant asked him to write a "walk-around" for Monday. Next day it was cold and rainy and as he looked out of his window he remembered the oft-expressed wish of Negroes with the circus when fall days came, "I wish I was in Dixie." He wrote the song in half an hour. It was popular in the North before it was even sung in the South. The melody was adapted by him from an old tune his mother used to sing to him.

After it was picked up by the South, Emmett declared that his song was responsible for the prolongation of the war, its stirring refrain stimulating discouraged men to further effort. One writer says: "The new republic needed a song, something that would call men from their plows and stir their hearts into a frenzy of emotion. The band played 'The Bonny Blue Flag' and the crowd cheered mildly. And then 'Dixie.' The crowd caught its breath and then went mad. Women pressed around the musicians and showered them with flowers.

The song was the soul of the people. After Appomattox ended the war, northern attention was called to the song when President Lincoln said that the famous tune now belonged to the nation, having been captured in the war. It lost its sectionalism, becoming almost a national anthem.

Extensive Study Reveals New Atmospheric 'Pulse'

There are pulse beats in the atmosphere with time periods ranging from six hours to fifty-six years. This is revealed by a detailed mathematical analysis of the barometric pressure readings which have been made for more than 60 years on the island of Mauritius, a British colony in the Indian ocean near Madagascar. The pulse beats are completely intermingled, and it was necessary to submit the curve showing the mixed pulsating record to harmonic analysis which separated the pulses of particular frequencies.

The readings were handled in two groups, one giving the continuous daily record, and the other giving the average pressure by years. The latter showed a 56 year cycle that seemed to be associated with a rainfall cycle of the same period. Pressure cycles of 17 years and of nine years were found. Study over a longer period may reveal that the latter are multiples or submultiples of each other. An annual cycle was found with a minimum in mid-February, the time of highest temperature.

The continuous daily records showed that the strongest component was not the 24 hour cycle, but the 12 hour, the latter having twice the amplitude of the former. The third largest daily factor was the eight-hour cycle, with about half the amplitude of the 24 hour cycle. The smallest factor was the six hour cycle. These various cycles appear to be independent of each other insofar as each exhibits independent phase changes.

Polish Hillbillies

In Poland a hillbilly is called a Hucul, which is pronounced "Hoot-zool." The Polish version of our southern mountaineers wear far more picturesque costumes than the American highlanders, they are as much addicted to the music of the fiddle and they are even more "hot" in their ways, which are very quaint, indeed. A good many American travelers have become acquainted with the Huculs in the past few years. Some of them penetrated the eastern Carpathians as members of art study groups who haunt these mountains every summer, and others were tourists who rode "cruising" trains that carry ski parties on eight day trips from Cracow into the remote and beautiful regions where the mountaineers live.

Bamboo Replaces Iron

Athos Albertoni and Alessandro Paoloni, Italian engineers, have discovered a process by which bamboo, fast-growing tropical plant, may be utilized to replace iron in reinforcement of concrete for building and road construction. The new process is based on special treatment of bamboo to make it more adherent, and placing of bamboo sticks in patterns for maximum strength in the reinforcement operation. If the new method proves successful it will be a boon to Italian building industries, especially in the tropical colonies of Libya and Ethiopia, where weatherproofing of buildings against cold is not an important factor, and they can be constructed of lighter materials.

Machines Sell Stockings

Slot machines may soon be used to sell silk stockings to women. Manufacturers here are considering placing the machines in plants and offices employing large numbers of women.

Old Volumes Yield Data On Ritchie's Expulsion

More information concerning the circumstances of the expulsion of George Gavin Ritchie from Madison university, now Colgate, in 1847, for editing a paper favoring abolition and equal suffrage, has been obtained through research in dusty old volumes. It supplements information turned up last January, according to the New York Times.

This student martyr, fighting for freedom of the press and the right to print his own opinions against slavery, left the university in disgrace and died six years later.

But there were those who fought for him. Howard Williams, instructor in history, has discovered minutes of a students' association meeting on February 5, 1847, at which the question of backing or repudiating Ritchie was brought up. These minutes record the proposition that was put before the association. "Whereas, the faculty have permitted a paper called 'The Hamilton Student' to be started at the university and which has gone forth to the public bearing the name of the university and purporting to be conducted by its members,

"Whereas, Mr. Ritchie having violated the stipulation upon which said mission was granted and having been expelled from the university for contumacy and rebellion, is now publishing a paper by the same name and purporting to be from the university, therefore,

"Be it resolved, that we respectfully request the faculty to disavow the public of this imposition."

Even after being expelled Ritchie had continued to publish the paper, with such a noted abolitionist as Gerrit Smith of Peterboro, nearby, supporting him. When the question was brought to a vote before the students it was passed, 79 to 33.

An Echo-Less Dome

One of the few echo-less domes in the world covers the star-studded Planetarium at the New York Museum of Natural History. This famous dome duplicates the bowl of the sky; when a complex lantern slide machine on the floor below it projects images of stars and planets on its surface, an actual night sky is approximated. A lecturer identifies the various constellations with a pointer of light for his listeners. In order to enable the speaker to be heard, however, it was necessary to eliminate the discord and echo which would have been set up by the waves of his voice striking against the rounded surface of the dome. To eliminate the echo in the Planetarium dome, it was lined with mineral wool, a soft, fluffy material that is widely used to insulate the side walls and top floor ceilings of homes. The mineral wool acts like a sound cushion. Sound waves striking it are swallowed up and absorbed, instead of being bounced back to annoy those below.

Black Beetle Has Four Eyes

Many insects have compound eyes or eyes composed of a multiple number of facets. One family of beetles includes species with four eyes. These are the black beetles which float lazily on the still surface of ponds and quiet streams or, when alarmed, swim dizzily about on the surface of the water in active motion. We call them Whirligig beetles but the family name is Gyrinidae, from gyros, a combination of Greek words meaning ring and circle. The beetles are rather flat and as they float on the surface of the water, one pair of eyes is above the water and one pair is below. It is believed that both adults and larvae feed upon other smaller insects and water creatures. When diving they carry a bubble of air down with them by means of hairs on the body. The adults hibernate in winter and in summer fly freely, frequently being attracted to lights.

ADD EXTRA ROOMS TO YOUR HOME

If Aunt Susie or Grandmother comes to live with you or if a couple of new members of the family appear in any other way—and there really isn't room for them—the situation is not entirely hopeless.

Very few houses in this World are there which can't be improved through the addition of another room or two . . . and the most interesting part of it is that home improvement loans available today make the monthly payments so easy that you'll never miss them.

LET US MAKE AN ESTIMATE—we'll tell you just what it will cost to have plenty of room in the hold home—

Newton Federal Orchestra Plays For Young and Old

Complain About Security Mills

A petition signed by about 75 persons residing in the vicinity of the Security Mills on Monroe st., near Newtonville, has been presented to the Board of Aldermen asking that no work be permitted at the mill after 11 o'clock nights or on Sundays. Complaints are also made that the yard at the mill is not kept clean and lint blows around the neighborhood. The petitioners stated that they had appealed to the Board of Health and the police in vain efforts to correct conditions. There is an all-night shift at the mill. The police, however, say that permits for Sunday work at the mill have been very few. The petition will be presented to the Aldermen on August 21.

Dozes At Wheel, Auto Hits Tree

A car driven by John J. Quinn, 22, of 61 Cherry place, West Newton, crashed into a tree at Highland st., opposite Lockwood rd., West Newton, about 6 o'clock last Friday morning. The car was badly damaged and Quinn received a cut on his nose. He was taken to the Newton Hospital by Patrolmen Sherman and Yanco. He stated that he dozed at the wheel while driving.

Newton Federal Orchestra Gives Many Concerts

The Newton Federal Orchestra, Robert P. Kelley conducting, is a unit of the Federal Music Project composed of 25 musicians, five of whom are women. Conductor Kelley is one of the youngest of the music project's conductors. The son of John Craig Kelley, well-known composer and teacher of music, his music career began at a very early age. His professional career includes an engagement with Fabien Sevitzky as assistant conductor and arranger. He also was with Sevitzky at the Metropolitan and Holliis st. theatres in Boston. Prior to this he had been with the Peoples' Symphony Orchestra.

The Newton Federal Orchestra is best known for its work in the schools of Newton and vicinity. Appreciation of music concerts are given as a part of each school's own music program. The various parts of the orchestra and relations of the instruments to each other are explained to the children. In this way a better understanding of good music is obtained by the students.

Since the close of the school season, The Newton Federal Orchestra has been giving concerts in parks and playgrounds. Hawthorn Playground in Newton is weekly a gathering place for hundreds of listeners.

The Newton Hospital and Newton Infirmary regularly receive visits from the orchestra, which does a great deal not only to cheer up the patients but keeps up the morale of the staff by relieving the monotony of regular routine.

Since January first, more than 90 concerts have been presented by this group.

Canoe Capsizes, Girl Rescued

Patrolman Tevlin of the Metropolitan Police rescued Mary Mullen, 21, of South Boston, from the Charles River at Auburndale on Sunday night. She and Thomas Nolan, also of South Boston, were in a canoe about 200 yards above Weston bridge when it capsized. They told the policeman they had attempted to change seats in the canoe. Nolan swam with Miss Mullen to the overturned canoe and their cries brought assistance.

Find Sewage In River At Farwell Street Bridge

Inspector Robertson of the Newton Health Department, while continuing his search on Monday for the source of pollution in the Charles River, found traces of sewage at the Farwell st. bridge which is just beyond the Newton line in Waltham. This proves that the source of the pollution, which caused the closing of the bathing beach at Allison playground, Nonantum, several weeks ago, must be in Waltham. Analyses of the water in the river at Ware Cove, Auburndale, and at Forest Grove and McKenna's Beach in Waltham, did not show the pollution which was found near Allison playground, so the Newton Health Department contends that the sewage enters the river at some point in Waltham.

Despite the fact that the river has been found to be badly polluted at Allison playground, the bathing beach in Watertown, only a quarter of a mile down the river from Allison playground, continues to be used. It is under the control of the Metropolitan District Commission. So is the bathing beach near the Newton-Faneuil line, about 1 1/4 miles below Allison playground.

Joseph Mulcahy, Director of Public Welfare for Waltham, calls attention to the big dumps near the river at North st., Newtonville, and on Pleasant st., Waltham, and thinks they may be the sources of pollution. Both these dumps are below the Farwell st. bridge, and sewage is not dumped in them.

Four Burglaries At Newton High's

Burglars entered four places at Newton Highlands on Wednesday night but secured little loot for their efforts. Three of the places entered are in the same neighborhood. At the Highland Mills, 7 Easy st., the burglars obtained three empty money bags. At Collins Tap, 41 Needham st., the loot consisted of cigarettes, and a small sum of money. At the Texaco Filling Station, 15 Needham st., a flashlight, a pair of gloves and cigarettes were stolen. At the Cities Service filling station, 11 Elliot st., $10 in cash was stolen, and a cigarette vending machine was broken open and its contents taken. Windows were broken to obtain entrance.

Waban Man Killed At Summer Home

Roger H. Hovey of 1791 Beacon st., Waban, was instantly killed last Saturday night at Alstead, New Hampshire, by the accidental discharge of a .22 calibre rifle. A picnic attended by Mr. Hovey's relatives and friends was being held on the lawn at his summer home. Some small boys kept firing a .22 calibre rifle and in order to stop this annoyance Mr. Hovey seized the rifle and hit it against an automobile tire that happened to be lying nearby. The weapon discharged and the bullet penetrated Mr. Hovey's chest.

Mr. Hovey was born in Hartford 53 years ago and entered the insurance business as a young man. He formerly was western manager for the Globe Indemnity Company and for the past 5 years had been manager of the bonding department for Boit, Dalton & Church of Boston. He had lived in Waban for about 15 years and attended the Union Church there. His funeral was held on Monday at Alstead. Mr. Hovey is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice W. Hovey; his father, Henry R. Hovey, and two sisters, Miss Mary Hovey of Hartford, and Mrs. B. R. Allison of Hewlett, New York.

Neal's Case Given To Grand Jury

George D. Neal, 48, of Quincy st., Cambridge, a former minister who was arrested last week for attempted assault on a 10 year old Newton girl, was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday and held in $1500 bail for the Grand Jury by Judge Weston. Neal's counsel asked that the bail be reduced to $500 but Judge Weston refused.

Two Children On Bikes Hit By Autos

Two Newton children were slightly injured on Wednesday afternoon when the bicycles they were riding collided with automobiles. At 12:45 p. m. Anita Carlson, 13, of 37 Riverdale ave., Nonantum, had two teeth knocked out when the bicycle she was riding collided with a car driven by Hollis Baker of Arlington. Baker reported that he was driving out of the driveway at 149 California st. when he saw two girls approaching on bicycles. He stopped and one of the bicycles collided with his automobile.

At 2:30 p. m. Wednesday a collision occurred between a bicycle ridden by Simon Vangel, 6, of 6 Cummings rd., Newton Center, and a car driven by Leland McDonough, 25 Durant ave., Dedham. The boy received a cut on his head. McDonough reported that he stopped his car when he saw the bicycle nearing it, but the bicycle ran into the car.

Newton Playgrounds Field Days and Plays Will Bring Successful Season To A Close

U.S. Stamp Auto At N'ville Aug. 23

Now nearing New England on its tour of the country, the beautiful 10 ton U. S. Philatelic auto will arrive in Newton for a two hour stay on Wednesday, August 23, between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 p. m., according to Supt. J. F. O'Gorman of the Newton Post Office who is chairman of the committee making arrangements for the exhibition in this city. Stamp collectors and school children from far and wide are expected to flock to Newtonville sq. that afternoon to inspect this famous auto which contains rare stamps of historical and commemorative issues, dating back as far as 1847. Handsome books showing these prints and furnishing full information are now on sale in all the Newton postal branches at the small sum of ten cents. Many firms are purchasing them at special rates and issuing them to customers as souvenirs with the firms' compliments printed on the facing page. Prominent city officials and postal representatives are being invited to attend the ceremonies at Newtonville sq. which was voted as the ideal spot for the exhibition at a recent meeting of the ten postal superintendents in the city. Space on Washington st. usually used for parking near corner of Walnut beside railroad, has been procured for the exhibit. Already over 10,000 of these junior stamp souvenir books have been purchased by firms and the public in Greater Boston. Capt. O. L. Rogers, U. S. Marines, is in charge of the philatelic auto.

CHILDREN GREATLY ENTHUSED

Facilities of 25 Playgrounds Have Been Constantly in Demand Both by Children and Grown-Ups

The Newton Playground Department under the direction of Acting Superintendent F. Ewing Wilson is making extensive plans for the final weeks of an unusually active summer season. Play Days and Field days conducted by each of the twenty-five supervised playgrounds in the city have been planned and will get under way next week. The tremendous interest of the youngsters and adults in the various recreational activities offered by the City has been manifest in the increased use of all the facilities this year.

The city has provided a most complete program for its citizens. No child is too young and no adult too old who cannot find some public playground properly equipped to satisfy his desires in his particular recreation or in his pleasure in finding a "cool spot" or resting place.

The complete utilization of the play and park centers of the City has been distinctly gratifying to the members of the Playground Commission headed by Acting Chairman, Mrs. Louis H. Marshall, George Kellar, Edward F. Dalton and Irving C. Paul. Many economies have been effected but there has been no decrease in the kind of services which the department has maintained.

An ordinary day on the Newton Playgrounds finds activities of all descriptions taking place. On some playgrounds woodworking and sewing are interesting large numbers of children. On others dancing seems to be the important and pleasant way to spend a morning. Going to the next playground only a short distance away, girls' tournament of games between girls of different playgrounds is causing a most wholesome atmosphere of young life.

The observer continues from one playground to another finding different interests paramount to each. The boys' baseball teams of some playgrounds are outstanding and baseball is being played on every available diamond.

Tennis courts are used in some sections almost continuously and the large number of courts provided is hardly adequate for the number wishing to play. A city tournament to decide the city singles and doubles championships is now under way and the number playing is the largest in the history of the department.

The city provides and maintains bathing beaches on the Charles River for the bathers of different villages. One of the finest bathing places in the East is provided at Crystal Lake where the latest in management and equipment with a premium on safety is offered.

Our Newton playground system has developed one of the most successful Twilight Baseball Leagues in the state, giving young citizens the opportunity to membership in a baseball league built primarily on the premise that through organized, guided, supervised athletics our young men will receive training of a positive, recreative and recreational nature bearing fruit in the abundance of good citizenship developed.

One of the high lights of this season's activities has been the Twilight Softball Leagues which have taken the players by storm. No activity has grown so rapidly and the interest seems to have no bounds.

A demonstration of most of these activities will feature the Field Days and it is the wish of the Commission that all who can will avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting the nearest playground during these days. The children of the Cabot Park.

ground staged a novel "What-I-Am-Going-To-Be" parade on Wednesday afternoon at the playground when 75 boys and girls, all members of the local grounds, gave fervent vent to their future aspirations. The traditional costumes of policeman and fireman were completely forgotten as these boys and girls portrayed their future vocations, and the trend seemed toward the professions.

Their childish vocational preferences veered to the more sophisticated professions as medicine, nursing, ballet dancing, teaching, and professional athletics. The contest resulted in demonstrating childish ingenuity when five youngsters put on a miniature pageant, U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Unit No. 7, wherein Allan Small, 19, with a genuine broken arm in sling and mercurochrome stained bandages about his head, appeared as a wounded war veteran, and his sister, Jane Ann, 7, portrayed a Red Cross nurse. Brother Hubert carried the placard description, cousin Susan Gill was the registered nurse, and cousin Gratton, the doctor in a white coat.

Prize winners in the regular contest were Beverly Hopkins, a school teacher; Buddy Riggs, a Lone Ranger; Mary Cox, a chambermaid; Bobby Miller, a professional boxer; Mary Jenkins, a ballet dancer; Valerie Dierkes, a Merry Widow on satin black, and Bobby Pitsoommons, as a Royal Mounted officer.

More than 500 parents and children watched the antics of the youngsters as Mrs. Louis Marshall, playground commissioner, and F. Ewing Wilson, Acting Superintendent, were interested spectators.

The contest was staged and directed by the playground instructors, Charles J. Bridger, Richard Fanning, and Joan Shadell. The affair was sponsored under the supervision of John B. Dacey, Supervisor of the district.

ROTARY CLUB

Eugene J. Campbell, district manager of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company and fellow Rotarian of the Newton club, was instrumental in bringing to the members three very interesting and unusual moving pictures produced by the Telephone Company.

The first entitled, "Under Sea Cable," showed the intricate workmanship in the making of under sea cable, which is composed of 1,056 wires each separately insulated. This cable must be absolutely water-proof, and as a result the individual strands are in turn protected by two layers of jute wrapping which in turn are covered by the outer armor and finally treated with a jute paint.

The scenes in the second picture on the recent hurricane were truly remarkable. It vividly demonstrated the tremendous challenge which was met by the telephone repair crews. The greatest havoc to be met was in New England, where four hundred and ten thousand telephones were out of commission, not to mention the many thousands of cable breaks which had to be spliced. Unless one sees this picture, it is hard to visualize the courage and sacrifice which was demanded of the telephone repair men. There was simply not enough manpower in this section to handle the situation, but the marvelous response from twenty other states more than answered the challenge. Also the fine co-operation of the Western Electric men must not be overlooked. A total of twenty-two thousand telephone poles were replaced in New England alone, and one cannot help but feel that this is the greatest record of restoration in the history of a public service.

The last picture, "Voices in the Air," was a travelogue based on the "long distance" headquarters building in New York City, and showed our connection with the five continents and seven seas of the world by voice. Very attractive scenes were shown from many foreign cities.

Club members were pleased to welcome back Bun Paul, who has been on an extended trip of over a month to the West Coast.

Arrest Sampson For Larceny

Raymond Sampson, 26, of 991 Watertown st., West Newton, who has been engaged as an automobile salesman, was arrested on Tuesday night by Patrolmen Leehan and Sheridan on a charge of larceny of $140 which he allegedly received from R. Joseph Roche and Anthony Lombardi for the purchase of an automobile. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday and his case continued until August 18.

Thriving Three Year Old Triplets

The three attractive little boys, pictured with their mother in the Newton Graphic this week are the Cairn triplets of 13 Middle st., Nonantum, sons of Benjamin Cairn. They were born at the Newton Hospital on June 3, 1936. Their mother, Mary Dinardo Cairn, was then 18 years of age. The three brothers, Ronald, Richard and Benjamin, are quite rugged. They have a baby sister who was born in November, 1937.

Camp F. A. Day

Mayor Childs Addresses Sunday Chapel

In his address to the boys of Camp Frank A. Day at chapel exercises on last Sunday Mayor Childs of Newton exhorted his listeners to seek happiness as their goal in this life. Using as the basis of his remarks one of the more famous sayings of ancient Solomon, "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom," the Mayor pointed out that in reality the motive power for all that is done by people of this day is to gain happiness.

To aid in attaining this goal four rules were outlined, and then each was expanded to better illustrate the complete meaning of the individual rule. These four, according to Mayor Childs are: first, cultivate the habit of looking on the bright side of every experience, or learn to smile when things go wrong; second, in everything do the very best that you know how; third, adopt and maintain a child-like confidence in God as a Father; fourth, treat everybody decently.

A high tribute was paid to two men by the Mayor for their efforts to help boys become good men and citizens, one of whom was Frank A. Day, who aided in founding the Camp for that main purpose, the other named was Clyde G. Hess, director of Camp Frank A. Day for the last eighteen years. Of the Chief the speaker praised his ability to smile when faced by the disaster visited upon the Camp in the wake of the hurricane of last Fall, and then to tackle and clean up that devastation, so that the Camp grounds are today in exceedingly fine shape.

Accompanied by Mr. Charles D. Kepner, chairman of the Camp committee, Mayor Childs remained in Camp for the remainder of the day.

Dr. Kilbourne, a former pastor in Brookfield, conducted prayer at the Sunday evening services.

Daynotes

Fourteen boys and two counselors, Dick Kelley and Frank Pelican returned on last Friday after a five day trip to the World's Fair. Practically the entire commercial and industrial exhibit was viewed by the group including the General Motors unit. Outside the Fair trips were made to Radio City and its guided-conducted tour; Frank Buck's Show, the Music Hall, Statue Island and the Statue of Liberty, the Subtreasury and Grant's Tomb. Headquarters for the group within the Fair Grounds was the Y. M. C. A. building and in the city proper, the Queen's Central Y. M. C. A. A reception by the entire camp awaited the boys when they arrived in the Camp grounds on Friday night.

The Camp Day baseball team, composed of both counselors and campers, squeezed out a win in its ball game with the Brookfield Town team on last Wednesday night by the score of 5-4. Effective pitching was contributed by Jack Wood of Needham High and Coach Evan Johnson of Newton High School, who relieved Wood for the last three innings. The longest hit of the game was a towering home run by Camper Dick Karb, and second to his blow was a double by John Nason, another camper from Brookline, who contributed a double. Coach Johnson won his own ball game in the seventh by executing a perfect squeeze play to force in the winning run.

Stan Summer, coach of tennis has arranged a midseason tournament which is now in its final rounds, and gave a splendid idea of the possibilities for the championship tournament which gets under way within two weeks with the final on Saturday morning, August 26th. In the Senior matches Dick Karb, a member of the Framingham High net team, was victor over Dan Bolling of Walpole, and will face Jack Nason of Brookline in the final tomorrow morning. Gil Tibolt was defeated by his brother, Bob, in the semi-final of the Junior tourney, and will oppose Billy Hansen, a fellow-Newtonite in the finals. Stephen Feinberg of Brookline won two straight sets from Little Bobby Cashion to become champion of the Midget Camp on last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Leon White loaned to the Craft

Shop a power jig saw for the current season, which was a welcome addition to Sid Roberts' equipment in this well patronized shop.

Wednesday saw the final change of camp for the season when less than one-quarter of the boys left for their homes, and the number was maintained by the addition of new boys to replace them in camp. Farewells were said at breakfast to the outgoing boys and the individual introductions of the new campers were made at the evening meal.

On Monday night the camp witnessed a fine display of moving pictures in color with the camp as the subject. Great was the interest as the boys recognized one another in the various "shots," and shouted out the names as the familiar faces appeared on the screen. A friendly neighbor of Brookfield was responsible for the picture-taking, and he also contributed his time to show them to the boys on Monday night. The program was made doubly interesting by the inclusion of pictures of the World's Fair taken by the same neighbor on his recent visit to the fair.

Mr. Frank A. Day, Jr., and Mr. Cyrus Ferris, representative of the Newton Community Chest, made a tour of inspection of the work accomplished in eradicating the havoc of the hurricane. Both were loud in their praise of the results attained.

Swimming Meet Proves Successful

Featured by a heavy list of entries the second swimming meet of the 1939 season at Camp Frank A. Day was completed on last Saturday. More than two-thirds of the enrollment in the Senior and Junior camps competed in this preview for the final meet and close races were the result.

In the Senior division Bill MacVicar was the high scorer with a first in the Backstroke and a first in the Distance swim. Ross Humphrey and Gil Tibolt tied for top honors in the Junior division, the former coming first in the Dash and Distance events while Tibolt won the Dives and then smashed the camp record in the Underwater swim.

League honors in the Senior division went to the Dartmouth team, led by MacVicar, followed by Harvard and Yale. Minnesota edged Purdue for the leadership in the Junior division with Northwestern bringing up the rear.

Bill Shupert was the leader in the Midget Camp by gaining a first in the Plunge and Distance Swim, and then a second in the Dives.

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, August 2, 1884

Any baseball club whose average age is not over 15 wishing to arrange games with the Unions can address C. H. Smith, Newton.

Rev. F. B. Hornbrooke of Channing Church will preach at the Summit House, Mount Washington, on next Sunday. He preached at The Weirs grove meeting last Monday.

Albert Brackett has been awarded the contract for furnishing the city 1500 tons of coal for the school houses at $5.48 a ton.

Joseph Kelly shot a heron in the Charles River marsh between Newton and Faneuil on Monday which measured 7 feet across the wings, and 6 feet from bill to the feet.

The past week has been cool with a good deal of rain.

A little excitement was caused in front of Brackett's Market on Saturday morning in a collision between William Field's and Fred Davis's carriages. The latter had a wheel broken and the shaft on the former was broken. No one was hurt, but the ladies in the carriages were badly frightened.

E. P. Burnham and possibly other members of the Newton Bicycle Club will participate in the annual bicycle race of the Boston Bicycle Club which will take place on August 11 from Bailey's Hotel, South Natick, to Boston. The start will be at 5:30 a. m.; the riders starting 3 minutes apart. The first one may be looked for at Newton Centre about 6:15 a. m.

Many more people are staying at home this summer than ordinarily. Newton is usually pretty well depopulated at this time, but there are still about the usual crowds on the streets at train time. The cool weather has made many unwilling to leave home. After all, the wisest ones are those who take their vacation away from home, for the benefits are due not less to the change of air and surroundings, and relief from everyday cares, than to the mere escape from the heat.

A lot of Colorado steers broke loose from a drove in Wellesley last week and have been haunting the neighboring towns ever since. Brighton cattle men have been hunting them and a dozen or so have been killed, but nine are still loose. One was shot at Upper Falls on Monday, Policeman Harris shot one near the Woodland Park Hotel the same day, and one of the steers took his turn at hunting and treed a man at Lower Falls. An unlucky boy, William Fitzgerald of Upper Falls, was out with a party of hunters, had his arm badly mangled by the accidental discharge of a rifle, and may lose it.

Both branches of the City Government held special meetings on Thursday evening. The most important business was the passage of an order for the building of new primary schools at West Newton and Newton Center. Three oil lamps were ordered on Beacon st., three on Jackson st. and one Edinboro st. Eleven street lamps at Newton Center were ordered changed from kerosene to gas. The Highway Committee recommended the construction of a tunnel for pedestrians under the B & A railroad opposite Channing st., with drainage into the Elmwood st. drain, and the grade crossing at Richardson st. to be closed.

The committee on sewerage made a report with an immense quantity of figures. Statistics are given regarding the number of cesspools and privies, drainage of sinks, water supply and condition of cellars; disposition of sewerage and sickness traceable to defective drainage. The record of sickness showed 28 cases of typhoid fever, 5 of which were fatal; 118 of diphtheria, 15 fatal; 83 of scarlet fever; 10 fatal.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Aug. 2, 1889

There are eight patients at Newton Cottage Hospital and all are afflicted either with typhoid fever or malaria. The hospital has had good success in treating the former disease.

Dennis McKinnon, about 35 years of age, was struck by the 4 o'clock express from Boston at the Highland st. crossing, West Newton yesterday afternoon and instantly killed. He was thrown nearly 100 feet. Many bones were broken but the body was not mutilated. The deceased was a native of Cape Breton, and a carpenter at East Boston. He had gone to West Newton to visit his sister.

Newton has 4291 children between the ages of 5 and 15, an increase of 114 over 1888. Ward 3 leads with an increase of 41, and Ward 2 is second with 27. Ward 7 has lost 22 and also has the smallest number of boys in the city, 293; which is nearly doubled by Ward 5, the next smallest, and which has 553. Although one of the richest Wards in the city most of the residents in Ward 7 have large estates, and their children have grown up and moved away. It has never been a popular place of residence for young married people, a there are comparatively few moderate priced houses there. The cutting up

EDWARD H.

Powers' Paragaphs

Alderman Max Gaddis informed us that one of his constituents telephoned him and suggested that Newton citizens might co-operate by paying part of their taxes early in the year, and thus avoid the necessity of the city borrowing money on a short loan, pending the receipt of revenues from taxes. The desire to thus co-operate on the part of this practical.

Under the ordinary provisions of law Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long is obliged to certify to each municipality the amount of the estimated state tax upon each of them in March. Because of this situation in 1938 a bookkeeping deficit (offset in part by a distribution of highway funds for local road uses) of some nine million dollars resulted and would have been included in this year's local tax levies except for pending legislation permitting cities and towns to fund individual deficits where necessary. Incidentally many communities, including Newton, did not use last year's highway disbursement but retained it to offset street department appropriations for this year as provided by law.

Some months ago Governor Saltonstall, in an earnest effort to prevent a huge deficit in local levies this year because in March it was impossible to determine the amount of the probable state tax pending the passage of additional taxes, requested legislation to postpone the sending out of local tax bills and to postpone certification of the state tax by Mr. Long until the exact amount could be determined. This legislation was enacted and brought about the situation which prevented the possibility of local officials from sending out bills in June and from receiving part payments at that time. It should be said, however, that the fact that most cities and towns can borrow in anticipation of tax receipts at an extremely low rate of interest (less than one per cent) this situation was preferable to the possibility of another deficit. It can also be said that a complex situation could very well have been remedied weeks ago had the Legislature buckled down to an earnest endeavor to reduce the burden of state assessment upon cities and towns instead of prolonging the situation as it has done.

In some towns or cities where one or more industrial plants pay a large share of the taxes, advance payment of part of their taxes has been resorted to, to help the town. The Edison Company has done this in Weymouth—but in Newton, where most of the taxes is paid by owners of residences, such an expedient is not practical when the tax rate is not known.

A couple of weeks ago the public was horrified to read of an outstanding act of human perversity. Two brothers, 10 and 12 years of age, were riding on their bicycles along a highway, when an automobile came speeding along and hit them. The driver of the car, a wealthy, pampered, New York society girl, who had been enjoying the social whirl at Newport, and was allegedly on her way to Montreal, left the two critically injured boys lying on the roadway and continued to speed along. Some miles away, over the Massachusetts line, she was stopped by policemen to whom word of her dastardly act had been telephoned. The older boy had to have an arm amputated as soon as he was brought to the hospital. The younger boy, with a badly fractured skull, lingered between life and death for days. Both brothers will never be the same physically. News photographs of the "heroine" of the affair, published after the crime, showed her smiling nonchalantly. She was tried in a Connecticut court the other day and fined $200, a penalty which imposed little hardship on her or her wealthy father. She was also given a month's jail sentence, but this sentence was suspended. With such administration of justice, the wonder is—that only 35,000 persons were killed by automobiles in the U. S. A. last year, and hundreds of thousands seriously injured.

Last summer we were grumbling because there was too much rainy weather. This summer we are grumbling because there has been no rain. No matter how much we grumble about the weather, we have to accept what the Almighty ordains.

Over 56 years ago John S. Farlow, a wealthy and public spirited citizen of Newton donated to the city a large area of land bounded by Vernon, Eldredge and Church sts. The deed of gift recorded at the Middlesex County Registry of Deeds on April 23, 1883, states in part—"The conveyance is upon consideration that the premises hereby conveyed shall be forever kept open and maintained in good order and condition as a free, public park; the granted premises to be judiciously planted with trees, shrubbery and grass, and provided with walks and other necessary park conveniences, and to be enclosed by a suitable iron fence or granite curbing."

The city accepted the gift of Mr. Farlow and lived up to the conditions specified in the deed of gift.

A good many rumors have been in circulation the past week about a Newton expressman, but it is still hoped by his friends that they can be satisfactorily explained, and it is better to suspend judgment until the real condition of things is ascertained.

Subscribe to the Graphic

Prior to the donation of the land by Mr. Farlow, much of the area was low and unsightly. The city graded the land, had it expertly landscaped and very attractively planted with trees and shrubs. Winding walks were laid out, and a beautiful, rustic bridge constructed over a little artificial pond, in which a fountain gracefully sprayed. All this beautifying of Farlow pk. cost considerable money. Many residents of Wards 1 and 7 in Newton were heavily assessed 55 years ago to pay for the development of the park.

For many years Farlow Park was a beauty spot and a credit to the city. But when the new Underwood School was built some years ago that part of Farlow Park contiguous to Vernon st. was converted into a playground for the Underwood school pupils. The rest of the park, that much of the park has been totally denuded of grass and presents a barren and unsightly appearance. Owners of properties along Vernon st., as well as other citizens, have protested to Mayors and members of Boards of Aldermen, but without any success. The park has grown more and more unsightly.

One property owner on Vernon st., a gentleman who is a native of Newton and one of its oldest citizens, who lived as a boy on Vernon st. long before the park was created, who admired it for many years when it was beautiful, and who has had to look at it in recent years in its increasingly sorry condition, contends that the use of the park as a playground is quite illegal. Many Newton citizens, including the writer, agree with him. The gentleman in question contends that it has been a custom of many years standing to take kindergarten children for short walks. He suggests that the children attending the kindergarten at the Underwood School, and also the older children at the school, be taken for the short walk to Burr Park playground and exercised, and Farlow Park restored to the attractive condition it formerly displayed.

If Susan Anthony and other leaders in the movement to emancipate American women came to life today, and observed how free a large percentage of the girls and women of the U. S. A. have become, we believe suffragists of the Victorian era would be horrified. Susan and her contemporaries fought for political freedom for women. They reasoned that political freedom would also bring a reasonable measure of social freedom. But, the embattled ladies of the 80s, and 90s, of the last century, certainly did not visualize that in emancipating the female sex, they would free girls and women from political, economic and social discrimination, but also from most of their clothes. This observation on our part was caused by the fact that this year the females in the U. S. A. in large numbers, apparently are trending rapidly toward nudism.

Skirts have not only ascended above the knees, but it is a common sight (we use slight advisement) to see women of uncertain age, strolling along public streets untrussed in brief shorts. We don't object to being compelled to view some shapely young person who chooses to exhibit her physical charms, although, having been reared in the Victorian era, it seems to us that she is quite bold in so doing, but it offends our artistic temperament to have thrust on our vision some girl of any age between 16 and 30, who perambulates along public streets, or in public places exhibiting legs that resemble either beanpoles, legs of the Chippendale type, or legs like those of Mullinger heifers (beef to the heels). We believe that morals are not adversely affected by the current vogue of "leg showing" by the ladies. In fact, we believe it will improve the morals of the male sex. "That which is concealed is alluring." Certainly there is nothing alluring about most of the legs displayed today by the female exhibitionists.

We also don't enthuse over the current style vogue indulged in by "pansies" of the male sex. Youths and young men of the narcissus type, who meander around attired in shirts (or blouses) of gay colors, some of which have dainty floral or exotic designs printed on them. However, this is a free country (in some respects) and if young men, women and some of the young men, want to appear ridiculous, that is their privilege.

Arrested For Attack On Girl

Albert P. Cavallo, 24, of 11 Fuller ave., West Newton, was arrested about midnight Wednesday by Patrolmen McKenna and Rogers on a charge of having criminally assaulted Miss Alma Hansen, 26, a domestic employed at 84 Gorson rd., Waban. The girl phoned police headquarters when she reached her home near where the alleged assault occurred. The police speeded to the scene in a cruising car and found Cavallo near the corner of Commonwealth ave. and Chestnut st., a short distance away. He admitted that he was the man accused by the girl, but denied that the story she told was true.

Miss Hansen told the police that while working home about 11:15 that night she was accosted by Cavallo near the intersection of Chestnut st. and Commonwealth ave. She said that she refused his request that he be allowed to walk home with her, and then he followed her and at the corner of Chestnut st. and Gordon rd., seized her, prevented her from screaming by placing one of his hands over her mouth, threw her to the ground, and assaulted her. Cavallo, a WPA worker and married, was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday and his case continued until August 12.

"Do you know it has cost us $4800 for rent in the last ten years? That would have easily paid for a house of our own."

"The treasurer down at the Co-operative Bank says that we could have paid for a home just like rent through a mortgage in his bank."

If you, like these average people — are paying $30 or more a month rent and have nothing to show for it but rent receipts—the

Excellent Imaginations

The actual intelligence of a horse is limited, says Arthur J. Sarl, noted British racing expert, in "Horses, Jockeys and Crooks: Reminiscences of Thirty Years' Racing." Thoroughbreds are endowed with more brains than cart or farm horses, light or heavy drafts, but most big horses seem to have more "savvy" than the little fellows.

All horses have good memories, Mr. Sarl says.

"Perhaps you have wondered why some horses prefer certain courses. Nine times out of ten you can take it that these horses gained some pleasurable experience at that particular venue," he explains. "Maybe they won their race and were patted and fussed over by their trainer or jockey; given an apple, a lump of sugar . . . They can tell good treatment from bad, which accounts for their like and dislike of certain people."

"Horses have great imagination. They magnify everything and become bewildered. They are susceptible to fear. That is why they readily accept the idea of man's superiority. They have a wonderful sense of smell."

Mr. Sarl has seen an animal fall on two occasions at the same fence, with several months between falls.

"The horse remembers the incident, and fear enters into his heart as he approaches the obstacle at the next time of asking," he believes. "His memory of persons, objects and places causes him to have misgivings."

"And doesn't it apply to us humans as well?" Mr. Sarl asks. "What about the boxer who again meets an opponent who has already given him a hiding? It is always odds on the fellow who has done the trick."

London Museum Obtains

Old Romanesque Window

Recent acquisitions of the Victoria and Albert museum in London include several notable pieces of sculpture and stained glass. Most important single item is the French Romanesque triple window of stone, which was purchased with the help of a generous contribution from the National Art-Collection fund and erected in the east hall of the museum near the main entrance, says the Times, of London. This window was discovered not long ago during the demolition of an old house close to the Cathedral of Trier Chateau, near Geors, about 30 kilometers from Beuvals. It consists of three rounded arches, supported on columns with capitals of a late Romanesque character.

Inside each arch is a tympanum with two small pointed arches containing carvings of strange beasts (such as birds with human heads), sirens, and a centaur drawing his bow against a basilisk. The great delicacy of its decoration, especially on the capitals, suggests that the work dates from the end of the Romanesque period, probably from the last part of the Twelfth century.

Among other pieces of sculpture are a sixteenth century Florentine terra-cotta figure of a reclining woman, thought to be an allegorical representation of history, and ascribed to Giovanni Bologna and the terra-cotta sketch model by J. M. Rysbrack (1693-1770), for the reclining figure of Sir Isaac Newton on his monument in Westminster abbey. The monument itself, erected in 1731, was designed by William Kent, but the figures on it were the work of Rysbrack.

Volcanic Island

A pear-shaped dab of land in the curving island chain that dots and dashes the seas between the Americas, St. Lucia was created by volcanic action, says the National Geographic society. Scenically, it is among the handsomest of the West Indies, with its great mass of mountains, about whose summits drifts a gentle mantle of mist that belies St. Lucia's often violent history. Believed to have been discovered by Columbus in 1502, and named for the martyred St. Lucy, burned at the stake, St. Lucia was for centuries drenched in blood. The first two English settlements of 1605 and 1638 were wiped out by Carib natives. French colonists were able to make peace with the natives, but not with the English, who returned in 1663 and again took the island.

Electric Slaughter

Australia has evolved a new and more humane way of slaughtering animals for market. It is an electric "stunner." So far it has been used for pigs, and has proved more economical than killing by hand. The "stunner" is placed over the ears of the animals which are immediately rendered unconscious for 10 minutes. Meantime they are slaughtered and the hair is removed by another new machine in about three minutes, instead of half an hour, as is sometimes required.

Ancient Institution

Chain stores, contrary to popular belief, are not new institutions in the world's economy. As long ago as 200 years before Christ the Chinese enjoyed their benefits. The Fuggers, of Germany, and the Merchant Adventurers, of England, operated chains in the Middle Ages. The first chain system in America was founded in 1670 by Hudson's Bay company.

WALKER—BINGHAM

Miss Eleanor Bingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williams Bingham, of 125 Prince st., West Newton, was married Thursday, Aug. 3rd, to Samuel Polk Walker, of New York, son of Mrs. Samuel Polk Walker, of Roanoke, Va., and the late Mr. Walker. Rev. Herbert Hitchen performed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride wore a gown of organza, with short puffed embroidered sleeves and wide band of embroidery inserted at the waist and a tulle veil caught to a small lace cap. She carried a bouquet of double white larkspur and maiden hair fern surrounding a white orchid. Miss Mary Bingham, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor wearing a gown of turquoise chiffon with a taffeta jacket and carrying a bouquet of matching blue larkspur. Miss Nancy Bingham Leverich, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a frock of turquoise and carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

The bride was graduated from Smith College in 1934 and the groom was graduated from Princeton University in 1935. He was formerly on the New York Times and is now with Abraham and Strauss, of Brooklyn, New York.

After August 14th, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be at home in Forrest Hills, Long Island.

PERCIVAL—KINSLEY

Miss Celia W. Kinsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howard Kinsley, of Auburndale, was married to Dr. John O. Percival of Somerville, on Saturday afternoon, August 5th, at the Auburndale Congregational Church. Dr. Ralph H. Rogers performed the four o'clock ceremony and a reception was held at Hawthorne House at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale.

The bride wore a gown of white lace and a fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Roger A. Kenney, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a blue chiffon gown and carried a bouquet of delphinium and Talsman roses. Mr. Roscoe B. Smith of Wilmington, Del., was the best man for Dr. Percival and the ushers were Mr. Lawrence D. Kinsley and Mr. Roger A. Kenney.

The bride was graduated from Lasell Junior College in 1934 and the bridegroom from the University of Vermont in 1931 and received his doctor of philosophy degree from Columbia University in 1937.

Following a wedding trip through Vermont and New Hampshire, Dr. and Mrs. Percival will reside in Somerville.

DWYER—GIBBS

Miss Ruth Kinley Gibbs of 22 Agawam rd., Waban, daughter of Mrs. J. D. Gibbs, and the late James Gibbs, of Albion, P. E. I., was married to Melvin Warren Dwyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Dwyer, 250 Brown st., Waltham. Rev. Edson Gould Waterhouse performed the double ring ceremony at the Immanuel Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday, August 6th, at 2:30 P. M. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. C. S. Gibbs, Pearl River, N. Y.

Miss Gibbs wore a gown of white lace net over satin with a bolero jacket. Her fingertip length veil of white tulle was caught to a coronet of lilies of the valley. Her bouquet was of gardenias and bouvardia. Miss Marjorie Tuck was her cousin's maid of honor. She wore a gown of pink net with lace inserts and she carried delphiniums and pink roses.

William Leonard Dwyer, Jr., was his brother's best man. The ushers were William R. Fleming and Roger Wheeler. The wedding march was played by Mr. Bradford Blake.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwyer are motoring to Prince Edward Island and will be at home after September 1st, at 61 Chestnut st., Waltham.

POPE—MERRIAM

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Merriam of 35 Canterbury rd., Newton Highlands, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Pearl Keith Merriam, to Dr. Richard Oliver Pope, son of Dr. and Mrs. Clinton M. Pope, of 87 Bowdoin st., Newton Highlands. The wedding took place Sunday, July 30, at the home of the bride's parents at Point Independence. The Rev. Ben Roberts of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church officiated.

Miss Ada Merriam was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Ida F. Keith of Needham, cousin of the bride, and Miss Lois V. Pope of Boston, sister of the bridegroom. The best man was Mr. Ralph Mills of Boston, cousin of the bridegroom. Mr. John C. MacKinnon, of New York and Mr. Arthur J. Anderson, Jr., of Wellesley Hills, were the ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Colby Junior College and the Vesper George School of Art. Dr. Pope is a graduate of Tufts College Dental School.

After their wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Pope will reside in Needham Heights.

REED—FERNALD

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Fernald of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Barbara D. Fernald to Wendell J. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar S. Reed, of 35 Ware rd., Auburndale, at Portsmouth on June 3rd. Mrs. Reed is a graduate of Portsmouth High School and attended the Vesper George Art School in Boston. Mr. Reed is a graduate of Newton High School and a member of the Newton Fire Department.

Newton Resident Active At 86

EISNER—HORAN

Edward J. Healey 86 Years Young

One of Newton's oldest and most interesting citizens is Edward J. Healey, who was 86 years young on Wednesday, Aug. 9. Mr. Healey was born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, and came to Newton Centre with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Healey, when he was 10 years of age. At 15 he started to work with Sargent & Ham of Boston, carriage makers. Two years later he became an apprentice carpenter in the employ of Ezra Coffin of Newton Centre. As a youth, Mr. Healey became a member of Eagle 6, the old hand-tub at Newton Centre, and he was one of the members of that company who dragged the tub to Newton Corner in answer to a false alarm of fire one night. Although there was no fire at Newton Corner, there was one at Boston. It was November 9, 1872, and when the volunteer firemen arrived at Newton Corner they learned of the big fire in Boston. So, they walked into that city and were placed at work assisting Boston firemen. Many years later Mr. Healey again joined the Newton Fire Department as a call fireman in 1900 and served for 17 years on Hose 8, part of that time as lieutenant of the company.

Mr. Healey has had an eventful career. In 1874 he went to California by way of the Isthmus of Panama, the trip taking 25 days. After working at his trade in San Francisco for 2 1/2 years, he went to Honolulu and worked on the building of the palace of King Kalakaua. From Hawaii he took a trip to the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, and Australia. He returned to California and after 2 years came back to Massachusetts and married Miss Margaret Mahoney of Brookline in 1876. They went to Dallas, Texas, then a frontier town, but his wife's health failed and they returned to Brookline where she died soon after. Mr. Healey then spent two winters in Savannah, Georgia. He then settled in Newton and married Miss Maria Burns of this city in 1883. After being employed for 14 years by the John W. Morrison & Son Company of Boston, he entered business for himself in this city as a carpenter and builder for another 14 years. He then entered the employ of the city as foreman carpenter in the Street Department. In 1918 Mr. Healey endeavored to enlist in the Engineers Corps of the United States Army, but was rejected because of his age. He went overseas, however, as a Knights of Columbus Secretary, and served very efficiently in building clubhouses in France. In 1920 he was retired on a pension by the Street Department.

Since retiring, Mr. Healey has travelled extensively. He has spent much of his time in Florida, California, Cuba and Mexico. He went to Cuba for seven consecutive winters, and has spent the last four winters in Mexico, mostly in the city of Guadalajara. Despite his advanced years, he is very active and more spry than most men 20 years his junior. Mr. Healey has one daughter, Mrs. William Connors, of Lexington st., Auburndale.

CAMP HOCHELAGA

South Hero, Vt., Aug. The Misses

Edith and Barbro Anne Wahlman, 52 Eldredge st., Newton, Miss Sally Cushing, 536 Walnut st., Newtonville, and Miss Elizabeth May, 200 Lincoln st., Newton Highlands, took part this week in a horseback circus staged by the campers at Hochelaga, at South Hero, Vt. Y. W. C. A. recreation center on Lake Champlain. Before an audience of 300 people, the 80 girls in camp staged 15 ring acts and 12 sideshows.

Miss Barbro Wahlman, a senior camper, told fortunes in one of the booths on the midway. Miss Edith Wahlman, Miss Cushing, and Miss May, all counselors at Hochelaga this season, directed several of the camper committees which planned the event.

THOMAS MOTORS MOVES TO TURNPIKE

Thomas Motors, dealers in Plymouth and DeSoto cars, formerly of Brookline Village have moved to 383 Boylston st., Newton Centre. The new service station and show-rooms have been equipped with every modern device and everything has been done for the convenience of customers.

Mr. Thomas has been associated with the automobile industry since his youth and has had intensive training in every branch of the business. In 1924 he started in business for himself.

Mr. Thomas said to a GRAPHIC reporter, "We are one of the oldest Plymouth DeSoto dealers in this section of the country. Because of our large number of Newton customers, we found it advisable to move to Newton." He continued "We are proud of our used car department. Every car we take in trade is thoroughly reconditioned in our own shops, and personally inspected by me before it is offered for sale."

Mr. Thomas has been a resident of Newton for many years.

CAMP QUANSET

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Coleman of 44 Bowdoin st., Newton Highlands, the past week-end visited their daughters, The Misses Louise, Virginia, and Carolyn Coleman, who are spending the summer at the Quanset Cape Cod Sailing Camps for Girls, South Orleans. Miss Virginia Coleman placed second in the second race of the Baybird Cup Series, held on Sunday.

Miss Jean Roberts, daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. Ben Roberts of 39 Forest st., Newton Highlands, won the second of the Baybird Cup Series, held on Sunday.

Miss Merrick Farrar, daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. Charles O. Farrar of 60 Columbus st., Newton Highlands, has already passed her Sharpie Test. Although at the Quanset Cape Cod Camps for only a week, Miss Farrar has successfully completed her first step toward becoming a skipper, approved by the Quanset Yacht Club.

Miss Maurine Helms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Helms of 60 Oldham rd., West Newton, and Miss Roberta Ann Irvine of 61 Oldham rd., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Irvine, have brought attention to the name of West Newton by both passing their Baybird Tests and thereby becoming skippers approved by the Quanset Yacht Club at South Orleans.

REPUBLICAN OUTING

Delegates from Newton and their friends are planning to attend the annual outing which the Massachusetts State Council of Young Men's Republican clubs is staging on Saturday of this week (Aug. 12) at the Nabasset Lake Country Club in Westford, near Lowell.

Inasmuch as both indoor and outdoor facilities are available, the party will be held regardless of the weather. An outstanding program has been arranged by the ways and means committee of which Orin S. Kenney of Beverly, council past president, is chairman.

Arrangements have been made for the delegates and their friends to enjoy baseball, softball, golf, tennis, riding, swimming, boating, bowling, shuffleboard, pingpong and other activities.

Politics will be taboo and although leading Republicans throughout the state will be in attendance, the day has been set aside entirely for all to sport and otherwise have a carefree time. A catered dinner will be served at 6:30 and after that there will be dancing. Tickets are obtainable from local delegates.

Twombly Fund Outing For Upper Falls Children

Saturday, August 5, 465 children of Newton Upper Falls were entertained at the Playgroup by a group of citizens, the expenses being furnished by the Twombly Fund donated to the children of Upper Falls.

Mr. Robert B. McLaughlin, secretary and treasurer of the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Society was treasurer and director of the occasion assisted by Mr. Fred Farrington, president of the Improvement Society assisted by Mr. Will Kerrihan, Mr.
George Braceland was in charge of games and sports assisted by Mr. John S. Proctor and other playground instructors, an exhibition of the handwork of the summer work of the children at the Playgroup was held for which prizes were awarded.

Mrs. Raymond Capobianco, chairman of the Troup committee of Girl Scouts, assisted by four members of the scouts and Miss Nellie M. Osborne, president of the Upper Falls
Woman's Club and ten other ladies of the village prepared and distributed nearly 1000 sandwiches which were packed in bags with a banana and given to the children for lunch at 1 p. m. During the afternoon bars of chocolate candy and Hoodsies were also distributed to the children. 465 children enjoyed these refreshments.

The children expressed their appreciation, voting it the best time Upper Falls has extended to its children.

Newton Resident Portrays Children

The portrait of the two attractive little girls in this week's GRAPHIC is a reproduction of a painting by Donald Gordon Squier of Central ave., Newtonville. The subjects are Linda and Karen Kappius, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Meinolph V. Kappius. Mr.
Squier, who has achieved national fame as a portrait painter, is best known for his sympathetic studies of children. He is the son of Rev. Albert L. Squier, who was pastor at the Newtonville Methodist Church in 1912.
He was born at Amherst, Mass., and began to study art at an early age with private tutors. He studied drawing and painting at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, attended classes at the Art Students' League in New York, and studied extensively in Europe.

Among those who sat for portraits
by Mr. Squier were William Howard Taft, Justice Willis Van Dervanter of the Supreme Court, Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, Sr., John Hays Hammond, Sr., former U. S. Senator Warren of Wyoming, and Reed of Pennsylvania; Patrick J. Hurley, former Secretary of War, and Congressman
Hamilton Fish of New York.

COOLIDGE CORNER

Millions of Gilbert and Sullivan fans who have waited patiently for a motion picture of "The Mikado" are finally going to get it. It opens for a week's run on Friday, August 11th, at the Coolidge Corner Theatre, Brookline.

Furthermore, they are going to get it as they could never hope to see it on the stage unless they live in London or New York. The world's most popular musical play has been filmed with all the rainbow brilliance of its beautiful Oriental costumes captured in technicolor. The complete cast and chorus of the D'Oyly Carte
Opera Company, most famous of all Gilbert and Sullivan troupes, whose musical forebears first produced, "The Mikado" on March 14th, 1885, to start runs of 672 London and 250 New York performances, are featured. Kenny Baker, eminent radio tenor, sings the leading role to the accompaniment of the London Symphony Orchestra. No other musical comedy can boast an audience as large as that of "The Mikado." By October, 1885, there were 117 companies playing it in every corner of the United States. Those first audiences and their descendants are still among its ardent devotees.
Educational authorities calculate that virtually every American who has gone to high school or college, has either taken part in or witnessed a showing of "The Mikado" and is familiar with its tunes. Because the play is actor and singer proof it has always been a favorite with amateur and school dramatic societies. In filming "The Mikado" care was taken to give this immense audience the best in Gilbert and Sullivan tradition. All of Sullivan's songs and score are presented intact. All the comedy "business" introduced into the action by Gilbert, wittiest man of his day, and handed down from year to year by the D'Oyly Cartes, are in the film.
The costumes were designed by Marcel Vertes, world-famous painter, Geoffrey Toye, authority on Gilbert and Sullivan technique and long associated with the Covent Garden Opera Company, produced the picture and directed the music.

program is "The Sun Never Sets," drama starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Basil Rathbone. "The Sun Never Sets" is based on the British civil service, which administers to 500 million people over thirteen million square miles of the Empire. The Gold Coast of Africa was the torrid locale chosen as the background for the W. P. Lipscomb screenplay, a story of personal and governmental conflict. Rathbone and Fairbanks portray brothers, the former a veteran, duty-bound colonial administrator and the latter a headstrong tyro in the service. They are at odds until an international emergency pits them together, as representatives of democracy, against a powerful proponent of government which, to quote the screenplay, "dragons the individual."

Virginia Field is seen as Fairbanks' fiancee, Barbara O'Neill, as Rathbone's wife and Lionel Atwill, as the foe of Empire policy. G. Aubrey
Smith, Melville Cooper and Mary
Forbes have other roles.

In addition to the two excellent pictures, there will be the latest issue of the Coolidge Corner Theatre Newsreel. Enjoy a good show here every week in cool comfort.

New Low Fare To New York on B.A.

The officials of the Boston & Albany
Railroad have announced drastic reductions in the round trip fare from Newtonville to New York. This new rate goes into effect next Sunday. This means that a trip to the World's Fair now will cost no more than an ordinary Sunday's outing—perhaps to one of the nearby beaches.

This special train leaves Newton-ville late Saturday night—arriving at Grand Central Terminal early Sunday morning, allowing a long day at the Fair.

Ragweed Drive by Children of Newton Upper Falls

On Thursday, August 3, at 1 p. m. the boys from Troop 7 and 17 Boy Scouts, and the Junior and Senior troops of Girl Scouts gathered with their boy and girl friends at the home of Mrs. Raymond Capobianco, 93 Thurston rd., who is chairman of the Conservation Committee for the Upper Falls Woman's Club. About 100 boys and girls started at 1:30 p. m. with baskets, carts, meal sacks, bushel boxes with which they scattered far and wide over the town and by 3:30 p. m. had gathered nearly 2 tons of ragweed. Prizes were awarded as follows: 1st prize to Miss Francis Dowick, patrol leader of troop 7; 2nd prize to Miss Ruth Batey, Lieut. for troop 17. Boys receiving prizes for troops, Carl Brennan, patrol leader for Troop 14; and Phillip Szylconis, Lieut. for Troop 12. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Raymond Capobianco assisted by Mrs. Antonio Valente. On Friday a group of the Woman's Club members added their services, bringing in bags and baskets filled with the weed which went over the top of ridding Upper Falls of 2 tons of the obnoxious weed.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 13.
The Golden Text is: "The Lord is my portion, saith my soul; therefore will I hope in him" (Lamentations 3: 24).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he; before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me. . . . I have declared, and have saved, and I have shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God" (Isaiah 43: 10, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is the expression of Soul. . . . Separated from man, who expresses Soul, Spirit would be a nonentity; man, divorced from Spirit, would lose his entity. But there is, there can be, no such division, for man is coexistent with God"
(p. 477).

Milk Easily Delivered

The milkman at Nome, Alaska, does not worry about spilling his milk. He calls from house to house and delivers a block of frozen reindeer milk or cream equal to a pint or a quart. A white cord frozen into the block of milk serves as a handle to facilitate delivering. The blocks of milk and cream are wrapped in oil paper and look like ice cream. As long as it remains frozen there is no deterioration in the quantity or quality.

The property was the house of the miller who ground the grain of the early inhabitants of Newton at the mill located on the property, at the outlet of Bulough's Pond.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Spencer, Jr., of 84 Walcott st. with their daughters, Julia, Jean and Joyce, are leaving Sunday for a two-week motor trip to Hinsdale, Ill., where they will be the guests of Mrs. Spencer's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ayers, and to Havana, Ill., to visit Mrs. Spencer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Meyer.

—Miss Marguerite E. Lougee, 8 Briar lane, is one of the authors whose poems are included in "American Voices," the World's Fair Edition, a 900-page volume just published. More than 10,000 poems living in every part of the United States and Canada competed for a place in this important volume. The volume commemorates the several fairs now being conducted throughout the country.

—A sale of most unusual interest is the Elizabeth A. Wilkie property at 288 Mill st. Dr. and Mrs. Edward A. Kinley of Waban have purchased the estate and will make this their home. The house dates back to the Revolutionary Days and was originally owned by an ancient miller who ground grists for the early inhabitants of Newton in Colonial times. The land runs to the outlet of Bulough's Pond where the mill once stood.

—Rev. A. J. Muste, who according to his statement in a letter to "Time" of Aug. 7, was forced to resign his pastorate (Central Church) during the war because of his pacifist attitude, answers the phrase "go to the front but refuse to kill," which appears under his picture in "Time" of July 10 in the letter mentioned. He is vice chairman of the Fellowship of Reconciliation and is called the No. 1 U. S. pacifist, is director of Manhattan's Labor Temple and chairman of the new United Pacifist Committee.

Inferior Horses

Because inferior horses have been imported into South Africa in the past, the Johannesburg Turf club has suggested importations (now exceeding India's and Australia's combined) be curbed.

West Newton

—Mrs. Elizabeth Squires of West Newton sailed on Aug. 1st for a trip to Liverpool.

—Miss May Kiley of Henshaw st. is sojourning at the Riviera, near Daytona Beach, Florida.

—Mrs. Albert Morgan of Hamilton, Canada, was a last week end guest of Mrs. Glendinning Smith of Sewall st.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Edwin Peters of 178 Prince st. are entertaining their daughter and grandchild from Mexico.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frederic McIntire and daughter, Miss Zelda McIntire, are spending the summer at their estate in Petersham.

—Mr. and Mrs. Dwight C. Arnold of 35 Wykeham rd. are registered guests at the Chocorua Inn, at Chocorua, White Mountains, New Hampshire.

—The office of the New England Toro Company was entered sometime last Thursday night and $167 stolen from the safe. The robbery was discovered when the office was opened Friday morning.

—Mr. John A. Paine, Jr., who is spending the season with his parents Mr. and Mrs. John A. Paine in Duxbury, was the winner in the B-division of "Ducks" in the last week's races at the Yacht Club of Duxbury.

—Miss Gretchen Harthall of Webster st. played an active part in the observance of the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the "Forefather's Monument" at Plymouth, which was staged on last Friday afternoon at Plymouth.

—Mrs. Herbert G. Fales (Margaret Page) will serve as matron of honor for the wedding of Miss Hope Fay of Greenwich, Conn., when she becomes the bride of Mr. Frederick Hurd on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 26, in Christ's Church in Greenwich.

—Mr. and Mrs. Marshall B. Dalton and their daughters, Miss Morayn Breck Dalton and Miss Nadylla Lamson Dalton of 65 Sylvan ave., are spending the month of August in Ogunquit, Me., and are registered guests at the Beachmere Hotel.

—Mrs. Wesley H. Loomis, 3d, of Chicago, Illinois, is the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. John A. Paine of 19 Exeter st., who are spending the summer at their estate at Duxbury. Mrs. Loomis is the former Polly Paine, and as in previous years, is competing in the Duxbury Yacht Club races.

—Mrs. Wm. Kenyon of Indiana ter. is ill at the Palmer Memorial Hospital.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pratt are spending a vacation at Brooklyn, Me.

—Dorothy Prendergast of Chandler pl. is the guest of relatives at Wollaston this week.

—Harry Weneiger of Rockland pl. has returned from a week's vacation at Harwichport, Mass.

—Miss Florence Mae Schofield of Linden st. is spending a week with friends at Ashby, Mass.

—Miss Katherine Murphy of Wetherell st. has returned from a month's vacation at Little Rock, Ark.

—The Fairmont Whist Club held their annual dinner on Monday evening at the "Marador", Framingham.

—Rev. and Mrs. Earl F. Stirewalt of the Second Baptist Church have been visiting relatives in Georgia for the past month.

—Rev. John Murphy of Little Rock, Arkansas, is visiting his mother Mrs. M. Murphy of Wetherell st. for the month of August.

—David Martin of Ossipee rd. has returned from a visit to relatives in Connecticut and from a visit to the World's Fair, New York.

—Stuart Miller of Needham was the guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Proctor of Chestnut st. during the past week.

—Robert Proctor of Chestnut st. and friend Richard Decanter of Needham have returned from a week's outing at Harwichport, Mass.

—Rev. and Mrs. Hobart F. Goewey of the First Methodist Church and daughter Elizabeth are visiting relatives in Upper New York State.

—Mrs. Louis Fuller and daughter Helen of Hyde Park are the guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Capobianco of Thurston rd.

—Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Barnard and Mr. Elmer Barnard of Chicago, Ill., were the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cobb and family of Richardson rd.

—Mrs. Ernest Cobb and daughter Madeline have returned from a visit to Winchenden, Mass., where they have been the guests of Mrs. Thomas D. Ginn at her summer home.

—The congregation of the First Methodist Church will unite with the members of the Second Baptist Church on Ellis st. for religious services during the month of August. Rev. Earl F. Stirewalt will be in charge of the union services at his church.

Eiffel Tower's History

Paris' Cinderella, the Eiffel tower, has had a stormy career. When it was built it was called indeliberately ugly. Later a few began to recognize the beauty of its slender and transparent outline. Not until after the war, however, did it come into its full glory. Then it was hired as a gigantic billboard, and the whole of it was brilliantly lighted each night, dazzling Parisians and foreign visitors alike. In 1937, when it was made a part of the exhibition, its place as a decorative part of the landscape of Paris was recognized.

$6.50 a Year

The easiest job in England, that of ringing the old curfew bell of Stogursey, West Somerset, has recently been filled. The bell is rung only twice a day, and the bell rope is so arranged that it hangs down into the bell ringer's bedroom. He need not even stir out of bed in order to carry out his duties. For his efforts he is given $6.50 a year, a joint of mutton, about two tons of coal, free rent, and a garden.

Chemists Lack Words

To Describe Perfumes

The food and perfume industries are handicapped by the lack of words to describe precisely the odors and flavors of their products, according to Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, publication of the American Chemical Society. Years of patient labor and the cooperation of huge numbers of noses may be required to bring order to the nomenclature of odors and flavors, it is pointed out.

There are few fields affording so great an opportunity for the exercise of special talents, and the rewards for accomplishment include renown, in view of the extraordinary influence of these sensations on human emotions and actions.

The terms "sweet," "sour," "musty," "fresh," "salty," "acidic," "bitter" and a few others are the limit to which it has so far been possible to go toward defining odors and flavors, it is said. Chemists with a wide range of tastes and smells at their command for comparison have developed individual systems of nomenclature based on similarities, but even these are so far incapable of the requisite exactness.

An alcoholic odor, for example, may mean one similar to that of ethanol, but it may with equal logic be intended to suggest any of a dozen other alcohols whose characteristic aromas are quite different. No standard odor seems to characterize ketones, yet they are notably odorous. Ethers and esters similarly show wide variations, which no one has yet classified or explained in a usable system.

Probably the reason for this chaotic situation is the vital role of personal idiosyncrasy in human noses and palates. Of the five human senses, only taste and smell have not yet yielded to scientific classification, and physiologists say that in reality these two are actually a single sense.

Mechanical Safeguards

Protect Steel Workers

When the steel industry first set out on an organized campaign for safety it concentrated on an attempt to eliminate accidents through the installation of mechanical safeguards. Efforts to achieve safety by this means have never ceased and many thousands of safety devices have been installed in steel mills, says the American Iron and Steel Institute. It is the practice in the industry to have all plans for equipment thoroughly checked from the standpoint of safety before installations are made. Safety-promoting equipment in a steel mill falls into five general classes.

Inclosed belts, gears and other moving parts and similar equipment which stands constantly ready to prevent accidents; safety railings on all stairs and runways are in this category.

Machines such as cranes and continuous mills that have reduced the danger and the back-breaking toil from steel mill jobs, making the typical steel worker an alert, skilled or semi-skilled worker employed to use his head more than his muscles.

Equipment and devices to improve working conditions, such as better lighting and ventilation of plants.

Safety clothing of all kinds, including goggles, gloves, masks, steel-toed shoes, asbestos coats and helmets which protect eyes, limbs and lives of workers.

Washington and Harrison

George Washington has sometimes been called "the second Cincinnatus" in allusion to his having been called to the presidency from his plantation at Mount Vernon, to which he retired after having voluntarily resigned his commission as commander in chief of the army. But it was William Henry Harrison, who was called from his estate at North Bend, on the Ohio river, to be the ninth President of the United States, who was termed "the Cincinnatus of the West." In both of these instances the allusion is to the story of the Roman historian, Livy, relating that in the year 458 B. C., when the Aequi and Volsci had shut up the Roman consul, Lucius Minucius, and his army in a defile, and Rome itself being in great danger, the Roman senate, in alarm, had made Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus dictator, the messenger sent to inform him of his appointment, found him at the plow. Modern investigators, however, have pronounced the most attractive parts of the story fiction.

American Indirect Taxes

The average American consumer now pays 13½ cents of traceable indirect taxes in each dollar he spends, or $242 a year out of a $150-a-month salary. Another 5 to 6 cents of hidden taxes lurk in the background, which brings to 19 cents the total indirect taxes contained in each dollar spent, a rise of nine-tenths cents in 1938 from the 1937 content. Eliminated from calculations are all taxes difficult to "pass on" in prices—income, excess profits, estate, gift and inheritance taxes, realty taxes on owner-occupied residences, employee's share of social security taxes, etc. Rents conceal the largest proportion of taxes, 26.1 per cent; next heaviest load is borne by the automobile, 20.3 per cent. Traceable tax content in clothing is 9.5 per cent, and in food 7.8 per cent.

Minerals in Soil Add

To Span of Human Life

The average person's life can be lengthened about a dozen years through scientific addition of minerals to the soil, in the opinion of Dr. Charles Northern, research worker.

"Crops grown in poor soil produce poor food products, lacking in minerals and vitamins," Dr. Northern explained. "Our problem was to discover a means of adding this mineral content to the soil."

Discovery of mineral colloids, added to the soil as a fertilizer, has supplied this "missing link," he believes.

Dr. Northern set down several results of his experiments. In Florida, orange groves infested with scale became clean and bore fruit with a greatly increased vitamin content after mineral colloids were added.

Land used for growing potatoes, celery, cabbage and other vegetables was enriched with the minerals. Laboratory tests of the new crops showed twice the mineral content of vegetables grown on adjoining soil.

A dairy used the process on grazing land for cows with the result that a glass of milk contained all the minerals needed for an adult during a day.

"With soil depleted of natural minerals after years of usage, people cannot eat a sufficient quantity of food to supply these necessary items," Dr. Northern declared.

"Farm experts have recognized the problem and have urged rotation of crops, allowing the land to lie idle every third or fourth year, and similar methods.

"But land would have to lie idle for many years to regain the minerals which have been taken from it. The discovery of mineral colloids will mean better crops and a healthier and longer-lived nation."

Dr. Northern said 16 mineral elements are indispensable for normal nutrition. Calcium, phosphorus and iron are the most important. He explained that calcium regulates nerve activity, co-ordinates other mineral elements and if it is lacking rickets, bone deformities and bad teeth may develop.

Louis Pasteur Is Called

First Citizen of France

Pasteur is a household word today because Louis Pasteur first pasteurized milk.

His studies in fermentation led him to the study of other forms of bacteria. Diseases were ravaging the silk worm farms of France. He conquered them and the industry was restored.

Huxley said Pasteur's work saved France more than the war indemnity she paid to Germany after 1870. When pressed by the emperor to capitalize on it, the noted chemist said: "In France scientists would feel that they had lowered themselves by such procedure."

Because of intense application in his laboratory, Pasteur suffered a paralytic stroke at 46 . . . but he did his greatest work in the 27 years following, when physically but half a man.

Seeing French soldiers dying with gangrene after operations, he gave himself to the study of bacteria in human diseases. The doctors poohed his ideas. They called him an upstart. But antiseptic surgery was born.

Then he turned to hydrophobia. He won again with his serum and the Pasteur institute was established. Death by rabies was reduced to less than 1 per cent. Today there's a Pasteur institute in almost every large city.

"Who's the greatest man France has produced?" asked a Parisian editor. A generation before, Napoleon would have been elected. But the newspaper poll showed Pasteur first; Napoleon far down the list.

"Pasteur saved more lives than the 'man of destiny' destroyed!"

Final Burial

Egypt is planning to rebury its Pharaohs, sealing them down under the earth never again to be seen by the eye of man. Once they were exhibited in the museum at Cairo, but later were removed by the government to the mausoleum built as a tomb for Zaghoul Pasha, national hero, who died nine years ago. Last year the government moved Zaghoul from a temporary tomb and reburied him in the mausoleum, moving the Pharaohs back to the Cairo museum. Now it is proposed to build a special mausoleum for them either at Giza, near the pyramids, or at Heliopolis. Throughout the land thousands believe that wresting the Pharaohs from their tombs has brought bad luck.

'Make-Up' Out

"Mad as a Turk" just about describes the state of the school teachers in Istanbul, who have been forbidden by Saffet Arkan, minister of education, to use cosmetics, powder, rouge and paint on their fingernails. Neither are they allowed to wear jewelry or short skirts. A heavy tax falls on those who infringe on this law! But Turkish women are not the only ones to suffer from such queer taxes. The tax on Italian bachelors has been increased by about 12 shillings a year, and in Graz, Austria, those who place headstones on their dogs' graves are mulcted $17. In some parts of France dogs are taxed according to weight.

Rhodes Scholar Students

Fail to Gain Prominence

Since Cecil John Rhodes, British empire builder, founded them with a fund left at his death in 1902, Rhodes scholarships have become one of the most inviting prizes offered undergraduates in the United States.

Each worth about $2,000 a year, the scholarships annually make it possible for 32 American students to pursue their studies at England's world-famous Oxford university. As conceived by Rhodes, one of the chief purposes of the scholarships is to foster strong national leadership.

Since the first selections were made in 1904, more than 1,000 Americans have been Rhodes scholars, and educators long have been interested in learning how many of these have developed along lines envisioned by Rhodes. Recently, there was a partial indication. It was contained in a report compiled for the American Oxonian, quarterly publication of the alumni association of American Rhodes scholars.

Covering the occupations followed by the 46 American Rhodes scholars of the class of 1911, the report showed that no member of the class had gained national prominence in the last 27 years, although nine were mentioned in "Who's Who." More than half the class became teachers; 11 became lawyers; two took up journalism; one managed a fox farm; one sold machinery; and three became clergymen, one of whom wrote a book on how to get thin. The report concluded, however, that many of the class were prominent in their own localities and that therefore their Oxford education had been valuable.

English Firm Receives

World's Largest Letter

In the files of National Farmers Union in London reposes what is believed to be the world's biggest letter.

This document, measuring 15 feet 1½ inches by 1 foot 3¼ inches was sent to the union by a resident of Mosman, New South Wales.

The letter had been written in copper-plate hand on sheets of paper about a foot square which had then been pasted on a long strip of brown paper.

The writer, presumably a farmer, had a weakness for figures. Under a heading, "English and Australian Agricultural Shows: Comparisons of Relative Conditions and Results," he gives a series of tables of the populations and areas of each state of the commonwealth, and also of the biggest cities.

From this he works out the percentage of population attending agricultural shows.

Similar data is given about England, while other tables give figures of revenue earned and expenditure involved for these shows.

The whole document works up to the final argument that England has too many shows, and that, like Australia, it should limit the number and economize.

Switzerland's Picture Town

Untouched by the march of many centuries, Thun, in the Bernese Oberland, Switzerland, is a picture town in the truest sense of the word. Sturdy old houses, with their windows bright with a multitude of flowers, line the main street. Cozy arched banish the dread of a rainy day, and flights of steps leading to an upper sidewalk with another row of shops are reminiscent of the Middle Ages. Long flights of stairs, some with roofs that make their appearance delightfully quaint, ascend from different points in the old town to the quarter higher up, where a Twelfth century castle rises as the most familiar landmark of Thun and its environs. This proud old chateau was erected by Duke Berchtold V of Zähringen. It is a historical museum today and its collections of armor, war trophies, tapestries, antique furniture, stained glass, pottery, and archeological finds are well worthy of a visit.

New Fish Preservative

Though salt-water fish, lobsters and crabs are sent all over the country in refrigerator cars, the big market for them lies along the coasts. To keep the meat of fish and crustaceans fresh, so that it can be sold cheaply inland, Prof. C. R. Fellers and E. W. Harvey of Massachusetts State college have developed a dip of benzoated brine. The dips consist of 0.15 to 0.35 per cent sodium or magnesium benzoate in a 5 to 10 per cent solution of salt. After 30 seconds of this "dip" the keeping qualities of fresh roundfish and fillets are greatly enhanced. But the fish and the lobster or crabmeat must be fresh. No amount of chemical treatment can make a smelly half-decomposed fish edible.

Paris Bridges Widened

With increased traffic in and around Paris, and every car owner heading for the country each weekend wider bridges over the Seine have become necessary. Three are now near completion on the outskirts of Paris, at Suresnes, Neuilly and Saint Cloud. The old Neuilly bridge, first constructed by Perronet under Louis XV, is being rebuilt into a structure of reinforced concrete, as is the bridge at Suresnes, built in the time of Napoleon I. The Saint Cloud bridge will be particularly important in its improvement as it leads directly to the great western autostrade now under construction.

Early Submarine Crews

Made Numerous Errors

In the early days of submarining, when John Holland and his contemporaries were theorizing and experimenting in underwater cruising, they made many ludicrous mistakes and stumbled into predicaments from which they barely wiggled out.

Pioneering in a new and capricious element, these inventors necessarily were so engrossed in the simple functions of diving and surfacing that they often overlooked the attendant problems of trim, navigation, orientation, pressure and the reaction of men and machinery to the confines of air-tight hulls, writes Fred Hampson in the Baltimore Sun. Like most trail blazers in the field of mechanics, they took their chances and learned as they went along. Maybe that explains why one old pigboat chugged out into deep water with a dory tied to her superstructure, dived and pulled the rowboat under, where it promptly found the diving rudder. Feverishly the crew blew the tanks and came up, cut the dory line and thereafter dispensed with surface lifeboats.

Endless are the yarns about submarines that dove well but not wisely and got stuck in the mud. The famous old Tarpon made at least one such descent. She went down off Block Island, not far from the place the S-4 was lost, and bottomed purposefully. When the crew tried to pull her loose neither her tanks nor engines could budge her.

A mud bottom exerts a tremendous suction. The Tarpon was not equipped with the air-cleaning chemicals carried on modern subs, and after a while the atmosphere grew heavy and foul and the men became drowsy. With touching confidence in their skipper they rolled into their bunks one by one and went to sleep, leaving the worried commander alone in the control room.

Russian Zoo Keepers

Tame Siberian Wolves

Two wolves that follow their friends around like dogs and seem to be equally trustworthy and self-reliant are kept at the zoological gardens at Moscow.

Seven years ago two wolf puppies were caught by Soviet explorers in the Barsuka desert, north of the Aral sea in southeastern Siberia, and were sent to Moscow. The two puppies appeared to be friendly and not much frightened.

Scientists at the zoo decided to try to tame and train them, it being a frequent claim of animal experts that adult wolves are untamable and that wolf puppies grow wild and dangerous as soon as they reach maturity. The present report is that kindness, care and patience seem to have succeeded.

Both wolves now are full grown, but still perfectly tame and have been taught tricks and good behavior precisely as is done with dogs of ordinary domestic breeds. Scientists at the zoo have become accustomed to take one or both of the wolves along as exhibits at scientific or popular lectures.

On such excursions the wolves ride on the running board of the automobile just as well-trained dogs do and sit peacefully on the platform during the lecture.

Invent Safety Covers

When two Springfield, Ohio, men read newspaper reports of a sewer gas explosion that flipped manhole lids high in the air and killed several persons, they went to work on a safety lid. The result is a manhole cover that will let gas escape but cannot be flipped off by explosion or dislodged by traffic, says Popular Mechanics. It consists of two hinged lids connected to a center beam, although without any actual hinge, the connection being similar to that of a wheel on an axle. The lids would fly open in event of an explosion, but immediately drop back in position. The center beam is dropped through notches in the manhole rim and then given a quarter turn to anchor it. Once the cover is locked in place it cannot be dislodged or tilted by wheel traffic.

Whittling by Microscope

Pick up your magnifying glass and take a look at the work of McDonald Taylor, world's champion microscopic whittler. Last year Taylor gained national prominence when he carved tiny chairs from match sticks and mounted this almost invisible furniture on the heads of pins. Then a rival carved a table, four chairs and four plates, and mounted them on the head of a pin. Taylor not only duplicated his rival's accomplishment but added a spoon at each plate and placed a bit of dessert (carved from colored celluloid) on each plate. The bowls of the spoons are one-fifth the size of a period in a newspaper, Taylor said. He's working on a chair with hair-like legs that will be 26 times smaller than the head of a pin.

New Radio Direction Finder

Errorless radio direction finding is claimed for a new special antenna which, with a device, has been developed by experts in Paris. The apparatus, which is operated much more easily than the long-range type direction finder, uses short waves and precludes all possibilities of error in bearings. It can be installed anywhere and is not affected with night error.

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Annie F. Mitchell to Newton County Cooperative Bank, dated November 18th, 1935, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5882, Page 371, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at ten (10) o'clock A.M. on the twenty-second (22) day of August, 1939, on the mortgaged premises, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage:

TO WIT: "A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situate in Newton, County Middlesex, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and described as follows: Beginning on Lewis Street at the north-west corner of Lot 32 shown on a plan by Marshall S. Rice dated October 1, 1872 recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in Plan Book 21 as Plan 35 and thence running easterly to land now or late of Pitts one hundred nineteen and 75/100 (119.75) feet;

Thence turning and running southerly by said Pitts land seventy (70) feet; thence running and running westerly by land now or late of Coffin about one hundred twenty (120) feet to Lewis Street; and thence running northerly by Lewis Street seventy (70) feet to the point of beginning.

Subject to restrictions of record so far as the same are now in force and applicable to the premises.

There is excepted from the above described premises so much thereof as was taken by the City of Newton for the laying out of Lewis Street for a more particular description of which see instrument recorded with said Deeds, Book 5273, Page 192 and Book 5284, Page 117. For reference to title see deed of Newton County Cooperative Bank recorded herewith. Including as a part of the realty all partitionable or sectional buildings and all furnaces, ranges, heaters, plumbing, gas and electric fixtures, screens, mantels, shades, screen doors, storm doors and windows, oil burners, gas or electric refrigerators, air conditioning apparatus and all other fixtures of whatever kind and nature at present or hereafter prior to the full payment and discharge of this mortgage placed or installed in or on the granted premises in any manner which renders such fixtures usable in connection therewith, so far as the same are a part of the realty either as matter of fact or law or by agreement of the parties to the mortgage hereto including subsequent owners of the mortgaged premises."

Said premises will be sold subject to and with all unpaid taxes or other municipal liens and assessments, and to tax titles outstanding, if any.

RECENT DEATHS

EUGENE T. WHITING

Captain Eugene T. Whiting, retired, of the Newton Fire Department, died on August 10. Captain Whiting, who resided at 21 Francis st., Newton Centre, was born in Westminister 66 years ago. He was appointed a call member of the Newton fire department on June 1, 1897, and a permanent member of the department on March 1, 1898. He was assigned to the chemical engine then at Newton Highlands, and in 1901 was made driver of Chemical B at Chestnut Hill. In 1905 he was made captain of the company at that house, which later became Hose 9 and then Engine 9. He was retired on November 19, 1937. Captain Whiting is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ethel M. (Bliss) Whiting; three daughters, Mrs. Alexander W. Parks of Lexington, Mrs. Thomas B. Jennings of Framingham and Mrs. Paul M. Hopkins of Newtonville; and two sons, Eugene T. and William R., both of Newton Centre. Captain Whiting's funeral service will be held on Sunday afternoon at the First Church, Newton Centre; Rev. E. T. Boynton will officiate. Burial will be in Newton Cemetery.

FRED B. ALEXANDER

Fred B. Alexander, 86, of Newtonville, Mass., retired, expert of rattan manufacture, died Friday morning at Peaks Island, where he owned a summer home nine years at Trefethen Landing. He suffered a shock a year ago and had been in failing health since that time. For 35 years he had been an occasional summer visitor to the island.

Mr. Alexander was born at Northfield, Mass., which was founded by his family in 1673 and where nine generations had resided. He was educated there and at Fitchburg, Mass., and was a member of one of the first graduating classes of Cornell University in 1874, graduating with a civil engineering degree.

From 1874 until 1910, when he moved to Newtonville, he was engaged in the manufacture of rattan in New York and resided in Brooklyn. From 1910 until his retirement he was superintendent of Louis Stoughton Drake, Inc., of Boston. He was also an adviser and one of the leading experts in rattan manufacture.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Florence M. Alexander, also of Newtonville and Peaks Island, and a son, Fred C. Alexander of Newtonville.

HENRY W. GIESE

Henry W. Giese, 58, of Livermore rd., Wellesley Hills, died on August 4. He was treasurer of the R. H. Stearns Company of Boston and the husband of the former Emily W. Stearns of Newton. Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Misses Mary E. and Janet E. Giese, and two sons, Robert E. and Frank S. Giese. He was born at Carthage, Illinois, and graduated from Amherst in 1902. His funeral service was held last Sunday at Bigelow Chapel, Mount Auburn.

Strike At School Did Not Last Long

Several metal lathers employed at the new school on Pearl st., Newton, went out on strike on Wednesday. A strike was called by the Lathers' Union which effected all union lathers in Greater Boston. The Union called the strike to enforce a demand that foremen lathers be given the exclusive right to hire the men who are to work under them. The strike was of short duration, the men going back to work Thursday. Most of the lathing had been done at the school, and it is expected that it will be ready for occupancy next month.

Smart Defense Does Not Work

An attorney appearing for William McCarthy of West Yarmouth attempted to exculpate his client on a charge of speeding because the latter had failed to sign his driving license, but this technicality failed to impress Judge Weston in the Newton court last Saturday, and McCarthy was fined $10. He was the second person to have been fined in this case. Last month McCarthy's brother-in-law was operating the car involved. Patrolmen Cunningham and Lupica testified they had chased the car from Chestnut st., West Newton, along Washington st. to Newton Corner on the night of July 9 and it was travelling 70 miles an hour. When they overtook the speeding car, McCarthy told them that his brother-in-law was driving on his license. Sergeant Sullivan testified that the McCarthy car went through West Newton Square at 55 miles an hour.

In court the same day Judge Weston fined Peter Lupo of 106 West st., Nonantum, $5 for speeding. Officer Dwyer testified that Lupo drove by the intersection of Crafts and California sts. at 40 to 45 miles an hour.

Newton Residents in "Jane Eyre" at Brattle Hall, Cambridge

The new dramatized version of "Jane Eyre," Charlotte Bronte's novel of the same name, presented for the first time by professionals recently in Brattle Hall, was written by Miss Marjorie Carleton of Newtonville. This was a Straw Hat Theatre presentation.

Miss Maybeth Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ernest Gibson, of Newtonville, gave a distinguished performance in the title role. Miss Gibson's performance was enthusiastically received by a large audience. In a short time her talent has led her from roles of plays in Newton High School and Pine Manor Jr. College, Wellesley, to successful Broadway tryouts and important roles in summer productions.

Miss Doris Gilbert of Chestnut Hill handled well the role of the young society "snob," Blanche Ingram and Verna Dynes of Newton gave an unusually good performance in the role of Mrs. Fairfax.

The play was directed by Mr. Robert Warfield.

WABAN HOME SOLD

John T. Burns & Sons Inc., report that final papers have been passed conveying the single frame house located at 63 Moffatt rd. to Florence Simpson. This property consists of a six room house, garage and 7000 square feet of land and the total assessment is $890. The Newton Savings Bank was the grantor. John T. Burns & Sons represented both parties in this transaction.

GUSTAF PETERSON

Gustaf A. Peterson of 11 Pembroke st., Newton, died on August 6. He was born in Stockholm, Sweden, 75 years ago and resided in Newton for 10 years. He was the founder of the National Importing Company, wholesale grocers of Boston, and retired from active business 5 years ago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Evangeline C. Peterson; and two sons—Ralph C. of Worcester and Carl C. of Newton Highlands. Mr. Peterson's funeral was held from the Rich Funeral Parlor on Tuesday, and Masonic services were conducted. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery, Brighton.

MARY C. MURPHY

Mrs. Mary C. Murphy, widow of T. D. Murphy, died on August 5 at her home, Derby rd., Watertown. She was born at Cottage Farm, Boston, 69 years ago, and resided in Newton most of her life. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Sullivan, of Watertown, and five sisters. Her funeral service was held on Tuesday at St. Patrick's Church, Watertown, and burial was in St. Patrick's Cemetery in that town.

Actual Weight of Germs Determined by Science

Germs are so small that it takes 300,000,000,000 of an average germ to weigh a pound. Under favorable conditions they multiply so rapidly that one germ at the end of a day, would have 18,500,000,000 descendants.

Germs, as seen under the microscope, appear as little round dots, or rod-shaped organisms or as long, slender filaments. They get into the body with food and water, with the air we breathe, through open wounds on the skin, or the bite of an insect. Some germs produce disease by developing a poison which is absorbed by the body. Others break up in the body and the products of their disintegration are poisonous. Sometimes germs float around in clumps of the blood and cause death by developing in overwhelming numbers. Some germs attack certain organs of the body, and so injure them that death results.

Germs pick the places in the body in which they can live best. The pneumococcus settles in the lungs and produces pneumonia. It may also infect the eye or the spine. Germs of meningitis nearly always settle on the coverings of the spinal cord and the brain. The typhoid germ settles in the intestines. The germs of hydrophobia and epidemic encephalitis attack the nervous system. The germs of tuberculosis, although preferably entering by way of the lung, may affect any tissue in the body. Thus there is tuberculosis of bones, joints, the eye and the nervous system. The organism that causes syphilis attacks every organ and tissue in the body.

The best preventive for anyone is to keep in such fit condition that infectious disease will not readily attack him. That means eating a suitable diet, getting enough exercise and sunshine, enough rest and cleanliness, including frequent bathing and plenty of soap and water.

'Keep to the Right' Is

Early American Saying

Why do Americans drive to the right instead of to the left, as Englishmen and Frenchmen do, and as even Canadians did until the left hand steering wheel on American cars reformed them?

The practice dates from the 1750s, according to researchers of the American Road Builders' association. The driver of the great lumbering Conestoga wagons which came into general use about that time sat on the left wheel horse, the better to use his whip hand on the others of the team when necessary.

When two of these wagons met, therefore, they moved from the middle of the narrow road to the right, so the drivers, sitting on the left side, could be sure the left wheels got safely by. Smaller, lighter vehicles, naturally followed the deep ruts marked by the big freight vans.

These same drivers who so arbitrarily decreed that future generations of American citizens should drive to the right also fathered another familiar American institution. They wanted a long smoke, and a cheap one. Ingenious Pittsburgh tobacconists were quick to oblige. They named their product "Conestogas" and the teamsters carried stocks of them in their boats. That is how stogies were born.

Chinese Radio

Long before radio filled the ether with everything from swing to symphonies the Chinese enjoyed music from the air by attaching melodious whistles to the tails of hundreds of pigeons released over their cities. One of these pigeons, outfitted with such whistles, is on exhibition in the Chinese section of the anthropological collections at Field Museum of Natural History. Exhibited with it are various other whistles of the type made from reeds and small gourds and having from two to eight pipes each. Sitting in a garden or riding through the streets of Peking, one hears these aerial concerts mingled with the calls and sounds of street venders.

She's Whole School

If there were a parent-teacher association in Alba, Calif., Mrs. Gladys Peterson would be it. She is principal and teacher at the picturesque little school and also the mother of its only four pupils. She's teacher to David, John, Dolly and Sammy, but in her role of mother she also has Jimmy and Tippy, too young for classes. The highest number of pupils she has had is nine, but she had to see them through eight grades and it was quite a job. The schoolhouse, built in the style of the nineties, painted red and featuring a belfry, serves also as a dance hall and branch library.

Costly Rush

At 9:30 o'clock one night Irving Ungar was arrested for driving 50 miles an hour near Lakewood, N. J. He was fined $5 and costs. At 10:20 p. m. his brother, Edward, was arrested for making 65 miles. He was fined $10 and costs. At 11:45 p. m. Sidney Ungar, another brother, was arrested in Forked River, 20 miles south of here. He was going 50. The fine was $2 and costs. The three young men were returning to their New York homes in separate cars from a family reunion at Atlantic City.

—Baseball

Plans are also being made to invite several big league baseball players to be guests at the occasion.

The observance will be conducted by the Baseball Centennial Commission headed by Chairman John J. Lawless, director of Victory Field Playground in Nomanum.

The events will begin at 10 a. m. Each of the 20 playgrounds of the city will be represented by 14 boys. Each boy will be limited to participation in two events.

Fined $50 For Drunken Driving

Willard Foster of 280 Beacon st., Boston was fined $50 by Judge Delay in the Newton court on Thursday for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Foster was also fined $10 for drunkenness and $10 for driving without a license. He appealed. Foster's trouble started on the night of July 10 when Patrolman Cummings observed his car being driven along Commonwealth ave. with only one headlight illuminated.

In court the same day Paul Lipshitz of Mattapan was fined $5 for driving a car on the wrong side of the road; the wrong side being to the left of centre. Joseph Stanton of Eddy st., Waltham was fined $3 for not obeying a traffic signal. Reuben Wiener of Mattapan and Summer Gross of Mattapan, were each fined $5 for speeding.

Elderly Woman Injured In Crash

Mary Brackett, 80, of Natick, was seriously injured on Thursday morning when the car in which she was riding was in a collision at Chestnut and Highland sts., West Newton. Her right arm was broken, and she received cuts and bruises on her head, face and legs. Her false teeth were also broken when she was hurled against the windshield. The car in which she was riding was driven by Janet Gleason, 17, of Badger st., Medford, who received bruises. Both were taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. The other car involved was driven by James Milward, Jr., of North Quincy. The cars became entangled when the crash occurred and had to be pulled apart by a tow car.

Charleston Market Kept On Site Since About 1790

The old Charleston market in New York has undergone extensive repairs more than once since it was first erected on its present site some time between 1790 and 1806. Though antedated by a beef market, which stood from early days almost where the city hall is now, and by a fish mart established in 1770 on an East bay water lot opposite the end of Queen street, the present institution seems to have been the first general market in Charleston.

It stands on made ground where formerly a creek ran, says the Charleston News and Courier. By 1788 this had been reduced to a narrow canal, which stretched through privately owned land from the Cooper river as far as Church street.

On March 19, 1788, Charles Cotesworth Pickney, John Deas, Thomas Jones, Sims White, John Wyatt and Mary Lingard gave an indenture by which they allowed the city council to lay out a street 100 feet wide through their land, from Meeting street to the Cooper, and to build a public market or markets therein. The buildings were not to be put up for two years, but once there were to remain. A plat annexed to the deed shows the canal, crossed at East Bay (then Bay street) by the "Governor's bridge," and the three projecting buildings.

South Dakota's Black Hills
Many residents of the Black Hills cities think the name is lacking in distinction, and would change it if they could, to strengthen South Dakota's appeal to the tourists.

However, the name "Black Hills" has been identified with the range westward of the city since before the coming of the white man. The Sioux called it "Pa-ha-sa-pa," which means Black Hills in their tongue. The blackness of the Black Hills consists in the discoloration of the rock outcropping (the first land to emerge on this continent) and the darkness of the surrounding foliage, so that the hills appear quite black from a distance. Even at closer inspection, many of the canyon walls look like rock from chimneys that have seen the smokes of many fires.

New York's Farmers

On February 1, 1939, the farm population of New York was estimated at 789,000. In 1929 it was 724,000.

Life

A union of yesterdays,
TODAYS and TOMORROWS.
Throughout the years together
Sharing joys and sorrows.

Yesterday it seems
We first faced the toiling world
With strong hopeful hearts
The challenge of youth we hurled.

Today you are gone
And the road is dark and drear
As I stand alone
Your presence no longer near.

Tomorrow brings hope—
Memories forevermore.
Till we meet again
On that far enchanted shore.

Hazel M. Brimblecom, Wife of Publisher, Passes Away

Private Services Held From Late Home Yesterday Afternoon

Simplicity and beauty marked the funeral services of Mrs. Hazel M. (Chivers) Brimblecom yesterday afternoon at her late home at 5 Fairfield st., Newtonville. Reverend J. Franklin Knott, pastor of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church of which she was a member, officiated. During the services he read a brief address with reference to her character and courage, greatly in keeping with her modest personality.

A small group of relatives and most intimate friends attended the services which were private at her request. Many floral offerings, the expressive tributes of her many friends, literally enveloped the casket in a most impressive and beautiful manner.

Mrs. Brimblecom was the wife of Warren K. Brimblecom, publisher of the Newton Graphic and a Representative to the Massachusetts General Court from the 4th Middlesex District. She passed away shortly before eleven o'clock on Tuesday evening after a long illness which followed several years of declining health.

She was born in Newtonville on October 10, 1898, the daughter of the late Martin L. and Letitia A. (Bryden) Chivers. She had lived in Newton and Newtonville practically all of her life, having resided in Springfield, Mass., Bellevue, Pa., and Haverhill, Mass. After her marriage to Mr. Brimblecom on October 8, 1921, she returned to live in Newton in 1924.

Besides her husband she is survived by three sons, Frank Chivers, Warren Chester, and Leverett Stone, aged sixteen, thirteen and eleven, respectively. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Sam Chivers of West Middle Sable, Nova Scotia; and two brothers, George Weston and Thomas Bryden Chivers, both of Delray Beach, Florida. Another brother, Frank H. Chivers, for whom her eldest son was named, was mortally wounded in France in the World War.

For several years Mrs. Brimblecom was active in the affairs of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church and particularly in the activities of the Woman's Association of that religious organization. She also took much interest in the Newtonville Women's Club through several of its committees. Always a lover of flowers she participated in the work of the Newtonville Garden Club. She was also a member of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Newton Y. M. C. A. and the Mother's Rest Association.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many floral tributes, cards of sympathy and other messages of condolence received in our bereavement.

Appoint Rev. Wm. J. Murphy, S. J., Rector of Boston College

Has Wide Teaching Experience And Has Been Specialist In Literature

The Rev. William J. Murphy, S. J., assistant provincial general and general director of studies of the New England province of the Society of Jesus, has been appointed rector of Boston College, as announced Tuesday night by the Rev. James H. Dolan, S. J., provincial general.

Fr. Murphy succeeds the Rev. William J. McGarry, S. J., in the position which is equivalent to president in non-Jesuit institutions. The appointment was made in Rome by the Father General of the order, the Very Rev. Wlodimir Yedochowski.

The new rector is well known to Boston College students and alumni, for in the position of general director of studies, to which he was appointed in 1934, he annually visited every class at Boston College. He attended the college for two years before entering the Jesuits in 1915, and he lectured there in English literature in 1929.

Fr. Murphy was born in Lawrence in 1895. Leaving College after completing his sophomore year, he entered the novitiate at St. Andrew-on-the-Hudson. He then went to Woodstock College, Md., for his philosophical and scientific studies, which he completed in 1920. He taught classics at Fordham and Holy Cross for four years and then returned to Woodstock for the usual three-year study of theology.

At the completion of these studies, he was appointed to the then newly opened house of high studies at Weston College, and there was ordained to the priesthood in 1927. Another year of theological study was spent at Weston and he lectured in English literature at Boston College for another year.

In 1930 he went to Europe for two years of specialized study in literature, dividing his time between England and Italy. He resumed his lecture courses at Boston College in 1932 and in 1934 was appointed general director of studies of the province. Two years ago he was given the additional duties of assistant to the provincial general.

It is the first time in almost 20 years that a specialist in literature has been appointed rector at Boston College. Fr. McGarry specialized in theology. The two preceding rectors, the Rev. Louis J. Gallagher, S. J., and the Rev. James H. Dolan, S. J., present provincial general, were known for their work in the field of diplomacy and philosophy, respectively.

Rev. Wm. J. McGarry, junior rector, has been appointed editor of "Theological Studies," a magazine devoted to the publication of scientific theological articles. This appointment originated in Rome from the headquarters of the Very Reverend Father General of the Society of Jesus.

Fined $10 For Failure To Observe Stop Sign

Joseph Stefant, 45, of 35 North Munroe ter., Dorchester, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to stop at a through way in the Newton District Court on Friday. Judge Donald E. Mayberry imposed a $10 fine and his case was placed on file.

The case of Carl W. Sawyer, 25, of 79 Russell st., Waltham, who pleaded nolo to a charge of failing to stop as directed by a traffic sign, was also filed.

Suffer Minor Injuries In Auto-Truck Collision

A truck driven by Alfred H. Worden of Somerville collided with an automobile driven by Max Sedman of Brookline on Saturday morning at Commonwealth ave. and Centre st., as the truck was turning on Commonwealth ave. and the automobile was proceeding west on the avenue. Both drivers claimed minor injuries.

May Not Know Tax Rate Until September

The Newton Board of Assessors has received official notice from the office of State Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long indicating that the declaration of the tax rate will probably be delayed until September. Although the recent enactment of tax measures by the Legislature disposed of the chief obstacle in the way of determining the tax rates of cities and towns, additional delay is necessitated for the preparation of state tax assessments on the municipalities.

In past years applications for abatements or exemptions on taxes had to be filed on or before October 1 but this year the time limit for these applications has been extended to November 15th.

Inquest Report Says Driver Negligent

In an inquest report filed Wednesday, Judge Thomas Weston found that the death of Clarence M. Hazen, 63, of 4 Church rd., Newton, victim of the city's third automobile fatality of the year, was caused by "the negligent and unlawful act" of the driver of the machine that struck him.

Sylvester P. Murphy, 19, of 5 Winthrop ave., Newton, was the driver of the car and a complaint was sworn out for him charging him with "operating to endanger," by Lieut. Edward A. Moan, head of the police traffic bureau. On Aug. 22, Murphy will be summoned into court to answer the charge.

On July 18th, three days after he was struck by a station wagon driven by Murphy on Centre st., near Ballard st., Newton Centre, Hazen died at the Newton Hospital.

The police allege that the brakes were defective on the car driven by Murphy. Judge Weston held the inquest two weeks ago in the Newton District Court.

Couple Injured When Car and Motorcycle Collide

Mary Allen, 29, of Pittsfield, and Warren M. Perry, 23, of Woburn, were injured when they were thrown from a motorcycle which was in collision with an automobile driven by Joseph Cuccilli of 122 Hawthorn st., Newton, on Saturday afternoon near the corner of Watertown and Faxon sts. They were treated for cuts and bruises by Dr. Hyman Shrier. Perry, who was operating the motorcycle, told the police that he was about twenty feet behind the automobile when it turned left into Faxon st. and he was unable to avoid the collision.

Louis Fantasia, 20, produce salesman, of 2A Baldwin place, Boston, pleaded guilty in the Newton District Court on Friday on a charge of larceny of $279 from his employer. His case is continued until December 26 by Judge Donald E. Mayberry for disposition.

Peter Volante of 391 Dedham st., Newton Centre, was the complainant in the case. It was alleged that Fantasia collected the money from customers and failed to give it to his employer. He was summoned into court after the complaint was sworn out by Volante.

Dislocates Knee While Climbing Stairs

Robert E. Thompson, 34, of 419 Auburn st., Auburndale, was removed to the Newton Hospital a week ago Thursday in the police ambulance by Patrolmen James Coreoran and Frank O'Donnell after his left knee was dislocated as he was ascending a flight of stairs. Physicians gave the necessary treatment and he returned to his home.

Cousens Fund Shows Substantial Increase

Increase of Nearly 50 Per Cent Due To Receipt of Interest On Mortgage Loans

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen Monday evening, Chairman Donald D. McKay revealed the present status of the Horace Cousens Fund and the Board voted to authorize the sale of a parcel of property, taken by foreclosure, and to grant a new loan of $4150 to the purchaser. The Horace Cousens Industrial Fund have granted over 200 mortgages and only three lots of property have been taken by foreclosure. The Cousens Fund was turned over to the City of Newton in 1931 and amounted to $556,850. The fund on July 1, 1939 was $759,536.99 an increase of $202,686.99.

McKay stated that the increase of nearly 50 per cent in the fund resulted from interest payments on mortgage loans.

The fund was set up by the city of Newton under the will of the late Horace Cousens for the purpose of assisting "industrious" residents to purchase homes.

The first meeting of the Horace Cousens Industrial Fund was held on July 15, 1931. At this meeting the first trustees were appointed. Mr. John C. Cousens, Chairman, Judge Elias B. Bishop and Albert T. Stuart, Secretary.

Mr. John C. Cousens resigned a year later and Mr. Arthur C. Dunmore of West Newton was appointed and elected chairman. In June 1933 Judge Elias B. Bishop resigned and Mr. Harry W. Pitts of Newton was appointed to take his place. Mr. Albert T. Stuart of Newton Centre continued as secretary.

When the fund reaches $1,000,000, the income is to be used to provide free hospital beds and for other charitable purposes.

Hearing On Zoning Change On Pike, September 6th

A hearing is to be held on Wednesday evening, Sept. 6, on a petition filed by Agostino Onofrio and others for the change of zoning of a large tract of land consisting of 8 acres and 18,813 square feet located between Florence st. and Hammond Pond Parkway on the southerly side of the Worcester Turnpike, which they ask to be changed from private residence zone to a business zone. The hearing will be held jointly by the Claims and Rules committee of the Board of Aldermen and the Planning Board. It is expected that the Planning Board will submit a report on the same at the meeting of the Aldermen on the Monday evening following the hearing.

Resurfacing of Somerset Rd. Now Under Way

A new project which was undertaken on Monday, when the Newton Street Department resumed its normal activities, was that of the construction of Somerset rd., off Beacon st., Waban, as a public way. Some of the men who returned Monday from their vacations were assigned to the project on Commonwealth ave., which is to be resurfaced from Manomet rd., Newton Centre, to Chestnut st., West Newton. Parts of the highway have been closed for the past two weeks to traffic while drains have been constructed preparatory to the resurfacing work.

Intruder Flees Without Loot When Discovered

The home of James Fennely, 728 Walnut st., Newton Centre, was entered on Tuesday evening while members of the family were on the front porch. The intruder entered the house by raising the screen on an open dining room window but fled before obtaining any loot. He was described as 20 or 21, five feet ten inches, weighing about 150 pounds, dark hair, and wearing a dark blue coat, but no hat. Patrolman Wilfred Lupien responded to the call and made the investigation.

Abandon Plan for Senatorial District

Plans for a new senatorial district in which Ward 5 of Newton was to have been placed with Brookline and Ward 20 of Boston to form a new "Norfolk-Suffolk" district were abandoned when the bill to reapportion the state's 40 senatorial districts was engrossed by the Senate on Thursday of last week.

In the revised plan, Ward 5, which includes Newton Highlands, Newton Upper Falls and Waban, remains in the First Middlesex District with the rest of Newton. Senator Arthur Holles of Newton represents the First District.

Two Rescued From Drowning in Charles

Dorothy Whalen, 16, of 105 East Dedham st., South End, and Edwin Gentry, 19, of 51 Pearl st., Charlestown, were rescued from drowning Sunday when their canoe overturned on the Charles River near Norumbega Park. The girl was unable to swim as she was recovering from a broken leg which was covered with bandages from ankle to hip making it difficult for her to remain afloat. The couple clung to the overturned craft and were finally rescued by Kenneth Prior, 32, of Cherry st., West Newton, and Stuart Welch, 21, who went to their rescue in the Norumbega launch. Prior, who runs the launch, was on the float when he observed their plight and heard cries for help. The launch was coming in at the time and as soon as the passengers had alighted, Prior and Welch, who was operating the launch, hastened to them.

Because of the girl's bandaged leg they had difficulty in getting her out of the water and into the boat. Her companion was assisted into the boat and they were taken to the Norumbega float.

The Metropolitan police were notified and the pair were taken in the police launch to the Riverside station where they dried their clothes before being removed to their homes.

Bag Snatcher Robs Young Woman at Newton Centre

Miss Viola Smith, who is employed as a maid in the home of Saul M. Nectow at 33 Plainfield st., Waban, was robbed of her handbag containing the sum of $9 on Friday evening while she was standing at the corner of Commonwealth ave. and Centre st., Newton Centre, waiting for a bus. She reported the matter to the police when the bus reached Newton Centre Square and an investigation was made by Sergeant Burke and Inspector Hammell. Miss Smith said that while she was standing at the bus stop a young man, who was about 24 years of age, approached and spoke to her, snatched her bag and fled.

Driver Escapes Injury When Truck Overturns and Burns

Anthony Alix of 82½ Lafayette st., Worcester, escaped injury last Saturday when the truck he was driving, which was owned by the Glacier Beverage Company, 56 Lamartine st., Worcester, overturned and burst into flames on Boylston st., Newton Centre. The truck was badly damaged before firemen could extinguish the blaze. Engine 9 responded to the call at 11:38 a. m. and it was more than half an hour before the fire was out. The truck was proceeding near the Brookline town line when the accident occurred.

ROTARY CLUB

A very enlightening moving picture on termites was put on for the members by Ray Bigelow of the Termitex Company of Boston at the regular Monday noon meeting of the Rotary Club at Brae Burn.

There is a total of $50,000,000,000 damage due to termites every year in this country. The termite colony is divided into three groups: The winged members who spread the new colonies; the workers who do all the damage; and the soldiers who protect the colony from ants and have to be fed by the workers. The termites work constantly and that is one reason why they are so hungry, and they have proved to be the most ingenious of all insects in their search for food. The eat not only wood, but also any cellulose material. Although most of their food comes from wood, they must return into the ground frequently for moisture; so that a colony exists both in the house, and the ground underneath with connecting channels. Each colony is self-supporting and sealed usually in wood.

More than one-half the buildings of certain sections of the country contain termites. They became such a threat to the hard wood industry, that the Bruce Flooring Company of Memphis, Tennessee, made an exhaustive study of the problem, and found that the only means of combating these insects was by the use of a very strong chemical which is forced into the wood under high pressure. Only Licensed Application Companies are allowed to use this chemical liquid. Most of the work is done below the first floor which makes an impossible barrier for the termites. Every point where they might enter is penetrated with this liquid. Thus the battle against termites is being won in many localities, and a saving of many millions of dollars worth of wood will be effected.

JOHN T. BURNS & SONS, INC., REPORT WELLESLEY AND NATICK SALES

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that final papers have been passed whereby the Colonial 8-room home located at 144 Glen rd., Wellesley, has been sold by the Chelsea Savings Bank. With the house there is a garage and one and one-half acres of land and the total assessment is $8700.

Burns & Sons also report having sold a lot of land on Audubon rd., Wellesley, for Isaac Sprague to A. M. Stewart, Jr., who buys for development. The lot is valued at $2000. Cole & Smith represented the seller.

In the Natick district, John T. Burns have sold the Sweetster Estate on Lake ave., for Raymond F. Cummings of Boston. The property comprises a beautiful old Colonial home of 12 rooms and two baths, together with stable-garage and eight acres of land. The total assessment is $12,500.

OUR FAMOUS CHECKS AND BALANCES

ALL governments have three functions: the executive, or administration of laws; the legislative, or making of laws; the judicial, or enforcing of laws. No other government, however, has separated these three functions to such an extent or placed so many checks and balances upon them as has the United States. "The famous American doctrine of separation of powers" is a familiar way of referring to our device for protecting ourselves against too great a concentration of power. Checks and balances are often spoken of as a part of that device. By checks and balances we mean checking the power of one branch of government by that of another, as when the executive is given the veto on legislation or, on the other hand, when the legislative branch is given a share in executive appointments. It is noticeable that such checks also serve to bring together to some slight extent the parts of government that would otherwise be entirely separate. Through custom also the different parts of the government have come together to some degree. For example, the power of the judicial branch to decide whether laws are permissible under the federal Constitution has, through custom, become a very great influence on our law. The founders probably did not clearly foresee this, nor did they foresee the rise of the party system. Through that system the executive and the members of the legislative body of the same party often work together, and thus in another case the separation is somewhat modified. There has always been a good deal of criticism of the famous doctrine. Bryce, that admirer of the United States, once declared that our separation of powers has turned out to be not the keeping apart of things really distinct but the forcible disjunction of things naturally connected. It may be that Bryce is right but we must consider whether what he is pointing out is a defect in the principle that guided our forefathers or defects in the way we have been applying that principle.

The large and costly residence of Hon. Levi C. Wade at Oak Hill, approaches completion, and it is expected to be ready for occupation late in the autumn. It is built in the modern antique style, the gables having no projections, and there are no piazzas, but an ample terrace on the south side and an extensive portico at the main entrance. The commodious suite of rooms and thoroughly comfortable aspect of the interior promise a very attractive home for its occupants.

The summer work on the buildings of the Theological institution is being pushed forward. Fairwell Hall has been attractively painted throughout its corridors and many of the suite of rooms regilded. Many of these apartments are furnished by various churches in New England who send students to occupy them.

50 YEARS AGO

The number of absentees is seen by the many empty seats in the morning trains. The change in the weather has been followed by a wholesale departure of citizens for the seashore and mountains.

Great annoyance is caused many of our citizens by the boys who steal the fruit from trees and grounds of private residences. It is time some examples were taken before Judge Kennedy.

The Massachusetts militia rifle team are expected to arrive in New York tomorrow, and the Newton members will be at home early in the week.

Officer Libby discovered an incipient fire in Cole's blacksmith shop, Sunday at 1:30 a. m., and extinguished it without pulling in an alarm.

Barney Welch, formerly pitcher of the Independents of Brighton, has signed with the West Newtons. He has quite a reputation as twirler in amateur circles.

The High School boys do not take kindly to the idea of becoming a part of the suburban school regiment. The number of commissioned officers, so far as the Newton quota is concerned, would be greatly reduced, and no great benefit would be derived.

The Chinese laundryman is looking for a more central location, and has been negotiating for the store formerly occupied by Mr. W. H. Dyer. It is hoped that if he succeeds in renting it, that he will refrain from hanging out shirts to dry on the front piazza.

Newton Secretarial School Caters To Individual Student

The Newton Secretarial School has been organized, under the direction of Esther C. Blackburn, to cater to the individual student. Mrs. Blackburn, who holds the degrees of B.S. and P.A.L. (with a major in secretarial studies) and Ed.M. (with a major in guidance) from Boston University, brings to the school the wide experience gained from the many positions she has successfully filled over a period of years: Ledger clerk in the revenue accounting department of the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. of Springfield, Mass.; educational adviser for Day Path Institute, Springfield, Massachusetts; registrar and head of the secretarial science department of Stoneleigh College, Rye Beach, New Hampshire; organizer and head of the secretarial science department of Ricker Junior College, Houlton, Maine; dean of Williams School, Brockton, Massachusetts; adviser to prospective students, Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters. As a part of the guidance program of the school, Mrs. Blackburn will administer a battery of psychological tests to each student and will have interviews from time to time. The administration believes that through sympathetic understanding and wise counseling much can be done to assist the individual to fit himself to fill his particular niche in the economic and social order.

Burr Playground Annual Field Day Held Friday

The annual field day of the Burr Playground was held on last Friday afternoon. There was a doll carriage parade won by Eileen Gwinn, 7, of 233 Tremont st., Newton. The second prize went to Clara Hartigan, 9, of 29 Vernon st., in a milk bottle race. Albert Airth, 11, of 60 Lewis st., was the winner over Phyllis Carter of Winthrop ave. Billy Higgins, 7, of 45 Waban st. won the first prize among the boys with a scooter bike decorated in red, white and blue and Teddy Georgian, 5, of 45 Richardson st., who was dressed as a Greek boy cyclist rode a bicycle decorated in blue and white.

The field day was in charge of Miss Helen B. Anderson and Mr. Guy Baker, assisted by Miss Myra Jenkins.

Camp F. A. Day

Daynotes

Chapel on last Sunday featured the counsellors in the various roles familiar to Camp Day chapel periods. The entire program was drawn by the counsellors and contributed to the complete picture of religious cooperation emphasized by the camp. The chief address of the day was given by Mr. Harry Kyle, who has served pulpits in nearby Springfield when attending Springfield.

Stunt Night by tent groups was the entertainment provided by the Dramatic Society on Saturday night. Each tent that wished to enter planned its own stunt, and it was the opinion that Tent One captured the first place with its parody depicting in humorous way the duties of various men of the Camp. These boys are: Dick Karb of Framingham, John Nason of Brookline, Sam Cutler of Newton, Ted Humphrey of Newton Highlands and Ed Spellman of Newton.

Within the Camp for the remainder of the season will be many events which are bound to satisfy the desire of the campers for something that is different. Listed among these are: the basketball game scheduled with Brookfield; a peanut hunt after the evening meal; a Professor Quiz; barbecue supper held on the point; Pow-Wow; softball game with Brookfield; and a bag supper after the game; and then the final Minstrel Show on next Saturday night, for which rehearsals will be held this next week.

Results of the Tennis Tournament which was concluded on last Saturday gave Dick Karb the championship in the Senior Camp in a close fight over Bob Moller. Bobby Tibolt subdued Billy Hansen to win the Junior championship. The draw for the Final Tournament will be completed this Saturday so that the final matches may be played on Saturday, August 26th.

One Hour of Magic was the show presented to the Camp on Tuesday night by Bill Sanborn, the camper who came to Camp from California. Previous to Tuesday's show Bill had given two short bits, but so insistent was the demand from the campers that he was forced to display his magic for the full evening program.

Final Canoe Regatta and Track Meet This Week-end

Saturday and Sunday of this week-end will be the busiest week-end of the entire season as the final track meet will be held on Saturday, and the final canoe regatta will be held on Sunday. Great interest is shown by the campers in each of these events for the place winners are rewarded on banquet night with colored ribbons, and the names are added to the permanent records of the camp.

Added attractions to the regatta will be exhibition swimming formations and diving stunts, fashioned after the currently popular water shows conducted in colleges and swimming clubs. The counsellors have drilled daily on group swimming and advanced diving in order to bring to the campers and the parents who will be guests a show that will be of high merit.

Alan Smith of Newtonville has gathered the material for the exhibition, and is aided by Jack Hancock of the Wesleyan swimming team, David and Bruce Kingsbury of Shrewsbury, Gardner Hess of Newton, Jimmy Martin of Newton, Algie Shapalis of Newton, Prescott Coan of Newtonville, Dick Kelley of Watertown, and Wilbur Shilling of Harvard and St. Joseph, Missouri. The three youngest of the group, Hess, Martin and Shapalis, are members of the Newton Y. M. C. A. intermediate swimming team, and were responsible for the fine record established by that team during the past indoor season.

All parents have been invited to attend by means of letters sent home by the boys during the week. This is the second last Sunday of the Camp Day summer season, and the attendance to witness the Waterfront Regatta will be correspondingly large.

An outstanding event of the regatta proper will be the sailboat races over a course planned by Dick Hess, chairman of the Sailing Committee. A crew of two will man each boat, and the results of the races are awaited keenly by the camp for sailing interest is at its highest pitch of the year.

Trials Track Meet Proves Interesting
The second of three seasonal track meets was conducted on the Camp grounds on last Saturday under the direction of the Track Committee, and the results were greatly influenced by the new campers who arrived on the Wednesday previous. Individual accomplishments featured the Humphrey brothers, Ted in the Senior camp who won two firsts in the Broad Jump and 220 yard dash, while Ross gathered two firsts to take the lead in the Junior Camp excelling in the High Jump and the 220 yard dash. Dick Karb of Framingham shared honors in the Senior Camp by capturing the Shot Put and the 50 yard dash. Lawrence Simonds topped his rivals in the Midget Camp by taking first in the Standing Broad Jump, a tie for first in the High Jump, and seconds in the 25 yard dash and the Baseball Throw.

Dartmouth led the Senior League followed by Harvard and Yale, while Purdue paved the way for Minnesota and Northwestern in the Junior Camp. The summary:
Senior Camp
50 yard dash—Won by Karb; 2, Corthell; 3, Spellman.
Broad Jump—Won by Humphrey; 2, Moller; 3, Spellman.
220 yard dash—Won by Humphrey; 2, Cutler; 3, Nason.
High Jump—Won by MacVicar; 2, Sanborn; 3, Cutler.
Shot Put—Won by Karb; 2, Nason; 3, Palmer.

Junior Camp
50 yard dash—Won by C. Brimblecom; 2, L. Brimblecom; 3, D. Cutler.
Broad Jump—Won by Humphrey; 2, R. Tibolt; 3, Maltin.
Broad Jump—Won by Taylor; 2, C. Brimblecom; 3, R. Tibolt.
High Jump—Won by Humphrey; 2, Taylor; 3, Connolly.
Shot Put—Won by Haseltine; 2, Morse; 3, G. Tibolt.

Midget Camp
25 yard dash—Won by Norman Roy; 2, L. Simonds; 3, Billy Wood.
High Jump—Won by J. Beeten and L. Simonds; 3, N. Roy.
Broad Jump—Won by Simonds; 2, Beeten; 3, Roy.
Baseball Throw—Won by N. Roy; 2, L. Simonds; 3, Feinberg.

Committed To Hospital For Mental Observation

Albert P. Cavallo, 24, of 11 Fuller ave., West Newton, who was held on a charge of criminal assault on a Waban young woman, was committed to the Westboro State Hospital for mental observation by Judge Thomas Weston, of the Newton District Court, on Monday.

He will be held at the hospital for 35 days. The case was continued until Sept. 16 to await the hospital report on his mental condition.

RED CROSS LIFE-SAVING DEMONSTRATION

In order to introduce the new life-saving technique adopted by the Red Cross, Mr. E. M. Westgate, Newton Chapter Instructor, will conduct a water safety demonstration. The new work includes rescues by non-swimmers without use of boats and special equipment, and should prove both interesting and valuable to parents and adults regardless of their lack of ability to swim.

Included in the program will be a group of young boys and girls doing water stunts, diving and swimming various stunts. It will introduce to many for the first time the splendid work that the Newton Chapter Red Cross has been doing at Crystal Lake for the past 12 years. Many citizens of Newton do not realize how fortunate they are to have such a well supervised bathing beach as we have here in Newton, and unfortunately do not take advantage of the splendid opportunities offered, at no cost to the individual, to learn to swim well, and to have a well-founded feeling of security in and around the water.

The swimming instructors will demonstrate how the classes are handled, and a running explanation of the methods used will clarify the reasons for the various drills in teaching a beginner to swim.

Mount Ida Junior College for Young Women Opens in Fall

Will Occupy Shaw Estate One of The Show Places of Greater Boston

As a result of a ruling by City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett that an institution does not require a permit from the Board of Aldermen the Mount Ida Junior College for Young Women will open on September 25. The new home of the college is Boulder Farm, the Robert Gould Shaw estate, Oak Hill Village.

Last January a petition for permission to establish a private school in the Shaw mansion was filed by the Posse School, Inc., of Weston but the Board of Aldermen voted leave to withdraw after George E. Rawson, Chairman, reported that the petitioner was not the owner of the property. The petition of the Posse School was filed by William Fitts Carlson, who is president of the Mount Ida Junior College.

Under the zoning law, the consent of the Board of Aldermen is necessary for the establishment of a private school in a residential district, but City Solicitor Bartlett ruled that in the case of an educational institution which is duly chartered by the state and not operated for profit, such as the Mount Ida Junior College, the permission of the board is not needed.

The new institution is successor to the Mount Ida School for Girls which was founded in 1899 and conducted until several years ago on Bellevue st., Newton. The old buildings have been razed. The Shaw estate, one of Greater Boston's show places, is located at 777 Dedham st., Oak Hill. Mount Ida has an enthusiastic alumnae support and its modern curriculum meets today's educational demands by offering practical "career" courses in addition to academic training.

Preparations for the opening of Mt. Ida have been progressing rapidly. With a battery of skilled workmen, interior decorators, and landscape gardeners constantly at work, the college is fast approaching completion. Scores of visitors have expressed the opinion that when finished, Mt. Ida will rank with the nation's finest schools of this type.

The announcement that Mt. Ida will accommodate day students from Newton and the neighboring cities and towns has created unusual interest and many pupils have already signified their desire to take advantage of the superior facilities offered by this famous institution.

The new school will have a 50 acre campus which has many traditions of New England. On the site of Robert Gould Shaw Hall once stood Holbrook Hall, the home of Mrs. William Appleton, sister of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Before Robert Gould Shaw, II, came to live on Boulder Farm he married Nancy Langhorne of Virginia who is now Lady Astor. President Carlson, Harvard 1915, has been associated in an executive capacity with several educational institutions including Woodward Institute for Girls, Quincy; Tudor Hall Junior College, Indianapolis; Fuller School and Junior College, Ossining, New York; and was for four years president of Posse College.

Fishing Industry Valuable To N. E.

Edward H. Cooley, who resides at 7 Temple st., West Newton, is Manager of the Massachusetts Fisheries Association and Executive Secretary of the Federated Fishing Boats of New England and New York. He is also an Executive Member of the Fishery Advisory Committee of the Department of the Interior.

In a recent report issued by Mr. Cooley, we find that in 1938, 318,745, 174 pounds of fish were landed at Boston Fish Pier and the price paid the fishermen amounted to $7,623,465. Of interest, too, is that more than 400,000,000 pounds of fish were handled at the pier and nearly 500,000,000 pounds of fish and seafood were purchased and handled in New England.

In view of the fact, states Mr. Cooley, that 80 per cent of this product is manufactured after being caught, the retail value of New England's products is approximately $100,000,000 per year, and this, in his opinion is the value of the industry to New England.

The fishing industry is worth more to those who are engaged in the allied industries than it is to the people engaged in fishing, according to Mr. Cooley, for the payrolls of the workers in box factories, rope mills, shipyards, etc., are greater than is the payroll for the men engaged directly in the fishing industry.

There are 7000 men in New England actually engaged in the catching of fish and there are 19,624 factory and shoe workers and employees employed by the industry in New England.

Further statistics from Mr. Cooley's report reveal that the production of frozen fish products in New England for last year was $4,378,000 pounds, at a value estimated to be about $12,000,000.

Approximately 50 per cent of all fish handled in Massachusetts are marketed as frozen fillets. In the manufacture of this product, about 150,000,000 pounds of fish are used. Since about 2 1/2 pounds of fish are required to manufacture one pound of fillets, the weight of these frozen fillets is 60,000,000 pounds.

The prejudice against frozen food is being overcome very rapidly, according to Mr. Cooley. This is because of the adoption of freezing for perishables, fruits, poultry and other products. Many homemakers, today, continue Mr. Cooley, refuse to patronize a store that does not supply them with cold storage products, or is not equipped with cold storage plants—refrigerators or cold rooms—in the store to keep the products in excellent condition.

The business of catching tuna fish is on the increase, states Mr. Cooley, as large schools of these fish have at certain seasons been available, but nobody considered them as suited for canning. It is the belief of many that eastern fish are better than Western, hence we may expect this branch of the industry to grow.

Boys Use Store Roof For Evening Playground

The police department received a complaint on Monday evening from Mr. S. Buxbaum, proprietor of a market at 34 Langley rd., Newton Centre, that boys were using the roof of his establishment as a playground in the evening after the store was closed, playing games there until 7 o'clock.

Driven To Street by Fumes From Refrigerator Leak

Six young women employees of Fiske's Candy Shop on Beacon st., Newton Centre, were driven to the street on Sunday evening about 5:30 when sulphur dioxide fumes escaping from the refrigeration system necessitated a call for the fire department. Captain Fred Perkins and Firemen Willard White and David Jennings donned gas masks and entered the store to shut off the flow of gas. None of the young women suffered any ill effects from the fumes.

COOLIDGE CORNER THEATRE, BROOKLINE

The consummate artistry with which he starred in "Wuthering Heights" to win an international acclaim, is said again to be exhibited by Laurence Olivier in "Clouds Over Europe," which opens for a week's run on Friday, August 18th, at the Coolidge Corner Theatre, Brookline. Ralph Richardson, unforgettable doctor of "The Citadel" is featured in the new film, a laugh-filled romantic action drama depicting the efforts of Scotland Yard to solve the mysterious disappearance of airplanes in flight.

"Clouds Over Europe" weaves a story of romance, intrigue and daring with the flight of a great nation to guard herself against the threatening sabotage of alien agents. A new supercharger is undergoing tests when the bomber in which it has been placed suddenly and cluelessly disappears. Another plane, piloted by Olivier, goes up only to be forced down by a powerful ray directed from a nearby vessel. The action-tense climax of "Clouds Over Europe" takes place aboard the spy-operated vessel. Olivier leads his fellow-pilots in a bid for freedom. Breaking from their prison cell in the hold of the vessel, the fliers fight their way to the upper decks, where they capture a machine-gun. Finally gaining the bridge, Olivier and his men successfully "take over" the vessel, in time to turn it and its enemy crew over to an oncoming naval boat which has been "commandeered" by Scotland Yard. "Clouds Over Europe" is an enjoyable action comedy drama. Others in the cast are Valerie Hobson, Ralph Richardson, George Curson, George Merritt and Frank Fox.

The excellent co-feature stars Sigrid Gurie in "The Forgotten Woman." Miss Gurie is seen for the first time in a modern portrayal, as a young wife who suddenly sees her world crashing about her when she becomes innocently involved in a murder. Featured in "The Forgotten Woman," is Donald Briggs, Eve Arden, William Lundigan, Elisabeth Risdon and Donnie Dunagan.

In addition to these two outstanding features, there will be the latest issue of "March of Time" presenting a subject of national interest, and of course the new Coolidge Corner Theatre Newsreel, projecting news of the world.

Announced for showing for the coming week starting Friday, August 25th, is the new musical film, "Second Fiddle" by Irving Berlin with Sonia Henie, Tyrone Power and Rudy Vallee.

M., and of Palestine Lodge, O. E. S., of which Mr. Mansfield had been a member, attended the service.

Mr. Mansfield is survived by his widow, Mrs. Charlotte Mansfield; two daughters, the Misses Margaret and Jane Mansfield, and a sister, Mrs. D. Fletcher Barber, of Newton. He was a brother of the late Mrs. Hugh Campbell of Newton.

Louisiana Purchase

When Napoleon Bonaparte, in 1803, then first consul with one foot on the imperial ladder, turned salesman and knocked down a distant empire known as the Louisiana Purchase for three cents an acre, he probably did not dream that the country that purchased the vast domain would in a few years become a haven of exile for members of his family after his grand debacle at Waterloo. Or did he? It is historically significant that it was suggested in the treaty by Napoleon himself that the territory thus ceded should become the background of future American states, says the Kansas City Times. Then, after the fateful sun of Waterloo went down in the last tragedy of his military and imperial career, it is known that he dallied with the thought of escaping to America with his brother, Joseph, king of Spain, but the fates ruled otherwise. His hesitation took him to the rock of St. Helena. But his canny brother did seek safety in American exile and lived here many years, preceded and followed by others of the Bonaparte family.

Gifts for Ruler

Madame Mesi, ruler of a tiny Paramount chieftain in the Sierra Leone Protectorate, has received a new blanket and top hat. When a government representative from Freetown called to learn if she wished to discuss any matter of political importance, she was wearing a top hat and scarlet prison blanket. "Fifteen years ago the government gave me this blanket," she replied. "It is now nearly worn out. I wish the government to give me another blanket." She got the blanket and also a new top hat for good measure.

Sam Hill Mansion

After 22 years of lonely existence, completed grandeur, the "Sam Hill Palace" Sam Hill built in 1917 on the hills above the Columbia river near Goldendale, Wash., is being completed, renovated and converted into a museum. When the legendary railroad builder died in 1931, he left a trust fund providing for completion of the massive "Hill house," and for its organization as a public museum. Work began about two years ago under the direction of Zollo O. Brooks, a life-long friend and intimate of Hill. Not since 1926, when Queen Marie of Rumania held court in the gigantic "Throne room," has the strange monument seen such activity.

ATTRACTIVE NEWTON HIGH-LANDS HOME SOLD

Alvord Bros., Realtors of Newton Centre, report that final papers have passed on the single dwelling at 32 Duncklee st., Newton Highlands. This home, which has been completely reconditioned, consists of eight rooms, two sun parlors, two baths, and two-car basement garage. The new owner, Mr. C. M. Hockridge, of Newton, will soon occupy as a home. Title was conveyed by the Newton South Co-operative Bank. The house, together with the lot of 8,600 square feet, is assessed by the City of Newton for tax purposes at $8,500.

Typhoid Loses Ground

Only a few decades ago typhoid fever was one of the most common and dreaded scourges. Every summer it gathered its large toll of victims, and some communities were decimated by it. Cities and isolated sections alike felt its terror. A visit to old country churchyards will reveal many pathetic little tombstones, where are buried the child victims of this disease, which was no respecter of age. Fortunately sustained effort has almost eradicated this disease. One seldom hears of it these days. A report made by the American Medical Association reveals that last year there were only 348 deaths in 78 large cities. In 1910 the number was 4,637. Improved sanitary conditions, guarded water supplies and efficient medical service have had their effect.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 20. The Golden Text is: "Who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory forever" (Romans 11:34, 36).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried; he is a buckler to all them that trust in him. For who is God, save the Lord? and who is a rock, save our God? God is my strength and power; and he maketh my way perfect" (II Samuel 22:31-33).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "There can be but one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind and accepted no other, sin would be unknown. We can have but one Mind, if that one is infinite. We bury the sense of infinitude, when we admit that, although God is infinite, evil has a place in this infinity, for evil can have no place, where all space is filled with God" (p. 469).

Ice Treatment for Dam

A giant artificial ice pack clapped onto a 200,000-cubic yard earth slide in the excavation area of the Grand Coulee dam, stopped the slide and saved the government over $100,000. When the dam, the largest in the world, commenced its unanticipated, menacing activity, federal engineers met the emergency by brilliant scientific measures. Experts of the bureau of reclamation of the department of the interior froze the earth's surface, as a surgeon sometimes freezes flesh during a treatment. They were thus successful in immobilizing the loosened, pulverized earth, and rendered harmless the underlying rock, as well.

Scores Compete In Annual Play Days

At the annual "Play Day" conducted Thursday, Aug. 10th, at the Stearns Playground, in Nonantum, scores of children participated in competitive games. Newton and Watertown theatres furnished prizes to the winners. Mrs. Ragna Hoygaard, supervisor of the district, Mrs. Teschner, Miss Katherine Harney and Leslie White, instructors, were in charge of the program. The summary of events follows:

35-yard dash for boys—Won by Bobby Gardner.

35-yard dash for girls—Won by Mary Aucoin.

50-yard dash for boys—Won by Eddie Powers.

50-yard dash for girls—Won by Anna Corsetti.

Homestead Monument

Daniel Freeman's quarter-section of land on Cub creek, Gage county, Nebraska, given him by the federal government at the time of the Civil war under the homestead law, has been designated by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes as a national monument. It becomes the Homestead National Monument of America. Announcement that all lands comprising the 160-acre farm five miles northwest of Beatrice, Neb., has been acquired by the United States from the five children and heirs of the man who was the country's No. 1 homesteader, was made by the national park service. Daniel Freeman, physician, farmer and Union soldier from Ohio, filed the first claim under the homestead law signed by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862, just five minutes after midnight January 1, 1863, the day the law became effective. He thus became the first of more than 1,000,000 homesteaders who developed the great Middle West.

Marked Resemblance
The mourning dove looks so much like the extinct passenger pigeon that reports are constantly being circulated that the vanished birds have been seen. In color and contour there is a marked resemblance. The extinct pigeon and the mourning dove look very much alike in one respect—they are the only native American doves with long, pointed tails. All others have square tails. For many years the U. S. biological survey sent ornithologists to investigate reports of the extinct passenger pigeon having been seen. Nothing ever came of these investigations.

Durham Cathedral Owes Site to Vagrant Dun Cow

Durham cathedral, one of the oldest in Britain, owes its site to the wanderings of a lost dun cow. A mild, plump beast, she still looks on from a sculptured panel outside the Nine Altars chapel, commemorating the divine incident that told a group of bearded monks where to build their church. The legend goes that the monks, carrying the body of St. Cuthbert, came to a place where the body stuck fast and resisted all efforts to budge it. It was as though some magnetic force had clamped it to the ground. "Which strange and unforeseen accident produced great astonishment in the hearts of the monks," says an old chronicler, "whereupon they fasted and prayed three days with great devotion, to know by revelation from God what to do with the holy body." The revelation came. It happened that a woman passed in search of her lost cow and they heard another woman shout to her that it was "in Dunholme." So the monks went there and set up "a little Church of Wands and Branches." Such was the founding of Durham cathedral in A. D. 997.

Rabbits Stop Train
Rabbits stopped a train near Dittfurt, Germany. When it whistled distressingly not far from the station, the dispatcher found the signals would not work. During the night rabbits had burrowed into an embankment, causing a cave-in that buried the signal wires.

Think You Are a Poet? Then Try Out This Test

Are you a poet? Here's a test cited by Sister Mary Madeleva, president of St. Mary's college, Notre Dame, Ind. The test concerns the moon crescent sometimes visible in the early morning, says the Syracuse Post-Standard. If it's "a thin crust of a moon" to you, you have something of the poet within you. But if it reminds you of a "toe-nail" then you aren't much of a poet.

That every worker may have within him a poet was Sister Madeleva's contention. She decried Plato's philosophy of the ideal republic, with its triple division of the population into philosophers, the "choice souls," the merchants and soldiers "to take care of the philosophers economically and defend the country," and the slaves "to do the work."

That reduces most of the world to a condition of slavery to support the philosophers," she said, pointing out that such a view was contrary to the viewpoint of God. "The worker becomes a collaborator with God in creation," she claimed. "The level of work is lifted from slavery to a deific plane. The worker has the opportunity of contacting God in his work. The poet in the worker goes a step further, to fashion what he sees into a thing of beauty."

Quoting from Jacques Maritain that "Poetry is to art what grace is to moral life," she claimed there was "no finer tribute paid to poetry, and no greater stimulus for reading or writing poetry, for grace establishes us in friendship with God, gives to everything we do a supernatural quality and value."

Peppermint Is Product Of Pacific Northwest

Most of us like the flavor of peppermint in candies, gum, toothpaste, soft drinks, ice cream and other delicacies. This pleasant, aromatic oil also helps to make some of our medicines more palatable, and has a wide variety of other commercial uses.

Peppermint, known botanically as mentha piperta, has been grown in the Pacific Northwest for about 25 years, says the Washington Farmer. There are now about 3,500 acres of mint under cultivation in this area. Good mint produces 40 to 80 pounds of oil per acre and in 1938 it sold for about $1.75 a pound.

Wild mint is found in many moist spots and lowland areas, but it is of no commercial value, as the oil yield is small and of low quality.

Mint requires low, well-watered muck lands, or irrigated soils. Harvest generally comes in August. Mint land should be summer-fallowed. The plants are started from selected runners, which may be plowed out from an oil field and transplanted, end to end in rows about 3½ feet apart. The cost of runners to set a crop is around $15 an acre. Young plants can also be set one foot apart in May or early June. Constant cultivation is required. After the mint is up about six inches it must be weeded several times by hand, as weeds and grass in the hay will discolor and taint the oil.

Virtually All Beach
Although Denmark is less than one-third the size of Florida, this kingdom has no less than 168 bathing resorts. The temperature of the waters in summer is about the same as that off the south of England, it is said. The North sea side of Jutland—the mainland of Denmark—is virtually one continuous sand beach. The Baltic side of Jutland and all the islands also are dotted with bathing places.

Eskimos Get Medical Aid
Alaskan Eskimos are going in for tonsil operations and eye glasses, according to Dr. C. E. Bingham, physician of the American coast-guard cutter, Northland. He said he had removed 160 sets of tonsils from igloo dwellers. Eye-glasses were becoming quite popular. He attributed their vogue to vanity in many cases.

Mark Centennial of Baseball With Big Field Day

Two hundred boys participated in Newton's observance of the centennial of baseball held in the form of a field day at Cabot Park, Newtonville, yesterday. Each of the 20 playgrounds in the city were represented in the eight baseball contests which featured the celebration. Mayor Edwin O. Childs presented the awards to the winners. Prizes included baseballs autographed by Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox and Mayor Childs, and Mrs. Teresa Marshall and F. Ewing Wilson of the Newton Playground Department.

The observance was planned by John Lawless, supervisor of the Victory Playground, and John B. Dacey, supervisor of the playground district. Two special awards in the form of medals issued by the Baseball Centennial Committee at Cooperstown, N. Y., were presented for the best all-around boy. The senior award was won by Benjamin Thomas of Auburndale and James McGinnes captured the junior medal.

The summary:

Bitten By Dog

Miss Rose Maguire of 146 Crafts st., Newtonville, was bitten on the right leg by her own dog Wednesday while she was feeding the animal. She was treated by a physician and her father, James Maguire, was notified by Patrolman Lawrence Dungan to restrain the dog. Dr. C. Arthur Boutelle will keep the animal under observation.

Why We Keep to Right

The automobile driver in the United States drives on the right side, rather than on the left as is the custom abroad, because the American became accustomed to driving his covered wagon on the right. And the jack he uses in changing tires isn't so new—similar jacks were used 100 years and more ago by covered-wagon drivers. But the American automobile driver owes nothing to the covered wagon when it comes to brakes—the covered-wagon driver had to get out and behind his wagon, setting brakes on the rear wheels from the rear.

Fisher School Has 26th Anniversary

Fisher School celebrates its thirty-sixth year by moving its Boston location to the exclusive Back Bay section at 118 Beacon st. The building was formerly known as the H. P. King residence and its complete facilities will be used for school purposes. Its beauty and artistry are well known to Back Bay residents and the rotogravure section of one of the Boston papers featured it in 1936 as one of the outstanding homes of this city.

The purchase of this building, together with the fine residential home in Winter Hill, Somerville, gives the two Fisher Schools the permanency necessary for reasonable expansion, enrichment of courses, and better placement opportunities.

The schools are experiencing an abnormal demand for both permanent and temporary help. One reason for this is the continual contact the school enjoys with several thousand office managers in Greater Boston.

Both school offices are open daily for inspection and conferences with the School Advisers.

Deaths

IDA L. HOPKINS

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida L. Hopkins, widow of the late Maurice Hopkins, who died on Thursday, August 17, were held from her late home, 352 Watertown st., Newton, on Monday morning. Canada Means 'Village'

When Jacques Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence river in the early years of the sixteenth century, he negotiated with the "wild men" on its banks, and one of the first Huron words he learned was "kanada," meaning village or settlement. Apparently Cartier liked the sound of the word, for he applied it to the region around the Indian village which stood where Quebec stands today. In this manner originated the name Canada.

Franco-American League Picnic To Be Held Aug. 20

The Greater Boston Regional Council of the Franco-American Civic League of Mass., Inc., will hold an outing and picnic Sunday, August 20th, at the Riverside Recreation Grounds in Auburndale. Plans and arrangements are under the direction of: Atty. Pierre Belliveau, Chairman; J. E. Theriault, Gilbert Champagne, Emile Guy Chartrand, and A. Frechette.

The Civic League has opportunely arranged this picnic so that Riverside can be enjoyed when at its best. On the green at the bandstand from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m., a band concert is scheduled. New tennis courts may be reserved; swimming with locker charges, canoeing and golfing are at hand.

Games, athletics, canoeing, swimming contests and prizes are under the experienced direction of Gilbert Champagne of the Newton Playground Department. Mr. Champagne has long been identified with successful picnics. He has arranged a fine program.

Edmond Cormier, Abraham Vienneau, Roland Coutu, Lionel Richard, Edgar Leger, and Abraham Donette of Waltham are at work in behalf of the Waltham Council.

Honored guests expected are Judge Lajoie of Fall River and Deputy State Auditor Hector Cormier of Brockton. A real welcome awaits everyone with the assurance of a pleasing picnic, and a reunion with relatives and friends from Boston, Newton, Cambridge and Waltham.

Sparsely Settled Norway Has Influenced World

Norway is a rugged, sparsely inhabited land whose effect on the rest of the world has been out of all proportion. In ancient times and in the modern world, a vitality has gone out from its savage mountains and fertile glens which few countries, sleeping in the sun, have been able to equal.

The Norse people, 1,000 years ago, bestowed their enduring blood on neighboring regions over an arc of thousands of miles. England in particular, but also Scotland, Ireland and northern France, are partly Norse. This infusion, to be sure, was not by choice of the peoples infused but was the consequence of red raids performed by the dreaded Vikings over two centuries. The Vikings were not called benefactors by their contemporary victims but such the centuries have proved them to be, for the Viking drops in the native streams have certainly had a quickening and strengthening effect.

Nowadays the Vikings sail no more, but the curious, vital principle which made them take to the lonely seas courses around the world in freshets of printer's ink. In the past half-century tremendous figures have arisen along Norway's stony coast; figures whose shadows stretch in all directions from the tropics to the ice. Ibsen is first of these; the passionate playwright whose genius struck shackles from the wrists of all who write for the theater, brought realism to the modern stage and proved that the playhouse might also be a social laboratory.

Genius of a gentler sort was Bjornson, less stern but also of enduring vigor. Most recently was Hamsun. Sigrid Undset is read everywhere on earth.

Alcatraz Methods
No criminal is ever sentenced or directly committed to Alcatraz prison, the federal penal institution in San Francisco bay, by a trial court. An inmate is sent to Alcatraz only upon the recommendation of the prison in which he is at the time incarcerated, and he must have the approval of the attorney general. The criminal's reputation and his dangerous effect upon fellow-prisoners in the ordinary penitentiary are deciding factors.

Pisa Tower Was Meant

To Lean, Historians Say

Whatever opinions may exist concerning the leaning of the famous Tower of Pisa, the tower was built leaning and has not wavered a fraction of an inch in the 600 years since it was finished, according to historians at the University of Pisa.

Although popularly believed to have leaned some time after the Fourteenth century due to the sinking of the earth under the monument, records show, the scholars assert, that when construction reached a height of about 33 feet the foundation had ceded to one side by seven inches.

Then, under the supervision of Bonanno da Pisa, the famous architect and sculptor who had carved in bronze the great door for the Duomo in Pisa, it is believed that Bonanno decided to preserve this lean, both from a desire to attempt a new application of statics and because of the fame that would come to him if he succeeded.

In defense of this explanation, it is pointed out that towers similar in design to the one in Pisa were common throughout northern Italy during the Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth centuries, and that Bonanno might well have wished to be distinguished for something more than a bell tower to supplement Pisa's new cathedral and chapel. Thus, although Bonanno did not live to see the tower completed, he had so far advanced its construction when he died that his successors, Guglielmo d'Innsbruck and Tommaso Pisano, had no choice but to continue in his footsteps.

Baseball Wins Africa

With the winning over of Rhodesia in a big way this season baseball has become a big favorite throughout Africa. Bulawayo has received news that a Transvaal team, representing clubs playing in a summer league there, will shortly visit Rhodesia. The Matabeleland Baseball association has appointed a reception committee and the tour promises to be a series of ovations.

Colored Mosquitoes

Pink and blue mosquitoes are occasionally found. The finder need suffer no shock. The strange colors merely indicate that some entomologist has sprayed a number of the creatures with harmless dye, before releasing them, to learn how long they live when free and how far they wander.

Can Grow New Coats, Legs

Many creatures of the wild have the power of changing their coats, for when they get too fat for their skin it bursts open and there is a shining new dress underneath. Other animals are able to grow limbs or tails when they lose them.

If a spider has an accident which deprives it of a couple of legs, it soon gets two more in their place. Certain lizards when attacked shed their tails, and as these continue to wiggle after they have left the body, a bird or other enemy usually attacks the tail, while the lizard escapes. Snakes shed their skins, and in places where reptiles are common we often come across these shrunken remains, notes a writer in London Tit-Bits Magazine.

All insects grow in the larva stage. Grubs and caterpillars increase in size by shedding their skins and it is not until they reach full size that they change into the chrysalis stage to emerge eventually as the perfect insect. We sometimes see undersized bees or flies which will not grow larger, because in the larva stage they were probably underfed, or came from a stock which was not robust.

The rattlesnake, a denizen of tropical South America, has a number of cups at the end of its long body. These fit into each other, and the curious rattle is made by their striking together.

When the snake is ready to shed its old coat a new rattle is added with the new dress, but as the older cups fall off when they become worn, the number of rattles does not increase to any great extent. If this snake loses one or more of its main fangs, which are really miniature hypodermic syringes, others grow in their place.

Golden Egg Goose

Jacob Putnam, Bellevue, Iowa, believes he has the goose that laid the golden eggs, and here's why: Since last spring the goose has laid more than 200 eggs and for 10 days in October averaged two a day. In addition, the goose laid 21 eggs while she was sitting on a nest with a nest of 16 eggs; ended with a brood of 37.

Quarter Horse

A quarter horse is a horse trained to run a quarter of a mile from a standing start. Such horses were usually not thoroughbreds, but were owned by farmers who raced them at picnics or county fairs. One of these sturdy racers named Bob Wade still holds the world official record of 21 1/4 seconds for 2 furlongs.

Playground Activities Will Appear in Moving Pictures

Children attending Newton playgrounds and beaches will soon appear in the movies.

Arrangements to film activities at the playgrounds have been made by Superintendent F. Ewing Wilson with a group of local merchants who are to defray the cost of the project.

The films will be exhibited in local motion picture theatres, which are co-operating in the enterprise.

The first of the motion pictures are being taken today at the Crystal Lake bathing beach where swimming and life-saving classes will be filmed.

Plans for photographing events at various playgrounds in the city before the season comes to a close on August 26 are also being made.

Riding a Skeleton

Winter sports enthusiasts visiting Sweden extol the thrills of a ride on a "skeleton," a small sleigh for one which attains the speed of a large bobsleigh. Sweden also has a sleighing version of the bicycle built for two, the kick sleigh. Young men take their sweethearts on these, standing behind on the long runners and kicking out into the snow to provide locomotion.

One-Time Papal Throne

Is a Magnificent Palace

High above the strong, swift flow of the Rhone, at Avignon, in southern France, there stands the Palais des Papes, the most magnificent and imposing structure of its kind in the world. It was built in the Fourteenth century, mostly during a period of 25 years. The walls are 13 feet thick.

There are 39 towers to the Palais des Papes, and this huge Romanesque edifice, part of it merging into the fortress-chapel guarding the famous Pont d'Avignon, (and the road to the Mediterranean, incidentally,) reigning proudly over the beautiful Rhone valley with its verdant, fertile plains, makes the turbulent days of medieval France seem real, relates a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

Avignon is within a few miles of the French Riviera and accessible to the many medieval Roman towns of southern France, all of which present a never-ending pleasure to the traveler.

The building of the Palais des Papes was really begun by Benedict XII and finished 25 years later by Innocent VI, after Clement VI had added the beautiful conclave gallery, the Pontifical chapel and the audience chamber, as well as rebuilding the church of his former abbey, La Chaise Dieu, in the Forez mountains. Here he also built his own magnificent monument.

Calcium Experiments

Experiments made on young men at an eastern university indicated that a drop in calcium brought on "moodiness, depression and pessimism." If there is high calcium content in the blood serum, one is in a "happy, cheerful, optimistic, emotional state."

Greek Letters on Brick Near Two Centuries Old

In one of the museums of Rome there is preserved a "brick" which was discovered on the island of Sicily some years ago. This is a very interesting brick, however, for it is more than 1,700 years old and was made out of soft clay by brick-makers who lived during the time of the old Roman empire, relates a correspondent in the Boston Herald.

It is interesting for another reason, though, and that is for the curious letters scratched upon its surface. These were placed there with a sharp stick by some schoolboys who passed the brickyard at the time when this particular brick, with many others, was still soft and drying in the sun. The letters are in Greek.

The top line was made by a child who was still learning to make capitals and he practiced by making the letter S (Greek Sigma) 10 times. Then beneath these, he wrote 10 times the letter K (Greek Kappa). Then he wrote at the end of the first line the Greek word XELONA, meaning turtle, and at the end of the second line the words MYLA (mill) and KADOS (turtle). Then an older boy, who could write more than mere capitals, pushed the little chap to one side and wrote two lines just beneath the first two, and he wrote a tongue-twister, which reads: "Nai neai nea naia in English, 'Boys cut new planks for a new ship that the ship might float.'"

This old brick shows that boys played pranks 1,700 years ago as they do now; and it shows also that the Greek language and an educational system had spread throughout this most southerly part of Italy long before it had come to other Europeans.

Surface Water Does Not Boil in Uniform Motion

The surface of water vigorously boiling in a teakettle or in an evaporator is characterized by discontinuous rather than uniform motion, says Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

Geyers boil up and subside. Surging waves swing from side to side and are broken up by geyers. Large bubbles of steam or vapor break through the surface and explode, throwing large, small, and infinitely minute drops of liquid into the vapor space.

Large and small drops of liquid are projected from the surface, arching upward two, three, or more feet. Drops strike and combine, and are frequently broken into a mixture of small and large drops by the impact. Particles dance about in space invisibly supported, finally to fall or be carried away.

With increasing concentration of the liquor there is change of conditions. Foam may be seen collecting along the outer edges of the liquid surface. Eventually this may build up to a deep rolling viscous blanket or it may have the appearance of an unstable tenuous frothy mass.

At the surface of this blanket bubbles burst, spraying droplets and minute bubbles into the vapor space. A strong light projected through the observation window shows that few of these smaller particles fall back to the foam or liquid. They are swept away in the vapor passing to the outlet.

Why 'John Bull' Represents England

As the personification of the English nation "John Bull" originated in a satire published in 1712 by John Arbuthnot, a Scottish humorist. The work is entitled "The History of John Bull," and was intended as a satire on the duke of Marlborough and the war of the Spanish succession. At first it was attributed to Swift, but Arbuthnot's authorship was later proved beyond doubt. In the satire John is a good-humored, bluff, portly and bull-headed fellow of the country-gentleman type. Lewis Baboon, a Frenchman, Nicholas Frog, a Dutchman, as well as others, figure in the satire. The book fastened the name "John Bull" on the English people.

Hot Springs National Park

Mankind has bathed at spas for better health, particularly in Europe, down through the ages. More than a century ago the United States government set aside Hot Springs, Ark., as a place ordained to specialize in spa treatments and recreation for the people of the nation for all time. American aborigines told of marvelous cures. These same springs were so famous to the Indians that in the long ago they believed the Great Spirit actually lived in them. There is a tale that the various tribes battled from time to time for control of the hot waters. Finally a truce was declared under which all tribes were extended the privilege of using the waters.

Wearing the Monocle

Although the "traditional Englishman" is always portrayed abroad as wearing a monocle and many Englishmen do, in fact, favor a single eyeglass, the custom is a Continental one rather than English, says Pearson's London Weekly. Contrary to general belief, most monocles are not worn merely as ornaments (except by dandies), but are actually single eyeglasses. It was once supposed that a glass for one eye would also reduce the strain on the other eye.

Special Meeting To Name Jurors

The special meeting last Monday of the Board of Aldermen was called primarily for the purpose of drawing jurors for duty at the Superior Court, Cambridge. At the same time the Registrars of Voters submitted the jury list for 1939-40. The following were drawn for jury service for criminal business, first session Wednesday, September 6.

Richard R. Jenkins, 26 Owatonna st., Auburndale.

John J. Milliken, 83 Court st., Newtonville.

John B. Lawton, 67 Colbert rd., West Newton.

Those drawn for civil business, first session, Monday, Sept. 11, were:

Robert L. Monroe, 42 Elliot ave., West Newton.

Lewis H. Jeffords, 2084 Washington st., Newton Lower Falls.

E. Kenneth Keyes, 37 Johnson pl., Auburndale.

The following were drawn for civil business, second session, Monday, Sept. 11:

William H. Mitchell, 89 Forest st., Newton Highlands.

Malcolm W. Hatch, 170 Auburn st., Auburndale.

William F. McGrath, 1325 Beacon st., Waban.

The board voted favorable reports on the following applicants for certificates of incorporation: Fred P. Hayward—"Asthma Research Foundation, Inc."

Bernard Lederman, Robert G. Vance—"Boston Doctors Symphony Orchestra."

The board granted the petition of Frederic T. Lewis, 538 Chestnut st., Waban, for a permit to erect a one-car garage at that address. Action was deferred on petitions of Josephine Gillespie for an intelligence office license at 555 Commonwealth ave., Ward 6 and Chester D. McNeil for a first class taxi license at 295 Centre st., Ward 7, and a number of petitions for permits for private garages.

Auto Registrations In Newton Increase

A substantial increase in the number of automobiles registered this year by Newton residents, as compared with last year, was indicated by excise tax figures compiled by the Board of Assessors.

While the total number of excise taxes assessed on automobiles in Newton in 1938 was 24,481, the number thus far this year is 20,725. Approximately 3900 more excise tax bills are to be sent out soon, indicating that the number of automobile registrations this year has already reached the total figures of last year.

The total valuation of the 20,725 cars assessed this year is $5,939,385 and the total taxes to be collected is $204,282.20.

The total valuation of the 24,481 cars registered last year was $8,276,430 and the total tax was $235,952.

Because of the increase in the number of bills sent out this year, the appropriation of $1850 provided in the budget of the Accounting Department for billing will be soon exhausted and Comptroller of Accounts Daniel A. White is expected to request an additional appropriation.

It is estimated that for all tax purposes, nearly 80,000 bills will have been prepared by the Accounting Department this year.

"Pant Thief" Still At Work Here

Further activities by the "pant thief," who has preyed on workers in the buildings under construction in Newtonville, were reported to the Newton police.

Complaints that money was stolen from clothing which they had hung up in the building were received from two men employed in the construction of the library building on Walnut st. The victims were Miles M. Eleander, 287 Chestnut ave., Jamaica Plain, and Bernard Cross, 101 Wilks ave., Medford.

The police also received a complaint from Harry Gath that a brown pocketbook containing $30 in cash, a check for $16, an auto license and business cards was stolen from a counter of his store at 875 Washington st., Newtonville.

Antiquity Veils Origin Of Popular Paste Foods

The origin of the paste family—macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, etc.—is pretty much of an international enigma. One story attributes the invention of macaroni to an Italian named Chico, whose tragic experience with a noisy neighbor who discovered his secret is familiar to all, writes Lona Gilbert in the Los Angeles Times. Some authorities credit the dissemination of its recipe to Marco Polo. The Chinese have a legend which gives the glory to a woman.

It seems that, according to this version, a Chinese woman centuries ago was making bread under a tree when some leaves fell into the dough. To remove them, she forced the dough through a sieve. As it came out in strands, she conceived the idea of drying them in the sun instead of baking the loaves on hot stones as was the custom.

Whatever its origin, the paste family has been known favorably in both the Orient and Italy for many years and is growing in popularity here. The commercial making of the pastes started in this nation about 80 years ago. The product, recommended chiefly for infants and invalids, was sold in drug stores.

Garnets Used as Bullets
Garnets are believed by some superstitious people to make better bullets than lead, because, being of blood color, they are supposed to inflict a more deadly wound, reports Collier's Weekly. Such bullets were used as late as 1892 by the Hanzas in their conflicts with British troops on the Kashmir frontier.

Horse Kills Wary Fox
For weeks farmers and poultry raisers in the Talwrn district of Wrexham, England, tried to capture a fox which was raiding their poultry, but it was too wary for them. But the fox, in passing a horse grazing in a field, evidently frightened it and the horse, lashing out with its hind hoofs, killed the raider instantly.

Newton Tax Rate for 1939 Same as Last Year, $30.20

Alderman McKay Explains Why Predicted Increase Did Not Occur

The 1939 tax rate for the City of Newton will be $30.20, the same rate as last year. This fact was determined on Monday night when the Board of Aldermen by abstaining from making any appropriations, made possible the continuance of the same tax rate as in 1938. Alderman Donald McKay, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Aldermen, stated that $30.20 will be the 1939 tax rate. He commented that although the law does not permit the Board of Assessors to announce the tax rate before September 1, that there would be no increase in the 1938 rate because the Board of Aldermen would refrain from making any appropriations before September 1.

Alderman McKay, who stated several months ago that Newton's tax rate for 1939 would be increased $2 or more over that of 1938, when interviewed by the GRAPHIC said:

"The compilation of a tax rate is confusing to nearly everyone. But a few simple facts should illustrate how our expenditures—both actual and threatened—have been handled. Two distributions of the Highway Fund, $121,000 and $215,000, have been received from the State, directly reducing the rate seventy-two cents and one dollar thirty cents respectively. The Hurricane Loan due in October will be funded to the extent of $80,000 over the next four years, thereby lessening this year's tax rate by 48 cents. The Board of Aldermen reduced the Mayor's budget by $200,000, a saving of one dollar and twenty cents on the tax rate. The cigarette tax and a revised county assessment reduced Newton's share by $100,000—or sixty cents on the rate. These various items total $430. The only real economy was in the budget reduction. By new taxes in other forms and by diversion of taxes which we will all pay one way or another, the real estate tax is kept at last year's figure. If the public will demand and support economical administration in city, county and state, the necessity for sugar-coating tax bills will disappear."

Warren Jr. High

Newton, Massachusetts

Placement examinations will be given at the Warren Junior High School to pupils new in our district and to pupils coming from private schools, who are to enter junior high school grades (Grades 7-9), on Friday, Sept. 8, beginning at 9 o'clock. The new school year starts on Monday, September 11th. In order that children may be ready to start on the first day without delay, it is advisable that they take these placement examinations.

New pupils should bring transfer and report cards with them when registering.

At the proper time you will be informed of the arrival of the bonafide collector in Newton. He will be in full uniform and have the words "Public Relations Department" on his coat collar. He will carry an official identification pass and a credential letter signed by your local chairman. The Salvation Army Appeal will not be put on until the close of the Newton Community Chest campaign.

Handbag Thief Gets Clemency

Francis J. McCarthy, 21, of 32 Chesley rd., Newton Centre, was found guilty in the Newton court on Monday of a handbag robbery from Miss Viola Smith, 23, of 33 Plainfield st., Waban, on the night of August 11. Judge Weston gave McCarthy a suspended sentence of 6 months in Bille-rica prison. Miss Smith testified that on the night of August 11 she was waiting for a bus at Centre st. and Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre when McCarthy approached, seized her handbag and fled. She took the bus to Newton Centre sq. and reported the robbery to Patrolman Hennrikus. Police suspected McCarthy of the robbery, but when they went to take him into custody, they found he had gone to New York. He returned last week, was spotted Saturday night by Patrolman Mullen, and later arrested. He took the police to a vacant lot where he had thrown the stolen pocketbook. There, it was discovered that McCarthy had overlooked $5 of $9 which had been in the pocketbook when he snatched it.

Grant Permit For Gas Station on Worcester Pike

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night, with only Aldermen McKay and Gaddis voting in the negative, the others of the 16 members present voted in favor of granting a permit for a gasoline filling station at Boylston st., near the corner of John st., in the Thompsonville section of Newton Centre. By this action the Board reversed two refusals of former boards to grant the filling station permit at this locus on the turnpike.

A hearing was held at a recent meeting of the Board on this matter. Daniel Needham appeared at that time as attorney for the petitioners, trustees of the estate of John Barthelme, and the Thompsonville Improvement Association opposed the petition. Some of the aldermen who voted in favor of the petition had previously opposed more filling stations on the pike in Newton. The locus is in a business zone and had been used as an outdoor showroom for summer furniture.

More Victims of Biting Dogs

Among the victims of biting dogs in this city the past week was Mary Allen, daughter of Judge W. Lloyd Allen, of 26 Mason rd., Newton Centre. She was bitten by a dog owned by William Grow of 767 Commonwealth ave., on Saturday. On Saturday another dog victim was Antonio Sostilio of 393 Langley rd., Newton Centre. He was bitten by a dog owned by Joseph McCusker of 32 Willow st. Both dogs were ordered restrained.

Driver of Car That Killed Man Fined

Sylvester Murphy, 19, of 15 Winthrop ave., Newton, was found guilty by Judge Crehan in the Newton court on Tuesday of driving a car so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. He was fined $100 and given until February 3, 1940 to pay it. He was also given a suspended prison sentence of 2 months. Young Murphy was the driver of the automobile that on July 15 hit and fatally injured Clarence Hazen, 63, of 4 Church rd., Newton, as the latter was crossing Centre st., near Ballard st., Newton Centre. Mr. Hazen, a Dartmouth graduate, had just alighted from his own automobile and was crossing the street, when struck.

Testimony of the police showed that the brakes on the automobile driven by young Murphy were defective. Lieut. Moan, who prosecuted the case, testified that the station wagon driven by Murphy had proceeded 45 feet after hitting Mr. Hazen. It was also brought out that a sign on Centre st., a short distance from the scene, cautioned motorists to drive "Slow."

Mayor Childs Appoints Reginald W. Brown as Recreation Dept. Head

Aldermen Raise Point About Mayor Not Keeping Alleged Agreement To Confer With Members of Recreation Commission

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night a communication was received from Mayor Childs in which he named his appointees to the newly created Recreation Commission, which succeeds the Playground Commission. Those appointed are Mrs. Theresa Marshall of Newton Highlands, George Kellar of Auburndale, Edward F. Dalton of Newton Centre, and Irving C. Paul of Newton Centre, who were members of the former Playground Commission; Howard L. Rich of 269 Franklin st., Newton; and Reginald W. Brown of 499 Walnut st., Newtonville. Mr. Rich, an architect, succeeds Ralph Henry of Newton, former chairman of the commission, who recently resigned. Mr. Brown was designated by Mayor Childs as Recreation Commissioner, and executive head of the Recreation Department.

Reginald W. P. Brown was born in Braintree 63 years ago. He moved to Newton with his parents when 6 years of age. At Newton High School, from which he graduated in 1894, he was an outstanding athlete. He was captain of the football team and catcher of the school baseball team. He also won cups as a tennis player. At Harvard he continued to star as a baseball and football player and was a half-back on the varsity football teams, as well as a member of the varsity baseball teams. He graduated from Harvard in 1898 and for 15 years was on the coaching staff of the football teams there. He also coached at West Point, Brown, Boston University and Holy Cross. He had recreation and playground experience at Watertown, Arlington and Newton.

Mr. Brown was associated for many years with the Nelson H. Brown Company, a wholesale clock firm established by his father. He also engaged in the profession of expert accountant and was a former vice-president of the Prudential Trust Company of Boston.

At the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night Alderman Gaddis asked if the members of the Recreation Commission had been informed by Mayor Childs of his intention to appoint Mr. Brown to the office of Recreation Commissioner. President Floyd of the Aldermen answered that he had understood that there had been an agreement between the Mayor and members of the Playground Commission, when the city ordinance was revised so that the setup of the commission was changed, that the Mayor would not appoint anyone to the new office of Recreation Commissioner who would not be acceptable to the commission. Mr. Floyd stated that he had been informed that Mrs. Theresa Marshall (who has been acting chairman of the Recreation Commission since Mr. Ralph Henry resigned), had not been informed by the Mayor of Mr. Brown's appointment, nor had other members of the commission.

Early this year a subcommittee of the former Playground Commission, composed of Lyscom Bruce and Mrs. Marshall, prepared a report in which they called attention to the fact that Ernst Hermann, who for nearly a quarter century had been superintendent of Newton playgrounds, would be automatically retired in March because he would then have reached the age of 70, and was not the executive head of the department. In order to prevent the appointment of a playground superintendent under civil service rules, as was necessary under the former setup of the department, the ordinance affecting the department was changed so that the commission was increased from 5 to 6 members, its name was changed from Playground to Recreation Department, because of community centre activities having been added to the playground activities; and it was specified that instead of the commission continuing as the executive authority of the department, this power would be vested in a member of the commission who would have the title of Recreation Commissioner. Many friends of Mr. Hermann hoped that he would be appointed to the new office, but he was not. F. Ewing Wilson, who for several years has been director of Physical Education at Newton High School, was appointed Acting Recreation Commissioner and has been serving in that capacity for the past three months.

Gambling Raid At Newton Corner

Patrolman Thomas McCormick, who has been stationed at Newton Centre as a day patrolman, but who has been given authority to travel to other parts of the city because of his zeal in arresting lottery pool operators, travelled to Newton Corner on Wednesday afternoon and seized 700 lottery pool tickets in the office of the Newton Taxi Company at 368 Centre st. As a result of the raid and seizure, Michael Stanton, 49, of Tremont st., Boston, alleged agent of the lottery, was arraigned in the Newton court on Thursday. Because Mr. Stanton had to hasten to visit an ill brother in New York, the case was continued until September 8. The raid was a result of a complaint allegedly made against the place.

Fined For Breaking Traffic Rules

In the Newton court last Friday, Margaret Henry of 86 Nonantum st., Newton, was fined $5 for not slowing down the car she was driving while travelling around the curve on Centre st. near Cotton st. John Plante of Medford was also fined $5 by Judge Mayberry for not driving slowly when his view was obstructed. Charles Tomkinson, 19, of Framingham, was fined $5 for ignoring a traffic signal. Patrolman Dowling was the complainant in the three cases.

Tells Rotarians Of Social Security

Members of the Newton Rotary Club were fortunate in having as a speaker this week John R. Campbell, New England Regional Director of the Social Security Board, who gave the first of a series of discussions which Lyceum has arranged covering Federal State, and Local Relief.

Mr. Campbell brought out four main points in his talk on old age assistance. (1) There has been a change from the old type of thinking in that society rather than the individual should bear the burden of old age assistance or pensions. (2) This has taken the form of group annuities in that the various private companies set aside particular funds for this purpose. (3) All benefits are now determined and established primarily on a basis of wages that have been paid. (4) Payments and benefits are also based on the needs of the particular family or individual in question, thus bringing up the new idea of social adequacy. In other words, the requirements of a family in one section of the country might be vastly different from those of one in another section of the country.

After a speech of about fifteen minutes, Mr. Campbell answered questions for another twenty minutes. During the discussion period, it was brought out that the former or existing pension plans of private industry usually averaged benefits twice as great as the Government plan. Also it is better to have uniform approach to this problem, run by the government, as otherwise great competitive problems would arise between companies. The general overhead for administering the social security plan will run about 5% of the benefits, which is far less than the amount figured by insurance companies. The only people excluded in the plan are the self-employed, such as doctors and dentists, or individual proprietors; also all agricultural workers and domestic servants and employees of any state or city charitable organization.

Bandit Steals Taxi At Lower Falls

A taxi-cab operated by Fred O'Donnell of Pleasant st., Watertown, was stolen late Monday night on Washington st., near the Newton Hospital, Newton Lower Falls. O'Donnell told the police that a man about 30 years old, light complexioned and wearing light clothes, engaged him at Watertown sq. and asked to be driven to Wellesley. Near the hospital, the passenger thrust a revolver against O'Donnell's neck, demanded what money he had, and ordered him from the taxi. Finding that O'Donnell had only 60 cents, the bandit told him to keep it. He also commented that he was forced to take the taxi because "it was a matter of life and death with him." The taxi was found abandoned in Cambridge on Tuesday night.

STREAMLINING GOVERNMENT

THIS essay is about administration. American government was built for safety, not speed, so people used to say when the doctrine of separation of powers was under discussion. Later, when speed was demanded, we wondered whether it was safe to streamline government. We have come to ask our government to do many more things than it had to do in the eighteenth century and the problem of how to administer such services has become acute. Our federal Constitution is not specific on that point; it gives us no definite rules about administration. Our forefathers left such details to us, and we have been slow to give them attention. The tradition of separation of powers has dominated our thinking. We not only divide responsibility for determining policies; we also frequently divide responsibility for administration and try to check and balance every part of it. When we do this it is impossible to discover who is responsible for success or failure when things go wrong in the management of our governmental business. Large legislative bodies changing every two years, are adapted to deciding what services government shall perform and general policies about them. They are not adapted to deciding the details of how they shall be managed, how various services shall be coordinated, and how duplication can be avoided. The best legislators can do is to fix responsibility for administration in some one place. If a legislative body places on the executive responsibility for carrying out policies, he can make department heads responsible for the different parts of this task and they in turn can hold their subordinates responsible. In this way responsibility can be made clear all down the line. Failure to fix responsibility for the conduct of governmental business is an outstanding defect of government in the United States. Through this failure the people lose control, which is the very opposite result of what is intended. The American people, with their vast experience in private affairs, have just the kind of training that fits them to know how to secure good administration in government if they will only turn their attention to this problem.

Camp F. A. Day

Annual Minstrel Show Saturday Night

The Annual Minstrel Show of the Camp Frank A. Day 1939 season will be held tomorrow night in the Camp Assembly Hall before the camp members and guests from the lake neighborhood, and the parents of the boys. For the past two weeks rehearsals have been conducted with the chorus daily meeting under the direction of Frank Pelican and the end men practicing gags and jokes twice daily.

Last year the show was considered the best presented since the oldest camper arrived, and the aim of the present committees is to equal, if not surpass that production. In order to accomplish this several committees were formed and have functioned in a highly satisfactory manner. The general chairman of all committees is the same as last year, Prescott Coan of Newtonville, and he is assisted by Harry Kyle of Burlington, Vermont. Other committee chairmen are: Publicity, Walter Ward and Bob Holbrook; stage, Construction and Setting, David Kingsbury, Dick Sprague, Jack Hancock; music, Jack Weeks, David Ashton, Frank Pelican; dialogue, Jack Weeks, Jack Hancock; specialties, Al Smith.

Leading performers—End Men: Al Smith singing, "And the Angels Sing"; Jack Weeks, "Till Take You Home Again, Kathleen"; Dick Hess, "Bells of the Deep"; Stan Sumner, "An Apple for Teacher"; Dick Kelley, "Taint What You Do"; Dave Ashton, "Moon Love."

Interlocutor, Assistant Director Thomas F. O'Donnell.

Plano—Paul Harriman, Frank Pelican.

Chorus of 35—including counsellors and campers.

Final Regatta and Track Meet Provide Upsets

The final Track Meet, which was completed on last Saturday, and the final Canoe Regatta, held on last Sunday, culminated in several pre-meet guesses proving to be wrong. Harvard failed to capture the team in each of the meets, which confounded the camp dopesters, and several individual wins were not forthcoming, all of which gave the experts a low percentage for correct forecasts.

In the track meet, conducted by Dick Kelley of Watertown, Dartmouth edged Harvard for the team prize in the Senior Camp, while in the Junior Camp, Minnesota left no doubt of its general superiority by overwhelming its nearest rival, Purdue, 28 to 19. A feature of the meet results was the winning of the individual crowns in the Senior and Junior Camps by the Humphrey brothers, Ross in the Junior division, and Ted in the Senior division.

The Canoe Regatta was held on the waterfront before the largest crowd of spectators that ever witnessed an athletic exhibition at the camp. Overflowing from the boathouse to the beach seats, even standing room was at a premium when the contests got under way. The enthusiasm of the boys injected a like spirit in the guest-onlookers, and gave the competitors an extra lift to win. So close was the competition that in the Senior Camp the final event of the day, the sailboat races, gave victory to the Yale team over the leading Harvard team by a score of 19 to 18, followed by Dartmouth which gave up the lead and finished one point behind Harvard, totaling 17 points.

A similar result took place in the Junior division where Northwestern edged its rival, Minnesota and Purdue, by a one-point margin, 16 to 15 to 14. The Midgets had just as splendid competition, but since their work is not on league basis, individual results were the incentive. Jack Callahan with two firsts was tied with Doug Smith and Don Burns for high scorer in the Senior Camp, and Billy Hansen tied with Bob Carr for leading honors in the Junior division. O'Farrell Knight topped the Midget Camp competitors by scoring two firsts.

Day Notes

Final Tennis Matches of the season for the championship of the Senior and Junior Camps will be held on the Camp courts tomorrow morning to culminate the week's trial matches. To make this a complete day for the spectator the Final Swimming Meet which promises close competition will be held in the afternoon. All this precedes the long-awaited Minstrel Show which occurs in the evening.

On Tuesday the three day treasure hunt brought out the elite seekers for their annual attempts to unravel the code messages which send them on their various ways to the succeeding clues. The winners in each of the three camps will be rewarded on Banquet Night, next Tuesday, by the Chief before the entire Camp and guests. Practically the entire enrollment entered the race, but one-half dropped out after the second day when they saw their chances for first place fade away on the gradually-difficult codes.

Lazy Day was voted a huge success by all the camp members when that day, held this year on Monday last, closed to the sound of taps. Allowed to remain in bed until nine-thirty, and then go to the Dining Room for breakfast, served in cafeteria style, the boys showed true form by getting up closer to the usual rising hour than to the later hour. Through-out the day an opportunity was given to engage in any activity that suited the fancy of the individual, and many boys just lazed in the bunks during the early part of the day, and then sought an outlet for their high spirits in basketball and baseball.

The current ragweed campaign struck Camp on Monday when hundreds of pounds of the weed was picked by the various tents of the Senior division, and then piled for drying out later in the week. Francis Kirby, a camper from Southbridge initiated the campaign, the Chief enlisted the campaign by offering a case of tonic to the tent which gathered the greatest amount. Tent 5 was the winner and enjoyed its reward on Monday night.

Not Guilty of Reckless Driving

At a hearing in the Newton court last Monday Judge Weston found James Milward, Jr., Quincy, not guilty of driving a car as to endanger the safety of the public. On August 10 a car driven by Milward was in collision at Chestnut and Highland sts., West Newton, with a car driven by Janet Gleason of Medford. Mary Brackett, 80, of 102 Windsor rd., Waban, a passenger in Miss Gleason's car, was seriously injured in the crash.

Newton Man Faces Serious Charge

Phillip Woodman, 30, of 61 Jasset st., Nonantum, was arraigned in the Attleboro court last Thursday on a charge of criminal assault made by Mrs. Katherine Goldberg of this city. He was released in $1000 bail for a hearing on August 24. The Goldberg woman alleges that Woodman tricked her into going to a roadside cabin at North Attleboro, and that while they were in the cabin, three men allegedly attempted to force the door open and take photographs.

Arrested for Drunken Driving

Mark G. Dowling, 32, of 1120 Beacon st., Brookline, was arrested early last Saturday morning at West Newton by Patrolmen Barr and Lynch on charges of drunkenness and driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Saturday and his case continued until Aug. 24.

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, August 16, 1884
The hydrants have been freshly painted this week.

P. A. Murray of Newton was a delegate to the Irish National League convention which was in session in Boston the past week.

Another week of cool and variable weather; Sunday cloudy and chilly; Monday rainy; Tuesday cloudy; Wednesday rainy; Thursday and Friday fair.

Constable Martin Laffie has been stirring up the owners of unlicensed dogs the past couple of weeks and brought his first victims into court on Thursday afternoon. John Keating and James Delaney were fined $15 each. Both parties had been warned and given ample time to get licenses but neglected to do so.

The people around the East end of Farlow pk. are beginning to realize some of its possibilities. The tastefully laid out lawns show signs of a coming crop of grass, and the shade trees, flower beds and gravel walks, as far as finished, are attractive. The lamp posts are still destitute of lights, but serve to help the imagination to show what the park will be in the future.

A correspondent offers the following facts and queries for the Highway Department to think over:—Fall is upon us and the general repairs on the streets are not done. Would it not have been better judgment to have made these repairs before those on the parks were done? Why are the repairs on Ward st. going on? Why appropriate money for improvements and then not use it? How much damage is the city to pay for that accident on Boylston st. two weeks ago, due to the neglect of the Highway Department? The travelling public thinks it is about time that Center st. be opened to travel between the Center and the Highlands. It has been closed for over a month and is proving a one-horse job.

Edward P. Burnham of Newton won the tri-cycle road race of the Boston Bicycle Club on Monday, making the 17 miles from South Natick to Boston in 1 hour, 14 minutes and 40 seconds. The start was made from Bailey's Hotel at 6 a. m. and there were four participants who left at 3 minute intervals. Burnham soon left all his competitors behind; the time of the second man being 1 hr., 31 min., 10 seconds.

Mamie Young, while playing in front of her home on Watertown st., Nonantum, on Saturday evening was run over by a horse and buggy which went toward Watertown. The child at first appeared badly hurt and Mr. Blodgett was called, but the injuries proved less serious than feared.

Precaution against cholera being in order, Newton people ought to become aware that within the city limits is a district which could easily become a breeding place for this terrible disease. We refer to the tenement house district on Waverley av. known as Snake Hollow. These buildings, the relics of what before the Civil War, was the largest furniture manufacturing in the United States, are the source of enough foul odors to breed a pestilence. There is no necessity or excuse for the existence of such places in this city. If some public spirited person would buy and remove these buildings, he would deserve no less praise than if he had presented the city with a public park.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Aug. 16, 1889
The water in the Charles River rose 3 inches last week.

Before the time of railroads the turnpike was thought to be the proper thing to connect the cities and large towns, and so it came that the Worcester turnpike was built from Boston to Worcester in nearly a direct line, passing through the South part of this city, that part of the pike which was in Newton now being known as Boylston st. It was built over the highest hills and deep valleys, its projectors seeming to be impressed with the delusion that less distance was more important than passing around a hill or valley. Tollgates were erected at intervals, one being located where the railroad bridge is now on Boylston st. Mile stones were also set up. The turnpike was opened for public travel in 1810. Most town ways in those days were laid out 30 to 33 feet wide, but this turnpike was laid out 66 feet wide. As time went on portions of the roadbed were appropriated by abutters, and it is with difficulty that the original lines can be located in some places. The city of Newton is reducing the width of this thoroughfare by making it 60 feet wide from Centre to Woodward st., and 55 feet from this point to the river line dividing Upper Falls and Wellesley.

Nearly 200 tickets were sold in the Nonantum district for the English picnic at Downer Landing next Tuesday. If it is a pleasant day there will be the largest gathering of English people ever seen in this vicinity.

If there is a dirtier or more obnoxious part of a street in the city than that part of California street for 200 feet near the boarding house of H. W. Foss in Nonantum, we would

EDWARD H.

Powers' Paragaphs

Upon our return from a cruise last Saturday we learned of the death of Mrs. Hazel Chivers Brimblecom, a conscientious, cheerful, courageous soul, who endured a long ordeal of suffering with Christian fortitude.

Hell seems about to break loose again in Europe. The terrible carnage and suffering experienced by the peoples of Great Britain, Germany, France, Austria, Belgium, Russia, Italy and other countries between 1914 and 1919, in addition to the starvation and privation of following years, surely ought to have made another frightful war unthinkable. The advances made in airplane construction in the years since the World War, and the horrible slaughter these carriers of destruction have wrought the past 3 years in Spain and China, have clearly proved that another widespread war will mean not only the wholesale murder of soldiers in fighting areas, but of children, women and non-combatants far removed from battle lines, especially in the cities and towns. Not only will millions of human beings be killed and more millions maimed, but the creative efforts of centuries of European civilization will be largely destroyed.

What is the answer to this apparent insanity on the part of certain European rulers? Why have nineteen centuries of Christianity resulted in this sorry result. Why has the vaunted popular education of the past century or more failed to prevent the impending reversion to a frightfulness that threatens the future of the white race? In our opinion—the first answer is, the age old perversity and greed of a large percentage of humans, and their stupidity in permitting themselves to be ruled by self-seeking, ruthless men. Nineteen centuries of Christianity have failed to bring about the Brotherhood of Man among so-called Christian nations, because a large percentage of those who professed Christianity have been and are hypocrites. They pretended to follow the doctrines of Christ, to believe in and practice the Golden Rule. Instead they have worshipped Mammon, and have been actuated by greed rather than unselfishness. And education has been influenced too much by materialism.

Twenty-two years ago the U. S. A. became involved in the World War, ostensibly to "make the world safe for democracy," and to win a war that would end wars. Although the writer did not participate in the fighting, it was his privilege to have been with the A. E. F. in France, and with the Army of Occupation in Germany. We had some opportunities to observe conditions in both countries. We saw the ruins of cities and villages in France. We saw that human Hell, Verdun, that horrible charnel ground where the sons of France made their epic stand against the flower of German manhood, and where millions of young men of both races were killed and maimed. We saw battlefields with human skeletons and bones littered about; barbed-wire entanglements still holding skeletons. We saw thousands of little, wooden crosses marking the graves of fallen victims of man's stupidity and cupidity. Victims who did not choose to fight, to kill and be killed. Graves marked by crosses, the symbol of that gentle man of Galilee who died because of his love for his fellow men. Irony, wasn't it?

We went into Germany with the Army of Occupation and saw the privations to which that nation had been reduced. A country of half-starved people, filled with thousands of maimed veterans of the war; filled with emaciated children, with broken-hearted women. The German people were compelled to billet us in their homes, and we lived with them and learned to know them as kind-hearted folks who had no desire to war with their fellow men. They had their fill of war and wanted no more of it.

Months of bickering and intrigue between representatives of the allied nations at the Paris conference followed, and finally the Treaty of Versailles resulted. We remember the fury of the Germans when the terms were made public, their assertions that they would not accept them; the hasty orders which followed, ordering those divisions of the Army of Occupation still in the Rheinland to be ready to cross the Rhine the following day, in conjunction with the French and the British, for a march on Berlin, and the subsequent agreement of terms by the Germans. We also remember that some of the Germans threatened that they would have "Raiche"—Revenge. There were those in the U. S. A. who thought that the terms imposed on Germany were too severe. There were more who thought the terms were not severe enough; that had Germany's homeland been devastated to the extent that France had been, and had she then conquered, the autons would have imposed far more drastic penalties on France and England than the Allies placed on her.

But, whether the peace terms were too severe, or not, Germany was reduced to a sorry plight, and five years later, in 1924, her economic structure had all but collapsed, and millions of her people were on the verge of starvation. In this condition it was not surprising that Adolf Hitler, an obscure Austrian, with a gift of oratory and a passionate hatred for those principal opponents of Germany, England and France, would find millions of converts to his program for the resurgence of Germany. Hitler's rise and success need no detailing here. But, with millions of others, we have been wondering why during the past 5 years France and England permitted Hitler and his colleagues to create the most powerful war equipment in the world, and to build the greatest armada of warplanes on earth? It has been said, and with reason, that powerful, aristocratic elements in control in England were at heart favorable to authoritative government such as Fascism in Italy and Nazism in Germany, because they believed it a bulwark against the rising tide of Communism which was threatening France and had become dominant in Spain. Political conditions in France also tended to allow Germany to forge ahead in its preparations for aggression.

Neville Chamberlain certainly seems to have made some bad blunders the past few years, but people in this country must realize that the British nation suffered severely in the World War and its people were reasonably opposed to another war. So, Chamberlain's yielding to Hitler at Munich was not surprising when he realized the tremendous advantage in war preparedness Germany and its ally, Italy, possessed.

Nor is the just revealed alliance between Germany and Russia greatly surprising to many. It has been frequently predicted the past two years by keen observers, by men who paid attention to the duplicity manifested through past centuries, including recent years of this century by leaders of European nations. Germany and Russia, like France and England, have been and are opportunists. And this fact emphasizes the truth of the advice given by George Washington—150 years ago to his countrymen—to steer clear of all entangling European alliances. The only interest the rulers of any of the more powerful European nations have in us, is that which will redound to their advantage. Otherwise—they hold us in contempt, and jealousy. Our allies in the World War, England, France, Italy and Belgium brazenly have welched on the payment of the billions loaned to them by the people of the U. S. A. They would do so again.

This country received a bitter lesson from its idealistic participation in the World War, but many of its supposedly intelligent inhabitants did not grasp that lesson. Our future concern, our present concern, is to correct the serious economic condition which has disrupted the normal life of this country the past 10 years, and to make this country so prepared in patriotism and armament that we can defend not only the North American continent, but also the South American continent from conquest by any alliance of European or Asiatic aggressors.

What the future portends in Europe and Asia no man knows. Fifteen years ago, anyone in this country who would have predicted that Germany today would have France and England cowed and trembling, would be scoffed at. Fifteen or less years hence, equally great reversals may have happened. One thing is more than probable—if there is another war involving most of Europe, and it lasts for any length of time, Communism will spread rapidly. The masses will revolt against continuing to be cannon and airplane fodder.

While we are still enduring the longest spell of hot, humid weather there has been in over 80 years, it may seem a helluva time to talk about plowing snow off Newton sidewalks. But, the time is opportune, because the Public Works Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen and the Street Commissioner intend to have the remaining horses owned by the Newton Street Department sold. Motor trucks have gradually replaced the horses owned by the city until now only 22 are owned by the Street Department, and none by any other department. The Street Department would years ago have eliminated all its horses but for one reason; the plowing of sidewalks during the winter months. Sidewalks in the older parts of Newton are narrow, obstructed by trees and poles, and tractors cannot be used on them. In years preceding the automobile era, Newton sidewalks were well plowed, and snow in early morning hours before commuters started to walk to trains, or children to schools. There was an ordinance, nearly as old as the city, which compelled persons owning property abutting improved sidewalks, to clear them of snow within 24 hours after the end of a snowstorm. This ordinance was effectively enforced by the police, and those who persistently ignored it were summoned into court and fined.

Came the automobile age and most persons of influence rode instead of walked. Police in Newton gradually ceased to enforce the ordinance relative to removing snow from sidewalks. There were a couple of exceptions—John McNeil and Horace Bailey. A few years ago Alderman Guzzi agitated for the enforcement of the snow removal ordinance and a special committee was appointed to consider the matter. Obviously this committee didn't give a hoot for pedestrians, for after having been prodded because of inaction, the committee recommended that the old ordinance be thrown out the window, allegedly because it could not be enforced. But, if the influential people walked instead of using automobiles, the ordinance could and would be enforced. Anyhow, the ordinance was revised so that it was no longer compulsory for persons in residence zones to clear their sidewalks of snow. The

HENRY C. HOPEWELL

Henry C. Hopewell of 315 Waverley ave., Newton, died on August 23 at his summer home in Wolfeboro, New Hampshire. He was born in Cambridge 54 years ago, the son of John Hopewell. He graduated from Harvard in 1907 and then became associated with the firm of L. C. Chase & Company, textile manufacturers. He later became president of the Tangle Products Corporation of Watertown. Mr. Hopewell was a member of the Harvard Clubs of Boston and New York, the Brae Burn Country Club, and president of the Kingswood Club of Wolfeboro. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hilda Prince Hopewell; three sons, Henry C. Jr., Robert and Frank Hopewell; and a sister, Mrs. Mabel S. Casseberry. His funeral service will be held this afternoon at Mount Auburn Crematory chapel.

JOHN A. REARDON

John A. Reardon of 59 Lowell ave., Newtonville, died on August 23. He was born in Boston 87 years ago and conducted an interior decorating business in Boston until his retirement last year. He is survived by three sons—Rev. Henry C. Reardon, pastor of St. John's Church, Wellesley; Edmund W. and Arthur J. Reardon; and two daughters, Mrs. Joseph V. Carroll and Miss Hannah Reardon. Mr. Reardon's funeral service will be held Saturday morning at Our Lady's Church, Newton. His son will be celebrant of the solemn requiem mass.

Leonard Boyd Dies, Was Last G. A. R. Veteran in Newton

Leonard Boyd of 161 Allerton rd., Newton Highlands, last surviving member of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., of Newton, and its commander, died on Sunday, August 20. He participated at the Memorial Day exercises on May 30th of this year. Mr. Boyd was born at South Berwick, Me., 95 years ago and enlisted in the U. S. Navy in 1864. He was for many years associated with the New England Confectionery Company. He moved to Newton Highlands 48 years ago and had been active in community affairs. Mr. Boyd was a member of Newton Highlands Congregational Church and the Boston Congregational Club. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Helen I. Boyd, and a step-daughter, Miss Marion Morse, both of Newton Highlands. Mr. Boyd's funeral service was held at his late home on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Ben Roberts officiated and delegations were present from the various patriotic and veteran organizations, including the Sons of Union Veterans, Daughters of Veterans, Spanish War Veterans, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

ANNIE T. GRAY

Miss Annie T. Gray, aunt of Rev. John A. Sheridan, pastor of Our Lady's Church, Newton, died on August 21 at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, where she had made her home for the past 10 years with her niece, Mrs. Isabel Sheridan Burrans. Miss Gray was born in Cambridge 90 years ago, the daughter of Hugh and Susan (McGahey) Gray. She moved to Watertown with her family when a small child. She was a sister of the late Miss Margaret Gray.

Miss Gray is survived by four nephews, Rev. John A. Sheridan, Philip H. Sheridan of Waltham, G. Frank Sheridan of Belmont, and Charles H. Sheridan of Wellesley; four nieces, Mrs. Burrans, Mrs. John A. Forrest of Watertown and the Misses Sue and Margaret Sheridan of Newton; and two grandnieces, Sister Mary Venard of the Sisters of Mercy of Dover, New Hampshire, and Mrs. Robert Cuniff of Wellesley.

Miss Gray's funeral was held on Thursday morning from the home of her nieces, the Misses Sheridan at 106 Waverley ave., Newton. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated at Our Lady of Presentation Church, Brighton, by her nephew, Rev. John A. Sheridan, assisted by Rev. William F. Shaughnessy of Our Lady's Church, West Concord, as deacon; and Rev. Father Flaherty of Presentation Church as sub-deacon. Present in the sanctuary were Rev. Thomas Murphy of St. Joseph's Church, Wakefield, Rev. Russell Haley, Rev. Thomas Fallon and Rev. George Williams of Our Lady's Church. Burial was in the family lot in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

THOMAS M. WATERS

Thomas M. Waters of 54 Court st., Newtonville, died on August 22 at Cardinal O'Connell House, Brighton. He was born at Gort, County Galway, Ireland, 74 years ago and had lived in Newton for 58 years. As a young man he was employed by the late Dr. F. L. McIntosh and for about 40 years had been in the employ of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway. He was for many years an inspector for the M & B, and in later years night clerk at the Lexington office. Mr. Waters was a charter member of Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., and a member of Newton Council, Knights of Columbus. Last June he and his wife observed their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Waters is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret T. (Buckley) Waters; five sons, Thomas of Waltham, Frank T. of West Newton, Joseph A. of Brookline, George H. of Newton and Harold J. of Newtonville; two daughters, Mrs. Mary A. Bowen of Newton Highlands and Miss Agnes R. Waters of Newtonville; a half-brother, John O'Halloran of Brighton; and three half-sisters, Mrs. John McCarthy of West Newton, Miss Delia O'Halloran of West Newton and Mrs. Richard Carr of Cambridge. Mr. Waters' funeral service was held this morning at Our Lady's Church and interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

REV. C. M. PATTON

Rev. Cornelius M. Patton of West Hartford, Connecticut, died on August 17 at his summer home in Waterville Valley, New Hampshire. He resided for several years on Franklin st., Newton. He was born in Chicago in 1860, graduated from Amherst in 1883 and from Yale Divinity School in 1886. In 1904 he became home secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, serving in this capacity for 25 years. During that period he visited all the mission fields and studied the literature and philosophies of the world. He was the author of a number of books on various subjects. In 1929 he was made secretary emeritus. He is survived by two daughters, Augusta Patton of Hartford, and Catherine Patton of Cambridge; and a sister, Mrs. Martin Welles of Hartford. His funeral was held last Saturday at Hartford.

JAMES H. KING

James H. King of 588 Walnut st., Newton Highlands, died on August 19 at the Pondville Hospital after a long illness. He was born in Portland, Maine, 62 years ago and resided in Watertown most of his life. He had been a machinist by trade. Mr. King is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude King of Newton Centre; and by three sisters, Mrs. Rose Corser of Newton, Mrs. Cathleen Zwickler of Watertown, and Mrs. Walter Langell of 588 Walnut st., Newton Centre, from whose home the funeral was held on August 22. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Walter Commons of Newton Highlands and burial was in Ridgeway Cemetery, Watertown.

Recent Weddings

TSCHOPIK—HUTCHINSON

Miss Marion Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson of 15 Temple st., West Newton, was married to Harry Tschopik, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Tschopik of New Orleans, La., on Wednesday afternoon, August 23, at the summer home of her parents in Marshfield. Rev. Herbert Hitchen of the West Newton Unitarian Church performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory Alencon lace and a veil of ivory tulle which fell from a crown of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of orchids, Bouvardia and swansonia. Miss Sylvia A. Lewis of Worcester, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant. Her gown was of yellow net with inserts of lace and she carried Fall flowers in shades of bronze and yellow. Andrew Hutchinson, brother of the groom, was the best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Tschopik will make their home in Cambridge.

The bride was graduated from Vassar College in 1932 and did graduate work at Radcliffe in 1933. The groom is a graduate of the University of California and did graduate work at Harvard.

FULLERTON—SMYTH

Miss Elizabeth Smyth, daughter of Mrs. James H. Smyth of Brookline, was married to W. Franklin Fullerton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Fullerton of Laurel st., Newton Centre, on Wednesday afternoon, August 23. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Charles G. Addison of Lynn, by Rev. Roger Blanchard of Beverly.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Paul C. Smyth. She wore a gown of white organdy made with high neckline and yoke of embroidered batiste and a veil of tulle which fell from a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of bouvardia and baby's breath. Miss Betty Willis of Brookline, her only attendant, wore a gown of aqua tulle with heart-shaped neckline and fitted bodice. J. Irwin Fullerton, brother of the groom, was the best man.

A reception followed the ceremony. On their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Fullerton will reside in Kingston, New York.

The bride is a graduate of the Choate School.

BURNS—SALTA

Miss Marion Salta, daughter of Mrs. Edwin R. Jump of 97 Oakleigh rd., Newton, was married to Roy Emerson Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Burns of East Walpole on Saturday afternoon, August 19, in Phi Sigma House of Wellesley College. Rev. John L. Keedy of Walpole performed the ceremony at four o'clock.

The bride's gown was of tulle over white satin with a lace bodice. She was attended by Mrs. Edward L. Hughes of Fitchburg, a former classmate, who wore a sheer long sleeved blouse with a skirt of royal blue and a sash of fuchsia.

Thomas F. Piper of Lock Haven, Pa., was the best man.

The bride is a graduate of Wellesley College, 1938. The groom was graduated from Harvard in 1936 and from the Harvard Business School in 1938.

Philatelic Auto At Newtonville

Over 500 Newton postal patrons visited the United States philatelic auto exhibition Wednesday at Newtonville Square where a 35-piece WPA band rendered musical selections during the 2-hour stay of this famous stamp vehicle. Long before 3:30 p. m., a line was formed which included many local school children, who proved to be ardent stamp lovers, judging by the length of time they remained within the philatelic machine studying with children of other towns where most youngsters simply passed quickly through the exhibition. J. F. O'Gorman, Supt. of the Newton Post Office, was general chairman of the affair, assisted by the other nine local postal superintendents, and he introduced as chairman of the Reception Committee Mayor Edwin O. Childs, who gave a splendid welcome to the visiting postal officials from Washington, at the same time reminding them that the first postmaster of Newton was a nationally known stamp collector and that hundreds of youngsters in his footsteps, including himself. The last remark was the cause of a loud outburst from the crowd when they sensed the Mayor calling himself a youngster. Capt. O. L. Rogers, U. S. Marines; J. Davis, Philatelic Agent, and W. Addison, Asst. Supt. of Mails in Boston, representing Postmaster Tague, were also among the speakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Le Seul T. Collins of Marshfield and formerly of Newtonville have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Collins, to Norman E. Whitney of Newtonville, son of Mrs. Ruth D. Whitney and the late Carol N. Whitney.

Pigeon Fanciers At Janse Farm

Pigeon fanciers of New England who specialize in "muff tumblers" gathered last Sunday at the estate of John Janse, 443 Parker st., Oak Hill, when 100 pigeons were shown by 50 exhibitors. One pair of black "muffs" came from California by express for the show. First prizes were won by John Kauler of Somerville, president of the Muff Tumbler Club, and by John Ritchie of Roslindale. Mr. Janse was chairman of the committee in charge.

CUMMINGS NEW CHAIRMAN OF BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE N. A. A.

The Board of Governors of the National Archery Association of the United States have elected Mr. Henry S. C. Cummings of 33 Oak Hill st., Newton Centre, Mass., to succeed Dr. Paul E. Klopsteg of Chicago, Ill., as chairman of the Board which regulates the sport of Archery in the United States. The N. A. A. was organized sixty years ago and is one of the oldest Sporting Organizations of its kind, older than the National Golf Tennis and Baseball Associations.

Mr. Cummings has been prominent in Archery circles since 1927. For six years he was Secretary-Treasurer of the Newton Archers, the first Club in America to use a Municipal Range and the Club that has produced more N. A. A. Champions during its existence than any other Club in the U. S. today. While he served as secretary he donated a Cup bearing his name for Quarterly Handicap Shoots which cup now contains almost fifty different names! He is now vice-president of the Newton Archers. In 1935 he was elected to the Board of Governors of the N. A. A. and has been chairman of the Membership and Publicity Committees.

While we are referring to Mr. Cummings' archery background it should be brought out that Mr. Louis C. Smith of Boston, his father-in-law, enjoys the unique distinction of having served the N. A. A. as its Secretary longer than any other previous Secretary (for over seventeen years) and was at one time President of the Association. He is the father of Mrs. Dorothy Smith Cummings who won her first National Title in 1919 and has been the National Champion seven times up to 1931.

The N. A. A. holds each year a Championship Tournament alternating from Coast to Coast with a stop in the Midwest each third year. The Sixtieth Annual Tournament will be held next August in Amherst, Mass., and it is expected it will be the most successful in the history of the Association.

There has been a marked increase of interest shown during the last few years in Field Archery. This phase of the sport is distinguished from Target Archery, in that it is related to hunting and cross country roving. Distances are purposely varied and irregular and keen delight is taken in making conditions as near to actual hunting conditions as can be devised. There has also been an active interest in Flight Shooting, casting the arrow as far as bows of varying weights permit. Standardized rules are being developed governing the conditions for this type of shooting. The Board of Governors are working on plans which should help to stimulate Archery in Schools and Camps as it has so successfully for the past ten years among colleges. Last year over a thousand girls took part in an inter-collegiate Telegraphic Mail Match. The N. A. A. awards a "Six Golds Pin" to Archers making a Perfect End of six consecutive arrows in the Gold, at any Six Golds Club Tournaments and this recognition has proved to be one of the most stimulating of all awards offered by the Association.

It is expected that under the new administration of Henry S. C. Cummings, the Association will do all within its power to build up the membership and interest in this ancient old sport. The Ancient & Honorable Artillery organization was at one time devoted exclusively to the use of the bow and arrow and in the olden days the bow was one of the most important weapons used. Today, it is a gentleman's sport, indulged in by professional men and their like, by old as well as youngsters, even by those with distinct handicaps. As Cyrus E. Dallin, the world famous Sculptor and an Honorary Member of the N. A. A. once said: "There is an indescribable fascination and thrill in just the flight of an arrow." Archery has attracted and drawn together tens of thousands of lovers of the outdoors. There are over 350 Archery Clubs scattered throughout the United States and on almost every Campus and Municipal Playground one may now see a brightly colored target and groups of Archers enjoying the pleasures of this kingly sport!

Glen Gray, "Casa Loma" at Brockton

Glen Gray and the famous Casa Loma orchestra, considered by many critics the foremost dance band in the country today, has been engaged for the first three days of the 65th annual Brockton Fair, scheduled for the week of Sept. 19 to 25.

Popular with a multitude of radio listeners from coast to coast and recently featured with George Burns and Gracie Allen, Casa Loma will make the fairgrounds sizzle with the hottest kind of swing and turn right around and play sweet, sentimental stanzas from the popular romantic ballads with equal perfection.

In 1929 the Casa Loma came East, touring for three years on one-night engagements. The tour, which brought them tremendous popularity in college towns, eventually landed them in the Rainbow Room of Radio City, one of the most coveted band spots in the land.

An example of Glen Gray's popularity in New England is a letter just received by Brockton Fair management from Providence, endorsing the fair's selection of Casa Loma, from members of the Providence Casa Loma Club, who dance or tune in to the music of Casa Loma on every opportunity. The Casa Loma clubs in New England alone boast a membership of over 5000 fans.

Casa Loma is said to be the oldest unaltered musical organization in the country. The newest man has been with the band for 6 years and yet the average age is under thirty. The nucleus of the organization was banded by Jean Goldkette in Detroit 11 years ago. Besides Gray, members of this original Orange Blossom Band still working together include "Pee-wee" Walter Hunt, trombonist and rhythm singer; Pat Davis, tenor saxophonist; Joe Hall, pianist; Stanley Dennis, bass player; Tony Briglia, drummer, and Billy Rauch, trombonist, all favorites with dance enthusiasts the country over.

No "T. B." In Newton School Children

Last week Dr. Harold Chope, Health Officer of Newton announced that not one case of active pulmonary tuberculosis had been discovered this year among the pupils of Newton schools who had been tested for this disease. It was the first time since the tests were started in 1935 that this 100 per cent record was found. About 1000 children in the 11th grade of public and parochial schools were examined. Of the 998 in the 11th grade of the public schools, 846 submitted to the test. Of these, 239, or 24 per cent showed positive reactions. Of this number 213 were given X-ray examinations and as a result 59 were given further examinations. Forty-seven were placed under observation, but none had an active case of the disease.

Of 106 children in the 11th grade of parochial schools in the city, 96 submitted to the test. Positive reactions were found in thirty, or 31.5 per cent. Twenty-six were X-rayed, 8 given physical examinations, and these with two pupils examined last year were placed under observation. Of the cases of "T. B." reported in this city this year, 27 per cent were under 25 years of age.

Herlihy Bros. Assn. Annual Outing

The Herlihy Mutual Benefit Association, held its annual outing Wednesday when more than 150 members and friends gathered, at Seller's Ten Acres in Wayland. The group, under the direction of Mr. Charles E. Herlihy and Mr. Thomas Herlihy, drove to the beautiful outing grounds in buses and private cars arriving early in the afternoon. The feature events of the day included a baseball game, potato race, tug of war, swimming events, golf, and tennis. Dinner was served in the Ten Acres Pavilion at 7:30, and included as the first course the famous Seller Clam Chowder made according to the original 1832 recipe which Mr. Seller discovered recently in the archives of the Worcester Antiquarian Society. Mr. Gerald Mitchell was general chairman for the outing.

Cars Collide; Six Injury Claims Made

Two cars operated by newly licensed drivers collided at Watertown and Washington sts., West Newton, last Saturday noon. One car was driven by John Keane, Jr., 17, of 194 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill. Young Keane had only received his license to drive a month previously. He reported that his sister, Marie, 15, who was riding with him, was injured slightly. The other car was driven by Charles Shinder, 33, of Browning ave., Dorchester, who was licensed to drive 4 months ago. Shinder reported that all the occupants of his car had been injured, including himself, his wife, his two daughters, 10 and 4 years old, and another occupant, Lillian Isbeck, also of Browning ave.

Governor's Son Weds Saturday

Leverett Saltonstall, Jr., son of Governor Saltonstall, will be married Saturday afternoon in the chapel at Groton to Nancy Smith, daughter of Mrs. Constance Wharton Smith of that town.

The bride will be given in marriage by her brother, Henry St. John Smith. She will wear a white organdie gown with a tulle veil and will carry a bouquet of bouvardia. Mrs. Robert Cutler of Boston will be matron of honor and Miss Emily Saltonstall, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Elizabeth Timmins of Groton and Miss Roberta Lang of Chatham will be bridesmaids.

The best man will be Peter Saltonstall and the ushers will be David Howe of Boston, Louis Neilson, Jr., of Jericho, N. Y.; David Scull and Arthur L. Derby, Jr., of Boston; William S. Rowe of Cincinnati, Ohio; I. Tucker Burr, 3d, of Needham; John Grew of Dedham, Alexander D. Irving of Wilmington, Del., and Henry Chatfield of Cincinnati.

Scottish Names

An American who called a Scottish boy John or a Scottish girl Margaret would have more than an average chance of being correct.

These two names have been the most popular in Scotland the last 80 years. Highland names such as Colin, Lachlan, Dugald and Roderick have declined in popularity, while June, Dorothy, Irene and Maureen have become more widely used.

Seth, Adam, Simon and other biblical names have almost passed out of usage in Scotland.

Birling

Birling is the art of navigating on logs. The sport is divided into three classes: racing logs, rolling logs and trick performances on logs, all taking place while the log is in water, usually on a rather turbulent river.

Land of Incas Focuses Attention

Now that the interior of Peru has been made more easily accessible—by new air and motor routes and improved train services—"The Land of the Incas" is becoming a favorite objective of travelers.

Cuzco—ancient capital of the great Inca Empire—may be reached by rail from Mollendo and by air and rail from Callao, both ports visited weekly by Grace Line Ships. In fact the "Land of the Incas" ranks so high among travel field that special 38-Day All-Expense Cruise Tours are operated weekly to Cuzco from New York.

Cuzco, both because of its early history and its present-day characteristics, holds much of interest for the traveler. It was here at the beginning of the twelfth century that the Incas founded their capital—a glittering city with streets paved in silver and with royal palaces and temples flashing with gold and precious stones.

The Temple boasted walls and doors and even a garden of gold. Up and down these streets chieftains dressed in gorgeous feather robes and priceless jewels were once carried in state on litters gleaming with gold. In the central plaza elaborate celebrations were held attended by chieftains from far-flung parts of the Empire during which even the mummies of dead Incas and gods from the Temple were brought out to attend the ceremonies and given seats of honor on benches of gold around the plaza.

Guarding the capital—which in its heyday ruled an empire stretching from the northern Andes in Ecuador to the Maule River in Chile and embraced several million Indians—is the cleverly planned and skillfully constructed gigantic fortress of Sacsahuaman, with immense stones fitted together like pillows, without the use of mortar or cement.

The Cuzco of today is a medieval Spanish city built on the ruins of the buildings of the ancient capital—Inca stonework topped with stucco residences built with balconies and grilled windows—with a mixed population drawn from the descendants of the Indian tribes which made up the Inca Empire and from their Spanish conquerors.

In addition to the capital, other intriguing centers of Inca and pre-Inca cultures include the ruins of Machu Picchu, mighty pre-Inca Fortress considered to be the most amazing ruin on the continent; Arequipa, second largest city in Peru, once a half-way rest station for runners on the Inca trail connecting Cuzco with the seacoast villages now favored by the artist-writer set; Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable lake in the world and one of the most beautiful, famous for the mirror-like quality of its still waters, the strange reed sailboats in which the Indians navigate it; and for the pre-Inca ruins which surround it; and La Paz, highest capital in the world, a charming city with marked Spanish colonial characteristics, famous among travelers for its Indian market which is one of the most fascinating native gathering places in the southern continent.

Joint Field Day of Two Playgrounds Boyd and Victory

Dorothy Doyle as Queen Elizabeth, and Kenneth Morrell as a caveman, were the outstanding entries in the costume parade of 100 children which was one of the features of the combined field days of Boyd Park, Newton, and Victory Field, Nonantum, held at Boyd yesterday afternoon. Other events which were witnessed by about 500 spectators included specialty dances, a handwork exhibition, and races for boys and girls.

F. Ewing Wilson, acting superintendent of playgrounds and Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, supervisor of the playground district, represented the Newton Playground Commission. John Lawless, Waldo Hamilton, Mary Greene, Lillian Mancini, Leslie White, and Catherine Harney, directors of the two playgrounds were in charge of the program. Prizes were donated by the Ward 1 Improvement Association.

The girls' handwork exhibition of both Boyd and Victory included a large number of gaily colored jitterbug dolls made of yarn. The summary:

Telephonic Weather Reports

The idea of reporting weather by telephone was originated by the Bell Telephone company in New York on April 8, 1939. This is done mechanically, the reports being spoken into a magnetic case from the weather bureau and received in the central office. Temperature changes are made and the weather forecasts are changed once or twice daily. About 58,000 calls for weather reports are received daily.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 27.

The Golden Text is: "The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth" (John 1:14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. . . . And these signs shall follow them that believe: In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover. . . . And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following." (Mark 16:15, 17, 18, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christians are under as direct orders now, as they were then, to be Christlike, to possess the Christ-spirit, to follow the Christ-example, and to heal the sick as well as the sinning." (p. 138)

Rhinoceros Dangerous

A rhinoceros is not to be sneered at. His bulk, his pointed horns, his armored hide, his burning temper—they have killed many a full-grown elephant in jungle encounter. But the rhinoceros is not always malicious. Mostly he attacks because of poor eyesight and panicky mind. Big as he is, the rhinoceros has called one of nature's failures. He has become almost extinct in Asia through a foolish native belief his horn was a poison indicator. This created a big demand for horns, so cups could be carved. Poisoned liquids were supposed to spit the cups in two.

DO NOT TREAT YOURSELF WITH "HEALSAY"

Neighbors and friends are priceless possessions, and should be so regarded—but when it comes to treating yourself in case of illness, the advice of a neighbor or friend is not the safest plan. They mean well, of course, and simple little ailments and accidents about the house can often be treated casually with home remedies from the medicine chest.

Better to be Safe Than Sorry

However, when there is anything the matter with you, to experiment with yourself or treat your case with "hearsay" may be very expensive and dangerous.

There are many underlying causes for outward symptoms, discernible only to a Physician, after careful examination and analysis. Disease detected and treated in its first stages is so much easier to cure, and is less expensive to you physically and financially. Don't experiment on yourself!

THE DOCTOR SPENT YEARS TO LEARN HOW.

Goats Go to Work

It is a far cry from Angora goats to automobiles, yet this species of goat provides the raw material for the mohair upholstery found in so many motor cars. One goat must thrive and produce for 10 years to provide enough mohair to upholster the average five-passenger sedan. Consequently, because of the demand of car manufacturers for mohair fabric, the raising of Angora goats has become a major industry, especially in Texas which produced in 1937, 14,000,000 of the 16,500,000 pounds produced in the seven leading producing states.

Egyptian Beauty Experts

The ancient Egyptians were first-rate beauty parlor experts and probably originated the first "hair-do" fashions in our civilization. Apparatus for waving the hair has been discovered in ancient tombs together with numerous preparations or "kohl," the ancient counterpart of eyelash coloring or mascara.

Boy Scouts

Normbega Council, composed of Newton and Wellesley boys, and Cambridge Council Scouts joined today with CCC boys of the East Jaffrey Camp and New Hampshire State Police in the search for Evelyn E. Curtis, 81, of Leominster, missing since eight o'clock Tuesday morning in the vicinity of Camp Quinapoxet. Mrs. Curtis, a visitor at George Hunt's Farm situated one half a mile from the Scout Camp, was last seen Tuesday morning at eight o'clock when she left the farmhouse to gather blueberries. Officials at the Scout Camp received a call from the Hunt residence for help at two o'clock in the afternoon when the elderly woman could not be located. Immediately twenty-five Scouts, under the direction of Alexander Smith and William H. Power, Jr., began a systematic search throughout the region surrounding the farmhouse. At 3:40 P.M. when no trace of the missing woman had been found, the ninety other campers and leaders joined in the hunt, operating in units of thirty. At seven o'clock Tuesday night a contingent of CCC boys joined the older Scouts and staff members of the camp in the search. Members of the New Hampshire State Police reported at the Scout Camp at ten o'clock Tuesday night and took direction of the search. Today the entire personnel of the Scout Camp, totalling 120, in addition to 6 CCC boys are continuing their search equipped with trail lunches. It is feared that the elderly woman, who is not able to venture far from the farmhouse, has met with some injury and has been unable to return. The territory surrounding Hubbard's Pond on which Camp Quinapoxet and the Hunt farm are located is thickly wooded and in many places it is almost impossible to traverse due to the many fallen trees and brush still entangled from last September's hurricane. It was hoped that before the end of the day that the greatly supplemented forces of the Scout Camp would be successful in locating the missing woman.

This is the second occasion this summer when Quinapoxet Scouts have been called upon for emergency service, having extinguished a fire on Mt. Monadnock near East Jaffrey, New Hampshire on July 22nd.

Newton Lower Falls: Donald H. Murphy, William Leavitt, Jr., Stephen Rogers, Richard Griswold, Auburndale: John Weston, James Weston, Norman Steed, David A. Jones, Edward W. Ramsden, Thomas Monahan, Robert and Richard Sennot, Fred Kinsman, Irving Powers, Newton Upper Falls: John P. Frost, Thomas W. Wildman, Jr., Fred H. Batey.

Newton Highlands: Roger Peck.

Wisconsin Blacksmith Profits Despite Cars

For the ordinary village blacksmith the coming of the automobile has meant severe loss if not extinction. But to August Zahn of Bailey's Harbor, Wis., the strident tooting of automobile horns is no more unwelcome than to a filling station operator. It merely means more business.

For Zahn, who has piled his trade in Bailey's Harbor since arriving from Germany in 1904, is an artist whose hammer and anvil are used with the same care and finesse as the painter's brush or sculptor's chisel. His work includes fireplaces with all accessories, hanging lamps, ornamental stair railings, fine candlesticks and other articles.

Now a white-haired man in his sixties, Zahn is carrying on a family tradition of artistry in iron which goes back several generations. He served his apprenticeship in his father's shop in Zanten, Germany. Nor will the family tradition end with August, for today, Walter, his oldest son, is learning the secrets which August's father passed on to him.

Many fine homes in Door county contain products in Zahn's craftsmanship. And therein lies the explanation of the old blacksmith's hearty approval of the automobile—for most of those homes were built after the advent of the horseless carriage increased the population of this northern Wisconsin district and made it available as an attractive summer home location for wealthy out-of-state families.

When Zahn isn't occupied at his forge, he generally is performing his duties as clerk of his school district, a position he has held for 19 years, or as a member of the town board.

But publicly or privately, no one ever heard Zahn join the anvil chorus or protest against the automobile.

Theory vs. Experience

One of these child experts advises letting the child create his own emotional dynamo. Our experience has been that the problem is to get him to shut the thing off.

Powers' Paragraphs

committee naively reported that the sidewalks were plowed, and this would suffice.

The following two winters we had little snow and the import of the changed ordinance was not apparent. Last winter we had some snow, and people had to walk on streets, hazardous being hit by automobiles. Any one who drives a car knows how little control one has of the vehicle when streets are covered with ice or slippery snow. The car is apt to skid at anytime. Despite this, it has even been suggested that the sidewalks in Newton need not be plowed. Pedestrians, including school children, can walk on streets during the winter months when sidewalks are covered with snow or ice. And we have policemen at crossings to safeguard the children. Consistent, isn't it?

It is proposed that the Street Department sell its remaining 22 horses and use privately owned horses for hauling snow plows. For some winters past the Street Department has boarded from horses owned by contractors, so that they can be used for work on sidewalk plows. The trouble with this plan is that horses so used are inexperienced in hauling sidewalk plows and are of doubtful value.

Last year the Street Department had 25 horses and it cost $40,000 to maintain them, according to information received from the Department. Even though the city must have three shifts of stable attendants, such exorbitant cost for the care and maintenance of horses seems ridiculous when large milk companies operating in this vicinity use horses, and it costs less than $2 per day to feed and care for each horse. Admitting that the city must be more than that of the milk companies, there should be no such difference. We suggest that the Street Department retain horses, but find a more efficient way to maintain them within reasonable cost. We confess we walk seldom, but many Newton residents and their children do. They pay taxes and are entitled to have the sidewalks walkable in winter.

The appointment by Mayor Childs of Reginald Brown as Recreation Commissioner came as a distinct surprise to the Board of Aldermen—and to some of the members of the Recreation Commission. If, as alleged, at the meeting of the Aldermen, that there had been a promise by Mayor Childs to consult with the members of the Recreation Commission before he would appoint anyone as Commissioner, this agreement should have been kept. We don't know whether or not there was such an understanding.

The position is being temporarily filled by F. Ewing Wilson, director of physical education at Newton High School. Mr. Wilson has been receiving the enthusiastic support of the playground personnel, and we understand has been conducting the playground activities in a manner satisfactory to the commission.

The appointment of "Reggie" Brown will undoubtedly meet with the approval of many old Newtonians, particularly those who remember Mr. Brown as one of Newton High School's all-time, outstanding athletes. In the 90s, Brown, together with Jimmie Knox and Redpath, placed Newton in the fore as one of the best school football teams in this State. He continued to star at Harvard, and the memory of little, bow-legged "Reggie" battering through lines of husky opponents, remains fresh in the mind of old timers. Mr. Brown's friends meet the argument that he is too old, with the answer that he is younger than John Nance Garner, who is being prominently mentioned as the next President of the U. S. A., and he is also younger than a well-known Newton resident who within the past year was urged by some of our prominent citizens to become a candidate for Mayor.

Many Plants Abandoned By Steel Firms in U. S.

Since 1926 the steel industry has abandoned or dismantled a total of 173 blast furnaces, 39 plants for producing steel ingots and 144 plants for producing finished iron and steel products.

The total number of employees in the industry, however, has increased sharply during the period. A new peak for the number employed in the industry was established in 1937, indicating that the improved technology of steel production has not decreased employment, while the total number at work in 1939 is substantially higher than in 1926.

These facts have been determined by the American Iron and Steel Institute from a study of reports furnished by companies in the industry.

Substantially all of the plants which were abandoned or scrapped had been rendered obsolete or inefficient by the improved technology of steel and iron production. Fewer than a dozen plants were abandoned as a direct result of mergers or consolidations.

The decline in productive capacity from the abandonment of obsolete plants has been more than offset by the construction of new and more efficient plants and by the modernization of existing facilities. As a result, the industry's present capacity for producing steel is 30 per cent greater than in 1926.

Origin of Custom

Many centuries ago it was the belief that the heart was the center of emotion and that a vein connected the heart with the third finger of the left hand. Thus it became the custom to wear the engagement and wedding rings on the finger closely connected with the heart.

Old Feud Causes Neighborhood Row

An old dislike between two neighbors in the Thompsonville section of Newton Centre broke out into open hostilities Monday morning with the result that one man went to the Newton Hospital, and both participants will appear in the Newton court to answer charges of mutual assault and battery. According to information received by the police, there has been bad feeling for some years between Paolo Amendola, 51, of 410 Langley rd., and Fabio Malgieri, 48, of 384 Langley rd.

It is alleged that at 6:15 Monday morning, Amendola went to Malgieri's house and asked to see the latter, but was refused admission. Later that morning, it is alleged that Amendola approached Malgieri as the latter was seated in front of his tailor shop, and hit him. Then, it is alleged that Malgieri hit Amendola with a heavy brush, such as tailors use, and caused a cut on Amendola's head that necessitated the latter's removal to Newton Hospital in a police car, where the broken scalp was stitched.

Neighbors phoned police headquarters when the fight was in progress and police converged on the scene in cars, motorcycles and afoot. Patrolman McCormick obtained complaints against both men.

100 Foot Funnels

The enormous size of the Queen Mary funnels, 100 feet in circumference and 36 feet in extreme diameter, may be visualized when compared with traffic tubes and tunnels in operation in New York city. The Holland tube is 29½ feet in diameter, the New York Central tunnel 25 feet, and the Pennsylvania railroad and East river tubes are each 21 feet.

Co-Operative Banks Popular

The Co-operative Banks of Massachusetts are holding to their established proportion of Real Estate mortgages recorded, one-third of all home mortgages recorded in the state in the four weeks ending July 29th having been made by these banks.

"It is gratifying," said Walter T. Chamberlain, President of The Massachusetts Co-operative Bank League and Treasurer of the Arlington Co-operative Bank, "to know that the esteem in which we are held, due to our sixty-year record, is such that we continue to hold first place in the minds of most people, as Home Mortgage Institutions."

Mr. Chamberlain further said, "Despite the fact that several agencies not heretofore interested in real estate loans have entered the field, which if not particularly our own, we have served with particular efficiency. Co-operative Banks made in July nearly as many loans as all other mortgage institutions together, and this is but a repetition of the record of earlier periods."

"They offer the same sympathetic understanding to the would-be homeowner that they have since 1877, with practical assistance in buying or building, then providing financing calculated to meet the need and ability-to-pay of the individual family, and in every case permitting monthly repayments in amounts frequently no larger than would be the rental for the same or similar accommodations."

"It is quite evident," said Mr. Chamberlain, "that we are not only held in highest esteem by the people of Massachusetts, but that we have what they want in the way of home-financing plans and service. To do one-third of all the mortgage business of the state in loans of $10,000 or less, is certainly no small contribution toward the welfare of the Commonwealth and its citizens."

SALE OF WEST NEWTON RESIDENCE

Alvord Bros.' office has consummated the sale of a beautiful older type house located at 245 Highland ave., West Newton Hill. It comprises a single frame dwelling, in excellent condition, heated by a hot water system fired by oil, having five rooms and a lavatory on the first floor, four chambers and three baths on the second floor, and two third-story rooms. An outstanding feature of the structure is a spacious recreation room in the basement with hand-painted murals. Mr. H. S. Moody of Newton gave title to Mr. Herbert P. Smith of Newton, who contemplates the immediate occupancy of his new residence.

Roman Frigidarium

The frigidarium, or cold room of the ancient Romans can be economically duplicated on a modest scale in the Twentieth-century home, according to insulation engineers. Wall off a basement room with double-thick insulation, they advise. This can be done with one of the many color-panels now offered. Tints include ivory, wheat, apricot, sky blue and apple green. The double protection will keep the basement room cool all day, it is declared.

Cellophane Inventor

The invention of cellophane is due to J. E. Brandenberger, a Swiss chemist, whose experiments extended from 1900 to 1912. A moisture-proof product was later developed in U. S. laboratories.

Ginseng Producing States

New York, Wisconsin, Missouri and Ohio lead in the production of ginseng.
